EDITORIAL NOTE

Moses Okezie-Okafor, ESQ. (Director General Research and Development, Kogi State)

he assumption of office by His Excellency, Alhaji Yahaya Adoza Bello as the 4th Executive Governor of Kogi State on the 27th of January 2016 effectively ushered in the 'New Direction Administration' and a new dawn for Kogi State.

In the last eight (8) years, the Governor Yahaya Bello-led New Direction Administration has carefully implemented plans and programs to put the state on the path of sustainable growth and development whilst overcoming several challenges and constraints.

So far, Kogi State has come a mighty long way from the pervasive dysfunction inherited by the Yahaya Bello-administration in 2016. Despite the failings of the past which deprived the State and her people of many dividends of democracy, Governor Yahaya Bello has managed to change the narrative positively by delivering significant development strides in all sections of the State through the judicious utilization of the State's limited resources.

The Government that he led in the last eight years was characterized by young and strong, leadership. He governed by a set of globally recognized principles which were measurable and scalable.

The use of the Multidimensional Poverty Index

(MPI) developed by the United Nations/ Oxford University Poverty and Human Development Initiative (UN/OPHI) and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) to build the New Direction Blueprint (NBT) gave access to tools which already incorporated global best practices for governance. An active implementation framework driven by the New Direction Blueprint Team gave unusual clarity on Training, Implementation, Monitoring and Evaluation (TIME) of his plans.

In the First Term (2016 - 2019) his agenda for the state was hinged on five (5) thematic areas of Education, Health, Job Creation & Youth Engagement, Infrastructure & Utilities, and Public Service & Pension Reforms. These were further expanded to nine (9) thematic areas in the Second Term (2019 - 2024) of his administration with the addition of Agriculture, Human Capital Development, Entrepreneurship & Youth Engagement, Security as well as Cooperation and Integration (the Socio-cultural Agenda) to the existing five thematic areas.

There is plenty of evidence that what he has accomplished in this administration has helped to leapfrog progress in the state today. This has not happened by chance. Not at all. He came into Office with a well-defined Blueprint and massive political will to make positive change - and he has done precisely that. Today, it could be proven that he has made impressive efforts to reposition Kogi State for the future. This has the direct effect of enhancing the citizen's abilities to take advantage of their vast endowments in human and other natural resources for development purposes.

By making security of lives and properties a constant priority, Governor Yahaya Bello has placed Kogi State in a great position to attract and keep new residents and investments in her economy by getting rid of criminals and making Kogi State a safe haven for her people and other Nigerians plying the highways between the North and the South of the country through her territory.

The education sector has also received topnotch attention from his government. There has been significant improvement in human capital development indices from basic through tertiary education levels and through targeted programmes in the vocational and informal education sub-sectors. His administration has founded new schools including two state-owned universities, the Confluence University of Science & Technology (CUSTECH), Osara and the Kogi State University (KSU), Kabba. He also renovated, and in many cases reconstructed, physical and non-physical infrastructure in all the state's existing tertiary institutions.

He also improved access to educational opportunities, school enrollment and retention numbers and the performance of students in both internal and external examinations. Furthermore, It is important to note that since the last strike by university lecturers about 7 years ago, Students in Kogi State Tertiary Institutions have enjoyed uninterrupted academic calendars. The result is that Kogi undergraduates have advanced at least 2 to 3 years ahead of their contemporaries in other schools who continue to be bedeviled by pernicious industrial actions in this all important sector.

The Health Sector has grown exponentially under Governor Yahaya Bello's careful management. Hundreds of Primary Healthcare Centres in Kogi have been renovated and ultramodern secondary and tertiary hospitals are springing up across the three Senatorial Districts. They are all equipped with State of the art equipment. The Kogi State Health Insurance Agency is fully set up and has absorbed tens of thousands of citizens under her free to subsidized healthcare policies. Gradually, Kogi State is becoming the Health Tourism destination that his goal envisioned.

Heavy investments have been made in roads, bridges and other civil engineering infrastructure all over the state including the now completed and commissioned first flyover and interchange in Kogi State at Ganajajunction. This has helped to improve the quality of life available in Lokoja metropolis, major towns and rural areas.

Good governance across board with respect to equity in political appointments, with deliberate policies of inclusion for women (45%) and persons living with special needs) has been embedded by the administration of Governor Yahaya Bello. These success stories are, to a great extent, replicated in agriculture, the Civil Service and other sectors. In a bid to alleviate poverty and to take his vision of pulling one million Kogi youths above the poverty line, he approved the establishment of the Kogi State Ministry of Humanitarian Affairs and Poverty Alleviation in December 2023. This he said will enable Kogi State to integrate seamlessly into the overarching vision of the administration of President Bola Ahmed Tinubu encapsulated in the Renewed Hope agenda which aims to uplift 50 million Nigerians from poverty annually. For the first time perhaps, the presence of Government is felt by the widest cross-section of Kogites under one administration.

This 8th Referral Compendium show-cases how Governor Bello's Mission Statement (To develop Kogi State into Nigeria's foremost and most secure emerging commercial hub through optimization of the State's geographical location, natural endowments and human resources for a sustainable future) has dovetailed nicely into his implementation strategies.

Success without a successor, they say, is failure. He remained committed to moving Kogi State forward as aggressively as possible within the ambits of the overarching governance objectives by ensuring that having laid a foundation for rapid development, the task of consolidation and continuity falls to people who are versed in the New Direction ideologies and practices, hence the election of Alhaji Usman Ahmed Ododo and Mr. Joel Oyibo Salifu as the next Governor and Deputy Governor of Kogi State respectively.

This Referral Compendium will unfold under the following components:

- 1. Leadership & Governance.
- A Review of the New Direction Administration's Performance using the Global Standards Index
- 3. An xray of the Legacies of the New Direction Administration.

The New Direction: A Logical Approach to Governance

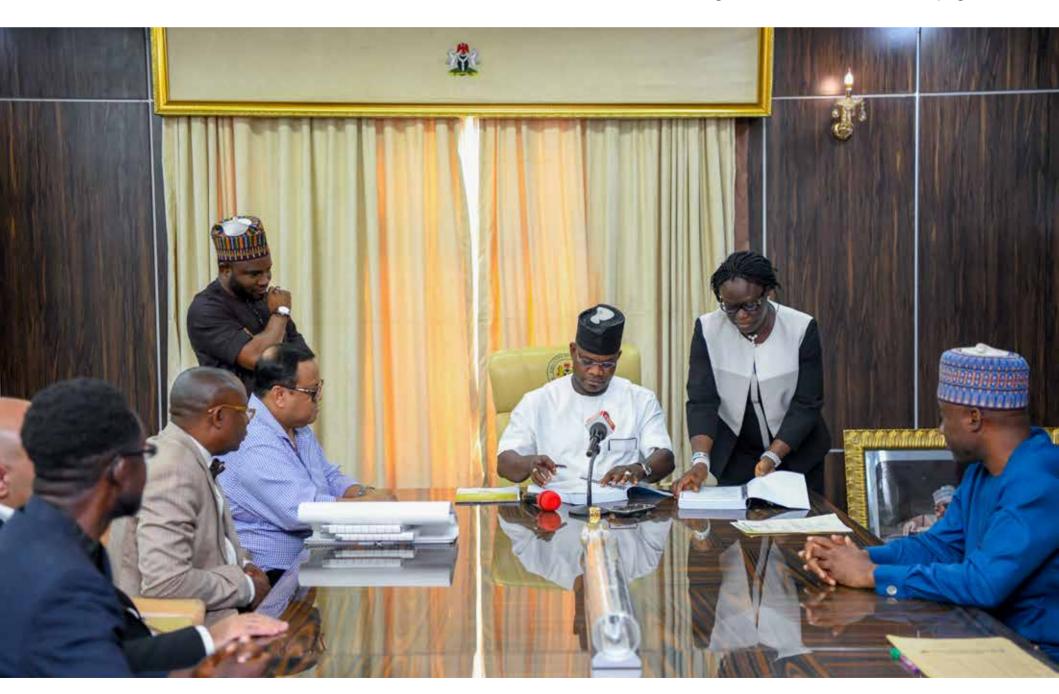

overnor Yahaya Bello's People-Oriented Leadership ideology was a game changer as it altered the leadership status-quo by ushering in a system that threw open the doors of government to the people, thereby making government more accessible to the people of Kogi State.

His people-oriented ideology forms the basis of his definition of good-governance as;

"...the ability to unite the people, things, events, and places within the leadership space in a wholesome symbiotic relationship".

His governance objective in Kogi State since January 27, 2016 when the New Direction Administration assumed the helms of affairs in Kogi State was to do the right thing for the present generation and for posterity without fear or favour. Over the last 8 years of his administration, he has adhered to this principle, building on the thematic areas of his administration as contained in the New Direction policy document. Against the norm, Governor Yahaya Bello did not throw a Policy Document on the people, rather, he allowed the people throw one on him through a bottom-up approach. Upon assuming office, he engaged the services of Multidisciplinary consultants, THE NEW DIRECTION BLUEPRINT TEAM, who traverse the length and breadth of the State carrying out needs assessment of the citizens and then built a technical infrastructure for their delivery.

This Blueprint houses a technical infrastructure for delivering his promises to the citizens of Kogi State. The ideas in the given raw data were expanded to capture the stated desires and aspirations of the entire citizenry. The evidence-based social research conducted and the identified needs of the people of Kogi State were categorized under 5 areas of intervention; Education, Health, Job Creation & Youth Engagement, Infrastructure and Utilities, Public Sector and Pension Reforms, and also with his second term in fruition, he introduced four (4) additional thematic in Human Capital Development, Entrepreneurship & Youth Engagement, Agriculture, Socio Cultural Agenda (EBIGO) and Security as a lone thematic.

The Policy document ventured away from the past trends by developing a financially feasible plan which guided and supported a focused social, economic, environmental, institutional and political development. The Sustainability enablers (FAAC, IGR, PPP, Multilateral/Donor & NGO Grants /Intervention funds/Manpower) have provided the necessary finance that were required to fund the implementation of the policy document. The Blueprint is dynamic in its intent as it was developed based on globally recognized principles. His Excellency, in his wisdom, understood the real-world application of these principles in Kogi State and the development paradigms contained in the blueprint were founded on these principles. He was also aware that administering a policy document of this magnitude, no matter how lofty, will alter existing status quo, which would be met with some resistance. As a strategic thinker, he knew that an all-inclusive government is relative to good governance. Therefore, his administration was established on the principles that is devoid of socio-class, tribe, and religion, but based on capacity to deliver on tasks given. This has helped in developing a knowledge-based institution across all the sectors in the State.

However, as a visionary leader, he knew there is a need for a strong institutional arrangement for the implementation of this policy document, since its operational context lies mainly but not exclusively, within the confines of the State and Local Governments. Thus, he introduced an innovation that forged synergy between the political class and the civil servants (SUPER PAC). This innovation went a long way in developing position papers that helped in the implementation of the policy actions of the New Direction Administration.

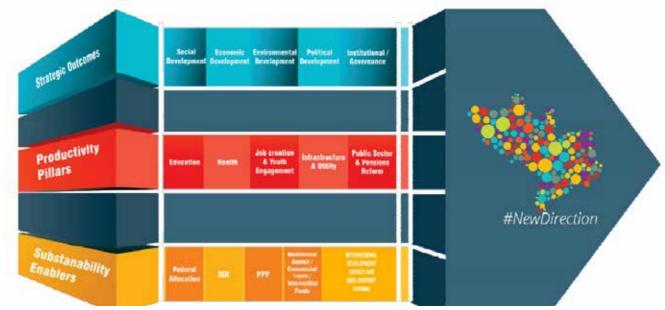

He understood that ideas that are not supported with a technical structure for delivery will just be like walking in the shadows of his predecessors and susceptible to doing it the old guards' way. Instead of making that same mistake, he took a top-notch decision to drive Kogi State using best global practices that are driven by the world of realities and principles which are both measurable and scalable. The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) which came into use just about 4 months before he was sworn in, were perfect for this purpose. In addition, the United Nation/Oxford University Poverty and Human Development Initiative (UN/OPHI) – Multidimensional Poverty Index (MPI), became a compelling guide.

The last 8 years have witnessed tremendous growth and development across each sector in the State, this could be attributed to the strong leadership and political will demonstrated by his Excellency, Governor Yahaya Bello. His principles, policies, programs, and projects were not just assertions but ratified through the monitoring and evaluation mechanism that serves as feedback to the system, in other to make further decisions as it affect the State.

This monitoring and evaluation mechanism also provides feedbacks on the performance of the policy document to establish whether the objective of the policy document (Blueprint) had the desired effects on the lives of the citizens. This serves as a basis for policy performance measurement and evaluation for the New Direction Agenda in the 9 thematic areas. Based on this, the Eight (8th) Year Transitional Compendium for all the achievements of the New Direction Administration is being compiled.

KOGI, THIS CHANGE IS YOURS!

INAUGURAL SPEECH BY HIS EXCELLENCY, ALHAJI YAHAYA BELLO ON THE OCCASION OF HIS SWEARING-IN AS THE 4TH EXECUTIVE GOVERNOR OF KOGI STATE ON WEDNESDAY, 27TH JANUARY, 2016 AT LOKOJA.

PROTOCOLS

His Excellency, Hon. Yakubu Dogara, The Speaker, House of Representatives.

His Excellency, Chief John Odigie Oyegun, The National Chairman of the All-Progressives Congress.

His Excellency, Senator Bola Ahmed Tinubu, The National Leader of the All-Progressives Congress.

Your Excellencies, My Brother Governors here present or represented

His Excellency, Rt. Honorable Momoh Jimoh Lawal, The Honorable Speaker, Kogi State House of Assembly.

My Lord, Honorable Justice Nasiru Ajanah, The Chief Judge of Kogi State.

Royal Fathers and Revered Custodians of Our Traditional Institutions.

Members of the Diplomatic Corps.

Our Distinguished Guests from Far and Near.

My Dearly Beloved People of Kogi State.

All other Protocols deemed as duly observed.

Welcome!

- 1. It is with great Joy that I receive you all to the warm hospitality of Kogi State of Nigeria today. Kogi is the Confluence State, the Geographical Bridge between every Nigerian and his Compatriot. You are indeed welcome.
- 2. Life is a precious thing and we cannot earn or own it. It is given to us freely. We often take it for granted, failing to recognize its importance or significance. Such a blessing can never be acquired or repaid. It is a free gift. Should that not instill an immense sense of gratitude in our hearts to the One Who created life and gave it to us? 'It is God Who brought you out of your mothers' wombs knowing nothing, and gave you hearing and sight and minds so that you may be grateful' The Quran 16:78. Say "O Allah, owner of Kingdoms. You give your Kingdom to whom you desire. And you take your Kingdom from whom you desire. You honor whom you desire. And you humble whom you desire. In your hand all is GOOD. Indeed, you are over all things COMPETENT." Quran 3 vs 26.
- 3. I stand here today a grateful man. I am grateful to:
- i. Almighty God, the Eternal One who led a young boy, fatherless while still a baby to this momentous day of my Swearing-In as the Governor of this Great State, and her humble Servitor.
- ii. Alhaji Bello Ipemida Ochi, my father, whose evergreen memories and legacies remain till today despite his death early in my life. Hajiya Hauwau Oziohu Bello, my model mother. Oziandu Obanyi, your hand rocked my cradle, and you still rock my world. Despite the anguish of young widowhood, your values steadied me through the turbulence of youth and years of self-discovery. All my siblings, especially Prof.

- Iliyasu Bello Ohiani, my elder brother, who became the father that I know.
- iii. My family. My dear wives and children were Wonderful. In particular, Hajiya Rashida Bello followed me on this chequered journey with a devotion and sacrifice that is astounding.
- iv. President Muhammadu Buhari, the one man who epitomizes the Personal Discipline, Rugged Determination and Honest Discretion I intend to model as Governor of Kogi State.
- v. Asiwaju Bola Ahmed Tinubu. The APC National Leader is arguably the most singularly successful Nigerian Politician of this Democratic Dispensation. His Vision has given wings to those of many of his followers, including ourselves.
- vi. Prince Abubakar Audu, the Late Icon whose foresight and doggedness paved the way for the Victory we are celebrating today. Continue to rest in peace my Leader.
- vii. My Core Team, especially the Progressive Youth of Kogi State led by my right-hand man, Edward Onoja. Their doggedness and forthrightness brought home to me in a very personal way that popular line 'Though tribes and tongues may differ, in brotherhood we stand...' They are the apostles of this broad-minded Change.
- viii. The APC Family. The APC in Kogi State wanted Change for their dear State and worked hard to bring it. The APC at the National Level provided the Platform.
- ix. The entire People of Kogi State. Irrespective of who you are or where you stood during the elections, Na God Win. We are all united today, celebrating the outcome. My People, you are my one big Constituency, and I am responsible for, and to each and every one of you.
- 4. Nigeria has a rich diversity of traditions, cultures and history but it is instructive that in searching for a philosophy for this New Direction my Team and I did not have to go very far to locate the perfect response for our times:
- 5. Ladies and Gentlemen, I wish to reit-

- erate what President Muhammadu Buhari said in his celebrated Swearing-In Speech on May 29, 2015: "I belong to everybody and I belong to nobody!"
- 6. This quote is a complete worldview which defines the PURPOSE and METHODOLOGY of my Administration, and sets an AGENDA OF INCLUSIVENESS, which I am determined will characterize my tenure.
- 7. In this single sentence, Mr. President summarized the restorative force of the CHANGE ideology with which our great party, the APC, has swept Nigeria. I now declare it our guiding principle for fair action and equitable governance in Kogi State.
- 8. My Administration shall exist for the sole purpose of serving the superseding interests of the people of Kogi State to the very best of its capabilities. We also undertake to never lend our capacities to servicing the avarice of anyone or group whether from Kogi State or elsewhere.
- 9. There is no greater evil than Corruption and nothing champions that evil more than Impunity...Corruption and Impunity made sure our people repeatedly arrived at a promised future and found it bereft of substance, or the promised better life
- 10. Let it be recorded today that future generations will not be given reason to count the incoming Administration among those who reveled in Corruption or Impunity. We will be different by the Grace of God. We must and will be that generation of Leaders who made the entirety of Kogi's Resources work for the entirety of Kogi's People
- 11. Accordingly, I hereby declare and affirm that the Yahaya Bello Administration will have ZERO TOLERANCE for Corruption and Impunity. I will lead Kogi State by honest and humble example. So, help me God.
- 12. To reinforce our commitment to accountability, the incoming Administration will employ technology and a multi-layered system of checks and balances to block all leakages in our financial processes and improve our wealth creation and retention capacities.

- 13. The rule of law is key to effective governance. We intend to work hand in hand with the Judicial Arm of Government and the Legislature to deliver the best governance possible to Kogi State. In this regard, we shall be guided by both legislations and binding judicial decisions.
- 14. Peace is key for prosperity. The sudden events that culminated in my emergence as Governor are beyond any mortal man. The sudden death of our leader, Prince Abubakar Audu remains a great mystery. This Administration shall liaise with the Kogi State House of Assembly for legislation to immortalize him in some meaningful way. I therefore extend my hand of brother-hood to all and sundry.
- 15. In the course of this journey we met and interacted with families, kindreds, clans, hamlets, villages, towns and cities, traversing the length and breadth of Kogi State and the picture we came away with is a depressing one. Everywhere, our People live in - deprivation despite our abundant natural endowments.

- 16. The statistics as they apply to Kogi State are not rosy. As we step into Office today, we are at once excited and tremulous. Excited at the great opportunities but tremulous at the massive challenges. One thing is clear, positive and decisive action must be taken quickly to rescue Kogi State. We are ready for action.
- 17. We are conscious that to fail in this task is to fail in everything else. But take it from me, we will not fail because, apart from our preparations and resolve, God and good is on our side.
- 18. We have conceived a socio-economic Blueprint that we trust God will rapidly develop our State and radically empower our People. The said Blueprint will rank as a sort of Marshall Plan for rebuilding Kogi State on every index of Development.
- 19. Under this Plan, Education and Health Infrastructure, State of the Art Security Coverage, Roads, Rural Water Schemes, Farm and Agricultural Communes, heavy Investments

- in Solid Minerals, Artisanal Mining Collectives, repositioning of Kogi State as a preferred tourist destination, etc. are projected to play lead, often overlapping, roles
- 20. We will run this Blueprint along with Civil Service reforms to change the orientation of our workers and improve their productivity. To show that we are ready to work and not just talking, the Blueprint contains 'Action Plans' for developing each sector. We expect that we will see begin to see increase in our Internally Generated Revenue.
- 21. For ease of monitoring by Kogi People my Team and I have distributed our Projects into the 100-Day Accomplishments, the First Year Results, the Halfway Marks and the Final Milestones. When our full Blueprint is published, anyone can predict where we will be, developmentally, in 100 days, and after each year of our Administration.
- 22. Security is a huge concern across Kogi State as we step into Office - in particular the dastardly and twin scourges of armed robbery and kidnapping. I therefore acknowledge with pleasure the Commissioner of Police and Heads of every Security Agency in Kogi State. Gentlemen, I shall be meeting with you soon to fashion out modalities to rid Kogi State of Insecurity. Please have forceful and actionable proposals for me when we meet. I promise you every support that this Administration can give.

- 23. Nothing engenders scepticism, even cynicism, in the citizen than lackluster leadership of the sort that we have experienced in the Confluence State. I am aware that with some notable exceptions successive Administrations have posted largely unimpressive performances. The cumulative effect is that the average Kogi Person has developed an acute distrust of Government.
- 24. We cannot succeed, in our Blueprint or anything else, without the co-operation of our People and our friends. Co-operation is difficult if trust is withheld. My people, we shall build rapport, and by delivering on our proposed array of people-centered projects, we - shall earn your trust. I would appreciate, and I ask for nothing, other than that you give me the benefit of the doubt as we set off. Let the taste of this pudding be in the eating.

- 25. We know salaries have not been paid to some of our Civil Servants for some months now. We propose to commence paying as promptly as possible while implementing strategies to gradually defray the arrears. While doing this we shall count on the understanding of all the good people of Kogi State.
- 26. We shall immediately commence consultations with all stakeholders to get the buy-in of every progressminded individual into every agenda that we have designed to move Kogi State in the New Direction. I see this as a Challenge and I am resolved to win your trust.
- 27. Today is indeed an auspicious day. We will not fail to appreciate those who made it possible. My predecessor, Captain Idris Ichalla Wada, has been most gracious. We appreciate your - service sir. The Transition Committees on both sides have acted with dignity and cooperation. We thank you. The Inauguration Committee has really worked hard to make this day a success. Thank you very much indeed.

- 28. Change has come to Kogi State. I may be the Torchbearer, and Custodian of it, but you, the great united people of Kogi State, are its Owners and Proprietors. Let us arise together, take our Collective Destiny in our hands and go forth excitedly to chart our New Direction.
- 29. Kogi, THIS CHANGE IS YOURS.
- 30. Distinguished Listeners, this speech is an overview, it is not intended to say everything that we have to say, or plan to do, in Government. That being the case, I hasten to conclude.

God bless The Federal Republic of Nigeria. God bless Kogi State of Nigeria. God bless you

LEADERSHIP

The more you bear the burden of leadership, the more you realize that people, and not things, events or places, matter the most. This places on you a demand to place your people and their welfare at the heart of your leadership

PERSPECTIVES ON LEADERSHIP AND ASPIRATION

ADDRESS BY HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR YAHAYA BELLO AT THE 1ST ANNUAL GYB-MEDIA CHAT/SEMINAR FOR POLITICAL AND CRIME CORRESPONDENTS/EDITORS AT THE TRANSCORP HOTEL, ABUJA ON FRIDAY, JULY 8, 2021.

PROTOCOLS

y dear friends, I welcome you all wholeheartedly to this inaugural meet and greet cum seminar. When some close confidants in the media informed me of their intention to put together this event, I did wonder if the time and mood of the nation was right. However, seeing the assemblage here this morning and the themes and various sub-themes, I am now convinced that both timing and circumstances are spot on. I thank the organisers and everyone who has come.

I am supposed to give an address that is to set the tone for the day. So, I do so bearing in mind that any and everything I say can, and will, be used in interrogating my leadership by you fine gentlemen of the press. Well, since a clear conscience fears no accusation, I have nothing to hide and I am ready for your questions afterwards.

When I came into Office for the first time on January 27th, 2016 our people needed change desperately and their expectations were sky-high. I was the youngest Governor in the country and because of our youthful energies and perspectives I know everyone, even from outside the state, expected fireworks and magic, or in other words, an overnight success.

I can say that the fireworks have been plentiful, loud and colourful. In fact, some days, especially at the be-ginning, all anyone could see in the political skies over Kogi State were sparks flying from our conflict with different vested interests. We made sure to undertake nothing that we were not ready to fight for and we never got into any fight that was not connected to our overall mission. Even though some well-meaning individuals became worried and urged us to take it slow and easy, we saw those fireworks as proof positive that our determination to disrupt the status quo and achieve our New Direction mandate was firmly on course.

How about magic? Did we magically transform Kogi State overnight? I wish I could say yes here, but no. My team and I promised to work hard and to work smart for the people of Kogi State but we did not promise them magic. Thus, the best I can do is to say that we tried, and that we have not stopped trying. This is be-cause good things have processes that take time, including development and good governance of a socie-ty. Fireworks may light up the night but finally people must calm down and patiently wait for the day to dawn.

I consider leadership to be a marathon, not a sprint. With this in mind, we faced our work every day as if to-morrow did not matter. Some said we are headstrong. Others called us arrogant, but we called it leader-ship. Till today, as you gentlemen and ladies of the press can attest, we find it unproductive to defend our-selves against most allegations, no matter how absolutely false. Usually, we just let our results silence our detractors while we have the last laugh. Only on those occasions when some particular falsehood directly threatens the security, unity or peace of our people have we confronted anyone in the media space to say our own part.

As a leader, I have my eyes on leaving lasting legacies and not necessarily making good impressions on people who are hell-bent on making dents in our accomplishments through dishonesty. By its nature lega-cy cannot be frontloaded, it must always be a verdict delivered by posterity, in retrospect. This means that Legacy is not a medal you award yourself, it is one earned by hard work the results of which extend into the future. For that very reason legacy cannot be permanently denied by malicious actors and a leader who must succeed must care little or nothing for distraction. With the foregoing always in view the GYB Admin-istration has never, not even for one day, worked for applause but for positive impact and always in the overall best interests of the people of Kogi State.

As Governor, I never once underestimated the amount of work that needed to be done considering the abysmal levels of socioeconomic development we inherited. But I also tell myself that I did not come into government to glorify impossibilities, but to solve problems. Thus I had a vision for the state even before I ran for office which formed the substratum of my manifesto during campaigns and I had it developed into a roadmap for my work once I was elected Governor. We call it the New Direction Blueprint, and from inception it became our roadmap for proportional and accelerated development of Kogi State in all her constit-uencies. I matched my blueprint with a stubborn will and went all out in pursuit of it. By the help of God and a commitment to excellence, we have made tremendous progress, even if we still have a long way to go.

This administration does not measure itself by how high we have climbed but by what depths we have climbed out from. A few examples will suffice. We set our sights on security in the state and overhauled it. Nigerians may want to know that our police, military and other Law Enforcement officers are not cowards. The vast majority of our officers are good, intelligent and diligent folk. We discovered that they just needed the right tools to do their jobs and a little motivation to give us their best. We did our best to give them both. It took a huge toll on our resources, but we got and distributed over 200 patrol vans, over 500 motor-cycles and thousands of communications and other gadgets to our security contingents in Kogi State within our first year.

In the last 5 years, our results speak for themselves. By 2018, after about 2 years in the office, Kogi went from being a violent crime hub and the kidnap capital of Nigeria to the 'second most peaceful state in the coun-try' and 'the state with the second lowest crime statistics in Nigeria' according to the rating agencies and law enforcement records. The ubiquitous armed robbery and communal clashes we inherited are largely extinct now. We still record kidnapping but only as opportunistic attacks far removed from the franchised operations they used to be in the past when busloads of passengers were routinely abducted for random on our highways. Much respect for our gallant law enforcement contingents in Kogi State who generally subdue such criminality with professional despatch and extreme prejudice.

Moving on from security, we also set our sights on the obese and sickly civil service and we transformed it. Our severely bloated workforce and wage bills were put through the eye of the needle. The wailing was un-precedented and the attacks mad, but we persevered and pushed through. We are not where we want to be yet, but how gratifying it was to be rated one of only 9 states with positive employment statistics in 2019 by the National Bureau of Statistics. For the last 3 years, the World Bank and other agencies have consistently rated us in the top 3 for transparency and accountability in management of public funds.

The last couple of paragraphs are just a review of two important reform areas in the life of my administra-tion. The point is to show that multidimensional and multisectoral progress is being made. On the ground, roads, bridges, hospitals, schools, markets, at least one mega factory and other engineering infrastructure have been built across the state, with more under construction or planned over the next 2 years. Note that by its positioning as the Confluence State in the nation 80% of all travellers between the North and South go through Kogi State. Not many of such travellers know that all the roads they traverse, are federal roads, but they hold us, the Kogi State Government, responsible for the parlous state of disrepair into which all of them have fallen. We have tried palliatives of some of them but the Federal Government must arise to her responsibilities in this regard. Anyone who must judge us on the state of infrastructure must go into the hin-terlands and see our works. Anything else is prejudicial and unfair to us.

By the end of this year we would have delivered the Ganaja Flyover to ease traffic reticulation in Lokoja as well the Reference Hospital in Okene and the 3 District hospitals in Gegu, Ajaokuta and Isanlu respectively, the teaching hospital at Idah and others which are slated for completion before we leave office. In less than one year we conceived, constructed and commenced studies at the Confluence University of Science and Technology (CUSTECH), Osara, Kogi State among other bold strides.

My actions in office are underpinned by my philosophy of leadership which I will try to describe below.

One definition says leadership is the art of motivating a group of people to act toward achieving a common goal. The truth is that it requires sacrifice to motivate people. Followers want to see the leader share their hopes and aspirations, as well as their realities. A leader who is aloof from the pains of his people will never end well. If your people are battling poverty while you delight in ostentation and wanton displays of wealth, whether yours or the public's, you are wicked and callous.

As leaders, despite our personal circumstances of wealth or poverty, we must always cut our cloth according to the averages of our people. The wonderful thing is that the self sacrifice required of leaders, if embraced and sustained, will not only yield great results but broaden the leader's humanity, perspectives and ac-ceptance among the people. For instance, as a young and wealthy businessman I used to be a free man and I travelled the world at will, jetting out of Nigeria practically every other fortnight. Then I joined politics and got into office. Now I have given myself the liberty to do anything or go anywhere I want - as long as they fit into the narrow confines of acceptable conduct which a leader must exemplify. The result is that in 6 years of governing Kogi State I have not left Nigeria 4 times. Perhaps that is why the people of Kogi State gave me a resounding reelection with margins that are unprecedented in the history of Gubernatorial Elec-tions in the State.

In a nutshell, the efficient and effective leader must see every last human being under his or her leadership as important in the overall scheme of things. Let me emphasise that any leader can find success by develop-ing and showing empathy for the people, even if they originally joined politics for the power and influence alone. If one is able to develop genuine love for the people he leads, it becomes even easier to take only those actions that benefit the people every time. This will ultimately help you succeed and also secure your legacy.

Leadership is therefore the means to a lot of potentially awesome ends, but it is not an end in itself. It gives you a platform to do good and effect change. I am determined to give it my best now and in the future.

I know the media has feasted endlessly on our various controversies in office, including during the early months of the Covid-19 pandemic when we dared to chart a path away from restrictions and lockdowns which did not do much beyond exacerbating the poverty statistics in the nation. However, I do not call them controversies or even disagreements for I took no pride in standing contrary to mainstream position-ing. I prefer to say we differed on principles. Although we have been largely vindicated by the emerging sci-ence since then and Kogi State remains the least impacted, infection-wise, in the nation by the pandemic. While that entire episode is not a win to gloat over it does validate my position that leadership needs an evolving synergy and lots of courage and common sense to overcome any threat to the led.

The bottomline is that Leadership can lead you into some lonely places where you may have to stand on your own against some otherwise good people. You may wish to not bother taking such a stand if pride and ego are the only things at stake. But once principles are involved, do it nevertheless and hopefully time will show that you were only being a changemaker. Even if it does not, you still get to have and keep a clear conscience.

The state of the nation today places a burden on us as leaders to act intentionally towards national healing and cooperation. Tribe and religion, as we all know, are the major components of our diversity as a nation. They are meant to be our greatest strengths, working together to give Nigeria a wider spectrum of choices and more competitiveness in the comity of nations, and in the human and social indices of national devel-opment.

Unfortunately, we have steadily mismanaged these gifts and they have started turning toxic on us, becoming for the most part, instruments of exclusion and coercive politics, as well as marginalisation and discrimination. The result is a citizenry at cross-purposes and a nation that is practically at her wits' end.

There is no denying the fact therefore that we need urgent rearrangement in the ways and manners in which we relate if we are to arrest the dangerous slide in confidence and team-building amongst Nigerians caused by years and years of mismanaged diversity. Within the context of Kogi State which is a microcosm of Nigeria itself, our diversity was enough to tear us apart as a government in the same manner it had divid-ed our people for decades before our coming, but that is if we allowed it. We refused to allow them, and by working together instead, we were able to leverage on our diversity.

Tribe, religion, geography and class no longer play a role in the measure of anyone among us. We have Ni-gerians from everywhere helping us to move Kogi State forward, right from our Cabinet and into other areas and position. Today we have managed to improve the sociopolitical outlook for our people and state and created an intra-state legacy of cooperation and integration which will outlast us. This achievement did not come from wishful thinking but by the deployment of 5 foundational mindsets from my day one in office.

One, government exists for everyone and every part of the society.

Two, our constitutional guarantees of equality as citizens are binding on leaders to enforce irrespective of their own personal beliefs, feelings and inclinations.

Three, inclusivity and equal access to government and her institutions are the inalienable right of all citi-zens.

Four, Affirmative Action is for every section of the populace and governance is useless unless it ensures that wherever people are disadvantaged or excluded in our society, leadership makes it a point of duty to take action to balance the equation.

Five, and finally, equity, unity and the fear of God are the principal bedrocks on which any society which as-pires to be egalitarian, and most especially a diverse society like ours, must be built.

As the clarion call goes forth for 2023, one can easily discern by events such as this that the Organised Media in Nigeria is already working hard to crack the complex equation of who the next Nigerian President should be. All I can say is that in factoring your 2023 equations, please allow yourselves to be guided by the Na-tional interest to input the following factors:

Youthfulness. Natural force and physical energy cannot be abated if performance is to be elevated.

Courage. A clear capacity to be zealously affected in a good matter and to lead with courage and foresight in the pursuit of the overall best interests of the people.

Security. Proven ability to enforce security, unity and peace in a large territory with a difficult terrain.

Diversity. Clear records in successfully managing diversity which is where most post-Independence leaders of Nigeria have failed. Today we have a Kogi State where the youth are predominantly the ones in office, the women have crossed the 35% Affirmative Action threshold of the SDGs and continue to rise and People With Special Needs have adequate representation in government.

Finally, and also very important, the inescapable point of equity, ie, that only the North Central and South East Geopolitical Zones of this country have not held the Presidency or Vice Presidency, the two highest offices in the land, since return to civilian rule in 1999. All talks of zoning must be the handmaid of equity or we are merely playing dangerous politics and healing the wounds of the country deceitfully.

I conclude as is my manner at every opportunity I get - with words of appreciation for His Excellency, Presi-dent Muhammadu Buhari, GCFR for providing Nigeria with forthright leadership these past 6 years. Presi-dent Muhammadu Buhari has already earned the legacy of developing in 6 years more critical infrastructure for the nation's Next Level than the previous 16 years before him in this 4th Republic of the Nigerian state. Recent gains in the last few weeks by our military and law enforcement in all theaters convince me that Mr. President is also on his way to winning in the most decisive manner, the battle against insecurity of lives and properties nationwide. The President continues to provide me and a growing corps of emerging lead-ers with a father figure and examples of courage in leadership. His ability to keep calm under fire has taught me to focus on giving my best always, even if those who demand perfection of everyone but themselves choose to deliberately misunderstand and mischaracterise my best intentions.

Let me insist in closing that the more you bear the burden of leadership in the right manners, the more you realise that people, and not things, events or places, matter the most. This realisation places a demand on you to make your people and their welfare the heart of your leadership. However, because Things, Events and Places exert profound influence on your people, you also find yourself obliged to improve them for the benefit of your people. Therefore, my definition of good governance is the ability to unite the people, things, events and places within your leadership space into a wholesome, symbiotic relationship. When approached with this mindset, governance ceases to be a popularity contest and becomes a life-saving vo-cation requiring the leader's best efforts always.

Members of the 4th Estate of the Realm, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen, this is me, the essential GYB, and I welcome you all to this inaugural GYB combined chat and seminar. Let us put heads together and come up with some resolutions that will prove of benefit to our dear country.

I thank you.

A YOUTHFUL LEADER WELL-VERSED IN THE PERSPECTIVES AND ASPIRATIONS OF NIGERIAN YOUTHS

PRESS CONFERENCE ON THE URGENT NEED TO SHELVE ANOTHER ROUND OF #ENDSARS PROTESTS FOR NOW - A TIMELY WARNING AND AN APPEAL TO THE HEART OF NIGERIAN YOUTHS BY HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR YAHAYA BELLO OF KOGI STATE

am unsettled by credible intel indicating that another round of the #EndSARS protests is brewing in select cities across the country, likely to commence this week, and possibly as early as Monday the 7th of December. In other words, tomorrow morning.

Every Nigerian should be worried by the spectra of another nationwide protest for any reason at all at this time. Not only is it true that the whole nation is still scarified and much traumatized by the violent aftermath of the last round of protests, but Ground Zero has changed drastically, and the rules of engagement this time around will no longer be the same.

The last round of protests benefited from a police force subdued by embarrassment at the misdeeds of few of their colleagues and simultaneously held in check by official directives, even from self-defense. Any future protest is likely to run into a police force still enraged by the vicious attacks visited upon her last time.

Nigerians are aware of the gruesome slaughter, and even cannibalism, of at least 22 police officers during the violence that erupted alongside the #EndSARS protests. This is aside from the scores who were injured or maimed, in addition to the deliberate targeting and destruction of dozens of police stations and other police facilities as well as the looting of high calibre guns and ammunition from armories. These 22 police officers were our brothers, sons and husbands. Ultimately, they are Nigerians.

While it is true that law enforcement should do her job professionally irrespective of circumstances, it is even truer that official uniform armed men and women who were universally hunted and killed across the country by hoodlums can be unpredictable, even paranoid. In the face of all this and as the first sitting Governor who publicly upheld the rights of our youths to protest against Police Brutality, I cannot in all good conscience agree that the time is ripe for another round of #EndSARS protests.

Moreover, it seems to me that this is the time to consolidate on the gains of the last protests by participating fully in the various Panels and bodies set up by the Federal and state Governments to look into police brutality, identify perpetrators and compensate victims.

From what I can see so far, progress is being made at the various Panels. Not only are we seeing emboldened citizens coming forward with their stories of officer-involved in human rights abuses, but such erring officers are being identified. No doubt, established offenders will be punished, just like the scores of the defunct SARS officers who have since been dismissed from the force, and who may be further sanctioned.

Youths have seats on these Panels and have acquitted themselves with commendable humility and maturity. I therefore call on them to persevere in this process despite any perceived shortcomings. It is only an unwise hunter who does not make time to roast or otherwise prepare what he took in hunting for consumption or commerce.

I deem another round of #EndSARS protests to be premature and counter-productive at this time. Apart from the higher likelihood of conflict with the police earlier canvassed, we must also admit that the security situation in the country is very precarious at the moment. All patriots must therefore make conscious efforts not to degrade a parlous security situation further. Nationwide protests at this time will only overburden the load-bearing capabilities of our security architecture increasing the likelihood of total collapse. No matter the narrative, I doubt that out-of-control anarchy is an objective of the #EndSARS protests.

It is also true that we live in an economy that is bleeding badly right now. Traditional responses to Covid-19 have hurt, not just Nigeria, but all other countries of the world. Many have fallen into recession. To worsen matters, the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) predicted 3 days ago that the pandemic could push the number of people living in extreme poverty to over 1 billion by 2030. Thank God they are owning up to my earlier prediction, warning and caution.

Nigeria's earnings and foreign exchange situation is too fragile as we speak to resist sustained shocks. Another nationwide protest will worsen the multidimensional poverty indices all over our country and work greater hardship on the ordinary Nigerians we claim to be advocating for. There are also sociocultural implications. Nigerians tend to travel a lot during the Christmas holidays. Statistics show that travel during this period is not only for pleasure as widely supposed. For many of our people, this is the only time in the year when they can attend to pressing life responsibilities like marriages, hospital appointments, funerals of loved ones and even community improvement events.

As a Governor, I am aware hundreds of such events will happen in towns big and small in my state and beyond. Many have been fixed for months or even years in advance with much expense already gone into planning. All of this will be disrupted by nationwide protests at this time and I appeal to the great Nigerian youths not to be the harbingers of so much pain and loss to their compatriots - individuals, families and communities alike.

Then of course we have sociopolitical reasons to thread carefully. We have the example of countries which have gone the path of chaotic social change only to collapse as proof that Action and Caution are Siamese twins in the journey of all successful revolutions.

Social justice is always going to be within a social context. In other words, we need to have a country to even protest for a better one at all. Social Change, like fire, must never be allowed to get out of control or it will consume the very building it was ignited to warm in the first place, along with the occupants.

In public protests, no variable is 100% guaranteed. Every protest can be hijacked. Like the #EndSARS protests, recent Black Lives Matter (BLM) protests against systemic racism and police brutality in the United State were largely peaceful, yet they were infiltrated by violent elements. This forced the leaders to frequently recalibrate their strategy in order to keep travelling towards their objectives. For instance, they have ceased fire since November 4th, no doubt to give the electoral process a chance. I must also stress that when all is said and done, the fastest route to desired social change in a democracy is via the political process. The guarantee of periodic elections and change of guard in government is one reason never to burn it all down at once. Perhaps the most impressive thing about the US protesters is how much they have utilized the ballot box in 2020.

In 2016, about 135 million Americans voted in the Presidential Elections. In 2020, they are on course to overtake the 180 million marks. Majority of the new voters are youthful protesters, and mobilization is the key. Currently, Black Lives Matter (BLM) is actively participating and setting agenda in the Joe Biden transition program because their roles in his support cannot be denied. #EndSARS can do likewise or even better.

Pressure groups take political power when their pressure has built up to the point where they can no longer be refused or ignored. My administration has recently capitulated to the growing power and participation of women in our state politics by ceding all the 21 Deputy Chairmanship positions in all of our local government councils to them along with the 21 Council Speakership positions. Nothing stops #EndSARS from achieving similar accommodation with our political parties.

The good thing about a democracy is that if leaders push citizens to the brink through a consistent pattern of substandard governance, citizens can always wait for them at the next elections. I can testify from my personal experience that a political system can only be comprehensively overhauled from within and you can only do that when you take control of it as a legitimate and legal participant. It does not matter how much protesters ground the nation, they can never produce even a Councilor outside the ballot box who will be acceptable to the people.

Thus, anger at social imbalances or poor governance manifested only through protests, whether peaceful or violent, will only achieve piecemeal objectives. Our #EndSARS protesters must therefore start looking and organizing towards the 2023 General Elections now, either by adopting an existing party platform or setting up one of their own.

Contrary to perceptions, 2023 General Elections are not far at all. If God keeps our lives, we are only about 800 days away from February, 2023 when all of this youthful energy can be harnessed and channeled properly for a true revolution via the ballot box. Till then, there is more than enough work before the #EndSARS group.

I therefore appeal to the Nigerian Youth, especially the #EndSARS protesters, to rethink all plans for protests at this time, and indeed before the Panels have rounded off their assignments. Such would be premature, dangerous and above all, counter-productive to our stated aims and objectives.

Men are still mourning the man bitten to death by the lizard (with his small teeth). The leopard should not take money to go and sharpen his fangs please.

I wish all Nigerians the very best of this season, a Merry Christmas and a peaceful, prosperous and healthy 2021.

Thank you and God bless.

YAHAYA BELLO Governor of Kogi State December 6, 2020.

When we assumed office in January 2016, we realized that to save Kogi State from recession and insecurity, we needed a fresh approach. Our youthful and patriotic government couldn't succeed unless we disrupted the old ways favoring a few over the majority.

PERFORMANCE

I believe that the real essence of occupying a political office is for performance delivery and impact.

No more, no less!

-H.E. Yahaya Bello

A Review of the New Direction Administration's Performance using the Global Standards Index

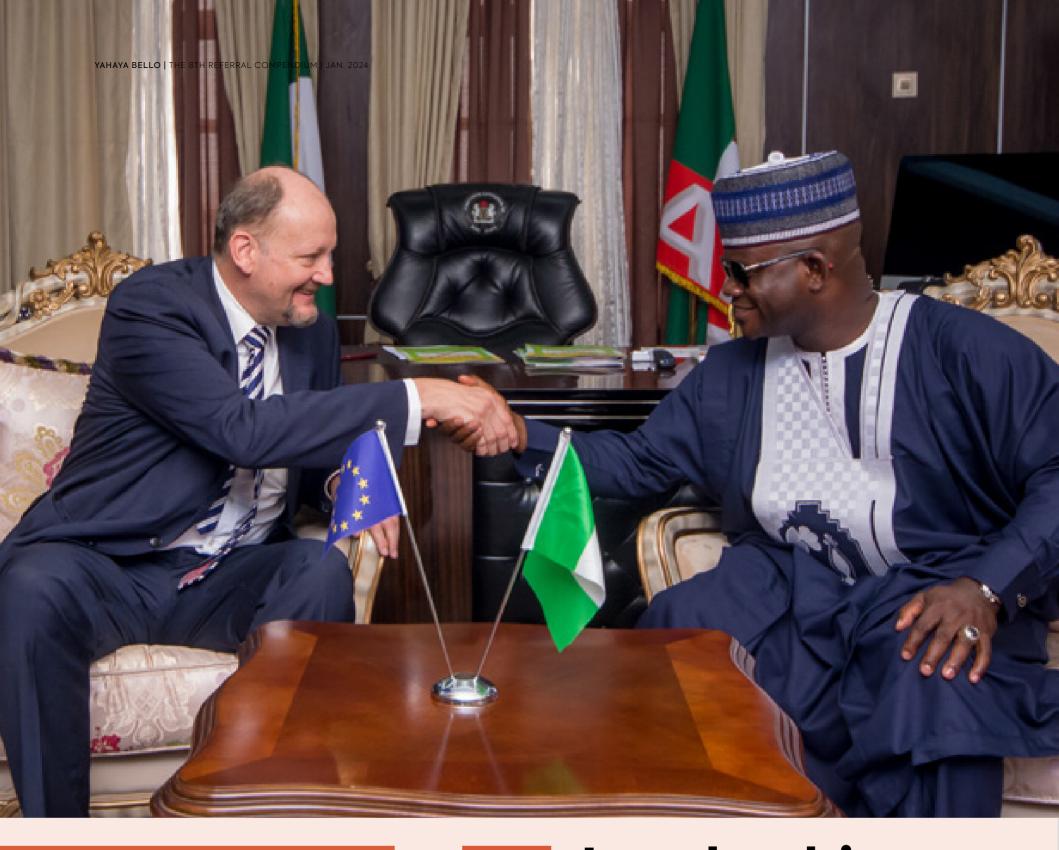

Leadership and Foresight

Leaders are responsible for envisioning, shaping, and safeguarding the future, creating clarity amidst uncertainty.

his is no small feat and made increasingly difficult in the 21st century where rapid, unforeseen change seems to be the only constant.

Good governance begins with good leadership. The culture of government leadership varies from state to state, highest-performing governments are always attributed to the leadership and foresight skills their leaders possess. They are characterized in three ways: a commitment to integrity, a strong vision and plan for their nation's future, and the ability to make the most of their available resources.

His Excellency, Governor Yahaya Bello the Executive Governor of Kogi State does not only see leadership and foresight as a process but a mindset. A mindset that realizes that the future can be different than the present or the past, and also recognizes that leaders who leverage foresight takes seriously the past and the present, so as to inform the future.

This was the mindset of His Excellency Governor Yahaya Bello when he viewed Kogi State eight (8) years ago and took up the challenge of putting the State on a New Direction path.

Having demonstrated proactive leadership in addressing pressing issues and challenges, it is expedient that we examine the New Direction Administration of His Excellency, Governor Yahaya Bello, under the four (4) major performance indicators of Good Government Index of Leadership and Foresight.

Long-term vision

This indicator describes Governor Yahaya Bello's insight to tackle Kogi State's precarious situations that have deprived her citizens to lead a better life.

1. He established a vision for the State across developmental initiatives. (To develop Kogi State into Nigeria's foremost and most secured State, emerging Commercial Hub through Optimization of the State's Geographical Location, Natural Endowments and Human Resources for Sustainable Future)

2. Developed a socio-economic blue-print to remodel Kogi State. (We have conceived a socio-economic Blueprint that we trust God will rapidly develop our State and radically empower our People. The said Blueprint will rank as a sort of Marshall Plan for rebuilding" – Governor Yahaya Bello (No. 18 of the Inaugural Speech). The policy document gives a pathway to which the socio-economic, environmental, political development and institutional strengthening of Kogi State could be achieved.

Anti-corruption

1. Declared zero tolerance to corruption and impunity by adopting the

- Treasury Single Account Bill which allows all remittances from the MDAs into a designated account.
- 2. Appointed a balanced executive team that cut across the three senatorial districts (social inclusion)
- 3. Embarked on holistic Public Service Reforms to restructure the State's workforce.

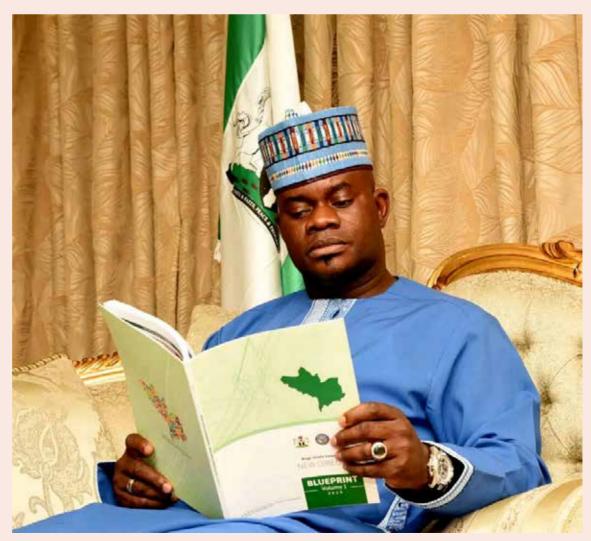

Innovation:

- 1. Establishment of an e-compendium (Kogipedia) as a research resource tool where the Governor's achievements can be assessed by all and sundry. This innovation is to be the hub for verifiable scoops in Kogi State.
- 2. Introduced of the quality and authenticity CODE for the drugs procured under the Health Care PLUS Programme
- 3. Commissioned a software application "VIGISCOPE" which aggregates and analyzes data and to collect evidence of any breech in security of lives and properties.

Ethical Leadership

- 1. Appointment of Political appointees based on competence, equity and fairness.
- 2. Established the socio-cultural agenda (EBIGO) that created a great sense of belonging and unity across all tribes in the State.

GYB, SHOWCASING KOGI TO THE WORLD.

Agenda: Aid, Trade and Foreign Direct Investments.

AN ADDRESS TO HIS EXCELLENCY, MR PAUL ARKWRIGHT, THE BRITISH HIGH COMMISSIONER TO NIGERIA, AND HIS ENTOURAGE BY HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR YAHAYA BELLO OF KOGI STATE DURING THEIR VISIT TO KOGI STATE ON 6TH, APRIL, 2017.

PROTOCOLS

It gives me great pleasure to welcome His Excellency, the British High Commissioner to Nigeria, Mr. Paul Arkwright, to Government House, Lokoja, Kogi State. Lokoja became the capital of Kogi State in 1991 and remains the geographical intersection of present-day Federal Republic of Nigeria. Before then the city was the first administrative capital of Nigeria after the amalgamation of the Northern and Southern Protectorates into one nation in 1914 by the British.

The first British Governor-General of Nigeria, Lord Frederick Lugard first administered the new nation from Lokoja. In fact, from this very location. Our Government House and her precincts are officially known as Lugard House, and commemorates not just the memory of Lord Frederick Lugard, but also of Miss Flora Shaw who later became his wife. She it was who coined the word 'Nigeria', and she did it right here in Lokoja.

Your Excellency, here in Lugard House, Lokoja, and in many places around Kogi State, you will find numerous monuments and memorials of the large British Community which once lived, loved, traded and worked in these parts. There are also many buildings and other infrastructure left behind by the British Administration which governed us in colonial times. The air still exudes their very essence. No wonder Lokoja feels British sometimes.

Your Excellency might have noticed over your nearly two year or so of service in Nigeria that certain buzzwords are common with us, with 'corruption' being perhaps the most endemic, and for good reason. It is the root of a whole coven of negative 'isms and schisms' which have continued to plague the nation and stymie her development. Like 'ethnicism', 'nepotism', and 'tribalism', among others.

These are not just mere words. They are the malpractices with which previous leadership, baring one or two notable exceptions, have impaired the capacities of this great country to rapidly develop or positively impact the lives of her citizens. This sad state of affairs explains the pent-up desperation with which majority of Nigerians still cling to the Promise of Change by President Muhammadu Buhari.

Though imperfect as other humans, the President, with patriotism and rectitude not commonly found in Nigerian leaders, continues to wrestle at the helm of affairs to turn the direction of Nigeria's ship of state away from the cliffs into which we were very nigh driven by our erstwhile leaders.

Here in Kogi State we are committed to complementing the President's efforts and to bring visionary leadership, imbued with youthful vigor, home to our people. My government is called the New Direction Administration because we are running with a New Direction Blueprint designed to guide our interventions in line with our commitment to provide good governance, and to keep us focused.

The Blueprint is our Roadmap for accelerated development of Kogi State. It highlights 5 Key Thematic Areas for intervention, namely: Education, Health, Infrastructure & Utilities, Job Creation & Youth Engagement as well as Public Service & Pension Reforms. Since we came into office on January 27, 2016, we have done nothing but implement the New Direction Blueprint. Our results are becoming more and more visible.

We just concluded one key reform - a Staff Screening and Verification Exercise to remove ghost-workers and unintended beneficiaries from our payroll. About 20,000 have already been discovered and removed, many of them fraudulently inserted, and we are not even done compiling the final reports! Already this saves the State Billions of Naira monthly which previously vanished into the pockets of politicians and their cronies.

We are also advanced in talks with Oracle, USA to automate our human resources and financial management systems in a manner that complements the screening Exercise and works with it to minimize the possibility of compromise in the future.

We, along with the rest of the world, found Brexit quite intriguing. In the end, and in our opinion, it restates your country's commitment to Democracy and reaffirms the resilience of British Society. As the Chief Executive of a State roughly one-and-a-half times the size of Wales, possessing vast untapped human potentials and natural resources, I do not want to miss any of the opportunities which Brexit has opened up.

Accordingly, we are looking to form new partnerships and deepen existing alliances. While we concede that certain engagements must be articulated and driven from the federal, we contend that much business can be done directly between Kogi State and British Entities in many sectors. Agriculture, Education, Tourism, Solid Minerals and Mining, ICT, Renewable Energy - to mention but a few. These represent the niches which we seek to exploit.

Kogi is open for business. We urge the High Commissioner to be our envoy to his nation and people in this regard. Tell them that Kogi State presents an incredible diversity of quick-wins for the UK Charity working in development and cooperation. Tell them also that we offer endless investment options for the British investor.

Kogi is therefore open for Aid, Trade and Foreign Direct Investment. We are angling for significant increases in all three legs of this socioeconomic tripod in this Brexit era, and beyond.

Integrity breeds confidence. We decided early on as an Administration to prove that we can be trusted when we make a commitment. Our existing development partners can testify that we have followed through. We work hard to meet counterpart funding and other obligations, as expeditiously as possible. We will continue to do so, while hoping it will trigger increase in donor and multilateral cooperation with the UK and her allies.

We are planning a Multilateral Partnership and Investment Dinner later this quarter to pitch our opportunities. We will rely on the British High Commission to assist us in circulating Invitations to that event to as many UK businesses as possible. The message you have to deliver for us is simple. Lokoja still welcomes adventurers, travelers and traders like the intrepid William Balfour Baikie, who came here in 1854 and forged enduring friendships with our forebears through forthrightness and mutual respect.

We welcome Your Excellency and your team to Lokoja and Kogi State, and hope you will find time to visit some of our more accessible historical attractions, like the site where the Union Jack used to fly when Lokoja served as the capital of the Colonial Administration, the European Cemetery and the World War 1 Cenotaph.

We thank you for visiting with us today.

You are appreciated.

HIS EXCELLENCY, YAHAYA BELLO GOVERNOR OF KOGI STATE

Robust Laws and Policies

An effective and consistent legal framework and public policies are the cornerstones of a well-functioning and prosperous State.

his pillar focuses on the institutions, systems and processes that the New Direction Administration of His Excellency Governor Yahaya Bello deployed to apply, administer law, and to design policies and regulations.

This pillar draws on three (3) indicators:

Rule of law

 The Governor Yahaya Bello's Administration, together with the Kogi State House of Assembly and the Kogi State Ministry of Justice, established the Kogi State Administration of Criminal Justice Law (ACJ) which ensures that the system of administration of criminal justice in Kogi State promotes efficient management of criminal justice institutions, speedy dispensation of justice, protection of the society from crime and protection of the rights and interests of the suspect, the defendant, and the victim.

The Governor Yahaya Bello's administration closely observed the Principle of Separation of Powers between the Three Arms of Government as well as adhered to Due Process as enshrined in the State Laws.

Quality of Judiciary

- Governor Yahaya Bello Upheld the autonomy of the judicial arm.
- The New Direction Administration of Governor Yahaya Bello Upgraded the law library into an e-library.
- Digitized the litigation registry for access to ongoing and concluded civil and criminal cases.
- Domesticated and administered the Criminal Justice Law (ACJ)

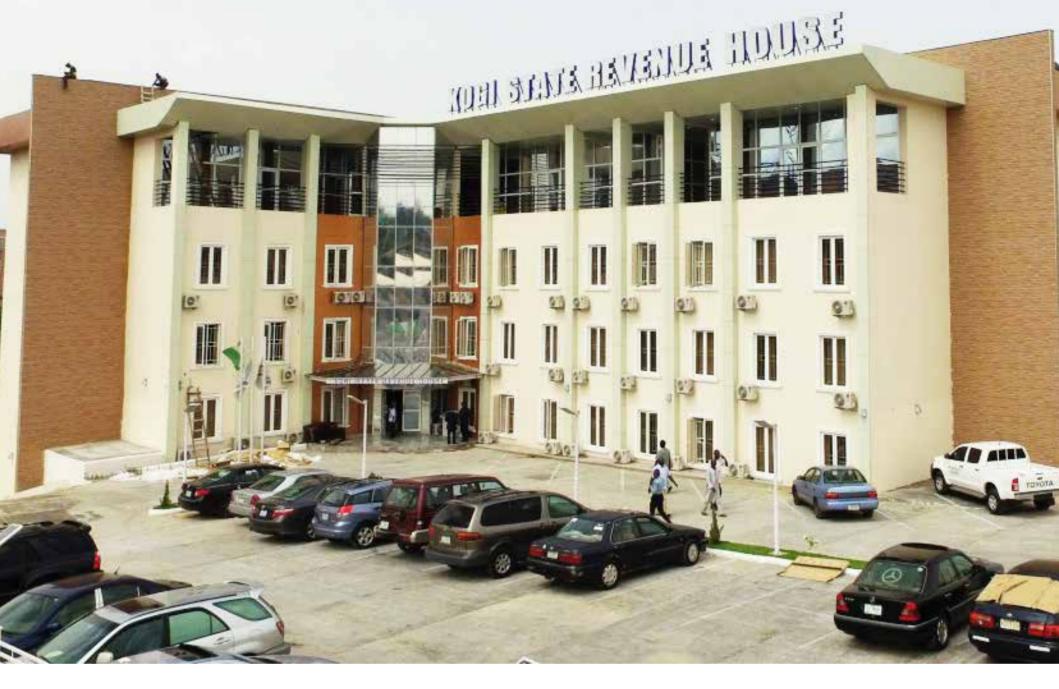

Transparency

- The New Direction Administration through the deployment of an application (KOGAS) has introduced an all-inclusive system of governance where citizens have access to government information and are able to give their feedbacks on government efforts.
- Publication of in-depth financial reports of disbursement of bailout funds.
- Set up the judicial commission of enquiry to ensure accountability and trust in public offices.
- Establishment of the bureau of information services and grassroot sensitization

Strong Institutions

State with strong institutions prosper by creating an environment that facilitates private sector growth, reduces poverty, delivers valuable services and earns the confidence of the citizens.

nstitutions, such as Ministries, Public departments, and Statutory agencies, are the building blocks of a well-functioning government. These institutions are effective at working with other agencies to execute their missions, and deliver public goods and services that are valued by households and businesses.

By displaying a track record of professional competency, fairness, and keeping promises, strong institutions ultimately build public trust. This pillar draws on three (3) indicators that measure the competence and effectiveness of the New Direction Administration of Governor Yahaya Bello in strengthening her institutions in the last eight (8) years.

Quality of Bureaucracy

- revalidated the Civil Service Reforms to recalibrate the engines of a near moribund service and drove a level of productivity that is unprecedented. It carried out screening and verification exercises that uncovered 25,103 ghost workers and also trained about 10,000 staff in different capacities across the Ministries, Department and Agencies.
- Governor Yahaya Bello trimmed the number of ministries in the state from 20 to 15. This eliminated the duplication of roles, cut the cost of governance and increased productivity.
- In order to grow the Internally Generated Revenue of the state, Governor Yahaya Bello granted autonomy to the Kogi State Internal Revenue Service, moved them to a modern premise to strengthen their operational capacity.

Coordination

- Commissioned Super Political Action Committee (SUPER PAC) to harmonize Ministries, Department and Agencies (MDAs) operations and activities; and orientate them on how to work and act in a collaborative manner for the accelerated development of Kogi State.
- The government of His Excellency, Governor Yahaya Bello, forged a synergistic arrangement with the Kogi State Assembly (Executive-Legislative synergy) which helped in speedy deliberation and approval of budget proposal for prompt implementation. This relationship has also helped in the passage of over 200 bills and 700 motions.

Implementation

- The GYB administration entrenched equity, fairness and accountability amongst its institutions. It has also embedded gender equity by surpassing the United Nations 35% affirmative action for women participation in government. (Note- all female appointment made by His Excellency in graphics) Among only four other States in the federation, and under two years in office, The United Nation declared Kogi State a success story in achieving the Global Goals (SDGs)
- The World Bank Group recognizes Kogi State as a top performer in the World Bank Portfolio due to a policy of prompt payment of the counterpart funds obligations to the World Bank Group and other development partners.

Financial Stewardship

he Financial Stewardship pillar measures the effectiveness of the New Direction Administration's financial management and the risks associated with its debt through three (3) indicators:

Resource Transparency

- 1. Under the Public Financial Management Reforms, Governor Yahaya Bello established
- a. The Transparency, Efficiency and Accountability (T.E.A) Unit for:
- Better coordination of the MDAs
- Value addition in accounting
- Better coordination between MDAs roles and goals

- Online Budgetary provision
- Curtailing Government wasteful spending, and
- Ensuring value for money in government expenditures
- b. Publication of Financial Statements: The Governor Yahaya Bello Administration ensures the publication of the State Financial Statements as accountability and transparency is the watchword of the agenda of his administration.
- c. The Governor Yahaya Bello Administration deployed the operation of the State Integrated Financial Management Information System (SIFMIS) that brought onboard a simple but robust Integrated Financial Management system, where the State Government's transactions were carried out in most efficient and effective manner.

- 2. Under the Fiscal Sustainability Plan, Governor Yahaya Bello engendered
- a. A financial re-engineering which helped in plugging financial loop holes; aid prudency in the system and provided value for money at every instance of project and program execution. These have helped to
- Improved accountability and Transparency
- Increased Internally Generated Revenue
- Rationalized Public expenditure
- b. The introduction of the World Bank State's Fiscal Transparency Accountability Sustainability (SFTAS) Program, improved transparency and accountability, quality in public finance management, achieved increase value for money, and better service delivery to the citizens. Kogi State Performance under this framework earned her a performance grant of N4.9bn ($12.9m), which was channelled to infrastructural development.

Spending Efficiency

- 1. Deployment of payroll system to block leakages in the payment system
- 2. Through the civil service reforms, about N1.3bn was salvaged monthly from the over bloated wage bill
- 3. Implementation of Treasury Single Account (TSA)
- 4. Through sound budget implementation, the State was rewarded with a $5m World Bank award

Government Debt

This indicator measures the debt dynamics and risk of Kogi State, based on her debtto-GDP levels, changes in debt, the credit ratings, and stage of her economic development. The following were the achievement of His Excellency Governor Yahaya Bello:

- Debt Management office to continually safe track her debt profile, and making the quarterly debt profile indices available, has helped channel resources to priorities.
- The Governor Yahaya Bello's Administration engaged a number of consultants in the areas of Ground rents, fund recoveries, auditing, budgeting and a host of others with positive impacts being recorded on daily basis.
- The Administration drove the process of restructuring the State Government Bond to spread the repayment process to ease the burden on the State's monthly allocation.

BRIEF REMARKS BY HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR YAHAYA BELLO OF KOGI STATE AT THE 3RD ANNIVERSARY COMMEMORATION OF THE KOGI STATE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY AND LAYING OF 6 BILLS FOR PASSAGE INTO LAW ON FRIDAY, 8TH JUNE, 2018.

PROTOCOLS.

am happy to be here and to join this joyful crowd of friends and well-wishers to celebrate with our lawmakers. 3 years ago, this Assembly was sworn-in, actually a few months before my own inauguration. In that time, these awesome gentlemen have weathered the storms of discord with maturity, overcome the constraints of inadequate funding with graciousness and consistently attended to the legislative functions with admirable resolve and hard work.

There are legislators who interpret the Principle of Separation of Powers to mean senseless and intractable conflicts with the Executive. Others believe the role of the Legislature is to turn government upside down via misconceived activism without considering the adverse impact of a government in turmoil on the welfare of citizens. The Kogi State House of Assembly is not among these.

In fact, we have heard of legislators elsewhere who travel the extra mile to infamy by using blackmail to score an unfair percentage of available resources to themselves, even if it means holding critical governance instruments hostage.

Our experience in Kogi State with this Assembly has been wonderfully different. They have been happy to stand side-by-side with the people and with us in the sacrifices everyone has had to make as we ration resources and weather the storms of economic slowdown. We appreciate you sirs.

Together, this New Direction Administration of which we, the Executive, Legislature and Judiciary, are equal partners has enthroned the virtues of Respect for the Principle of Separation of Powers and the Autonomy of all Three Arms of Government. These foundational principles, along with our mutual respect for one another and adherence to the Rule of Law, have resulted in the historic harmony which we enjoy in the Kogi State Government, and throughout the length and breadth of Kogi State itself. I celebrate the role of this Kogi State House of Assembly in making this possible.

We applaud the Honorable Speaker, Rt. Hon. Mathew Kolawole for his visionary leadership of this House. We also salute the extraordinary work ethic of every Honorable Member. Their legislative output in less than two and a half years is nothing short of prodigious.

For two years in a row now, they have passed our Money Bills in record time. This made Kogi State one of the few whose Annual Budgets for 2016 and 2017 became available for reference purposes on and offline, before the end of January in the respective years.

Another significant example of this Assembly's commitment to do the work for which they were elected is the domestication of the Administration of Criminal Justice Law (ACJL), 2017. This Assembly labored on that signature legislation through the Christmas season last year which enabled me to sign it into Law on the 28th day of December, 2017. Their efforts mean that Kogi is one of the very few States of the federation and fewer still in the North to domesticate this innovative piece of Criminal Justice Legislation.

I have the pleasure to lay 6 new bills before this house today. I have no doubt that they will receive the same prompt attention which is the hallmark of this august Assembly. As you will see, these Bills touch on key aspects of our society and economy making their quick passage invaluable for enhanced service delivery to the people by Government. I look forward to signing them into law soon.

Similarly, I wish to appeal to Honorable Members to speed up the passage of some critical Bills still pending before this House, especially those touching on health care which are intended to empower us to act in providing certain sustainable health solutions for the people. The Attorney-General and his team are 100% percent at your disposal to resolve any issues and to avoid delays.

We are fully aware of the urgent need to update Members' constituency and other allowances and I assure you that we are even now working on that. It is safe to say that soon, very soon indeed, we should be able to regularize your financial positions.

Once more I felicitate with the Kogi State House of Assembly on the occasion of your 3rd Anniversary today and pray the Almighty God for increased guidance and wisdom on members to always do His Will for Kogi State in the performance of your duties.

Thank you everyone.

God bless.

YAHAYA BELLO Governor, Kogi State. 8 June, 2018.

Attractive Marketplace

An attractive marketplace must be stable and consistent, but it must also be vibrant and productive.

ompetitive, productive economies tend to be more innovative and efficient over time, allowing them to attract even more investment capital. State that are well placed to attract foreign investments will have a strong advantage in growing their economies beyond the constraints of domestic capital and consumer markets.

Governor Yahaya Bello having understood that with a strategic positioning of Kogi State, its natural resource endowment and available productive capacity (Land & Labour), Kogi State has the potential to become one of the largest economies in Africa. It is important for us to see how he had upturned the tide of Kogi State and have consistently grown its marketplace in the last eight years.

The Attractive Marketplace pillar draws on three (3) indicators which measure a state's ability to encourage economic activity both domestically and internationally.

Macroeconomic Environment

In the quest of Governor Yahaya Bello to implement the job creation and youth engagement policy, the State has been able to draw about N1.5Bn monthly into the economy of the State in the last 8 years, through the various Social Safety Net (SSN), formerly Social Intervention, Programmes (SIPs). About 179,156 beneficiaries have benefited through the various programmes in the State ranging from N-Power, Government Enterprise Empowerment Programme (GEEP), and Conditional Cash Transfer (CTT). These have helped to provide employment for youths, market women economy, and monthly grants to the poor and vulnerable in the State.

Under the Agricultural Rebirth Policy of his Excellency, Governor Yahaya Bello, interventions across the Anchor Borrower Scheme, Agro-Processing Productivity Enhancement and Livelihood Improvement Support (APPEALS), International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD), has empowered over 19,239 youth and women in Kogi State.

Through various delivery platforms of the Nigeria Covid-19 Action Recovery and Economic Stimulus (NG-CARES), the Governor Yahaya Bello Administration has empowered over 18,023 beneficiaries with this Programme

Attracting Investments

Kogi State under the administration of Governor Yahaya Bello was declared as the top most investment destination State in Nigeria to the tune of $1b in Qtr.3 2020 by Nigeria Investment Promotion Commission (NIPC). This feat was made possible by His Excellency's strong policies and plan put in place in weathering economic shocks and crises.

With the effort to boost investment opportunities in the confluence state, the Kogi State Government and Chinese Government signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) to the tune of N591b to build a nuclear plant for rapid industrialization in the State.

Due to the good leadership of Governor Yahaya Bello exemplified by the refund of a $4.63m surpluses under the Nigeria Erosion and Watershed Management Project (NEWMAP). This leadership approach birthed the new Agro-Climatic Resilience in Semi-Arid Land (ACRESAL) project.

Logistics Competence

Construction of roads to rehabilitation of bad ones in the three senatorial districts. Worthy to mention is the Idah Road, the Ganaja Flyover bridge, the Okene by-pass, the Kabba township roads, Ankpa Township roads and Okpo road, intra roads in Lokoja metropolis and other significant roads in the state.

Rural electrification projects across the 21 local governments. This has helped small scale businesses to thrive as they now have access to these basic infrastructures and the enabling environment for their business expansion.

Making portable water available by provision of boreholes from districts to wards. The 21 local governments in the state benefited from the GYB connect program.

LEGACIES

By its nature legacy cannot be frontloaded, it must always be a verdict delivered by posterity, in retrospect. This means that Legacy is not a laurel you award yourself - it is a medal earned by hard work the results of which extend into the future.

-H.E. Yahaya Bello

The Legacies of the New Direction Administration

overnor Yahaya Bello's legacy is multifaceted, spanning areas of Education, Healthcare, Agriculture, Funding Governance, Infrastructure, Human Capital Development, Entrepreneurship and youth empowerment, Ebigo and most importantly Security.

These were the thematic areas identified by the New Direction Administration and governed by a set of globally recognized principles which are both measurable and scalable. The introduction of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) which identified the United Nations/Oxford University Poverty and Human Development Initiative, known as the UN/OPHI Multidimensional Poverty Index (MPI), also serves as compelling guide to the success of implementation of Good Governance in Kogi State.

The past eight years of this administration has instituted long term and enduring practices that has delivered the matrix of dividend of democracy in the State. However, with perseverance, we can now attest that the new approaches introduced 8 years ago has slowly matured, and have turned out to be very rewarding.

This segment of the 8th Referral Compendium would give exhaustive details of the policies, programs, and projects effectuated by the New Direction Administration under the identified thematic areas.

Education

Vision:

Quality Education for All

Mission:

To enhance accessible and affordable educational services in all tiers efore 2016, all levels of the educational sector in Kogi State were plagued by decaying infrastructure, non-payment of salaries, labor strikes, a shortage of academic staff, and poorly structured curricula, among other obstacles to quality and affordable education in the state. In just over the last 8 years, the New Direction Administration of Governor Yahaya Bello has completely transformed the education landscape for the better.

At the basic and post-basic levels, the administration has constructed or reconstructed more than 1000 primary and secondary school blocks and other infrastructure across the state. They are usually painted blue and white to distinguish them from the green and white structures built by the state government in counterpart funding with the federal government. Notably, the GYB model primary and secondary schools in Lokoja and other cities have become symbols of this transformation. These vastly improved infrastructure has turned around, a far cry from the dilapidated ruins they were when Governor Bello took office in 2016.

Beyond physical infrastructure, the administration has significantly improved the quality and quantity of learning materials, teaching resources, and human capital for primary and secondary schools in the state. Governor Yahaya Bello introduced free and compulsory education for all children from kindergarten to secondary school, removing the burden of early childhood education from caregivers. This has resulted in Kogi State having the fewest number of out-of-school children among the 19 northern states.

Governor Yahaya Bello has also taken giant strides in the tertiary education space in Kogi State. The establishment of 2 new state universities from scratch has widened available university education options for the children of Kogi State. The Confluence University of Science and Technology at Osara is focused on the STEM disciplines while the new Kogi State University (KSU), Kabba is a regular university founded to cater for both the sciences and the humanities. Governor Bello explained his motivation for setting up CUSTECH thus:

'The Administration was greatly disturbed by the painful experiences of hundreds of Kogi youngsters who were unable to pursue careers in Science and Technology due to very limited openings in universities outside Kogi State. It was established that even with impressive scores in the Unified Tertiary Matriculation Examination (UTME), cutthroat competition for limited spaces and unfavorable catchment considerations usually put Kogi State children at a disadvantage. Over the years, access to such programmes as Medicine and Surgery, Pharmacy, Architecture, Engineering and others in this category kept dwindling for Kogi Secondary School leavers...the administration decided to take action by establishing a specialized university of her own, dedicated to science and technology.'

CUSTECH will be convoking her first batch of graduates in about a year's time while Kogi State University has also kick started administrative function in getting the institution on a smooth operation.

Continuing with tertiary education, the Yahaya Bello administration has been feverishly engaged in improving both the academic and non-academic development of every other tertiary institution in Kogi State. At the premier university in Kogi State, the Prince Abubakar Audu University (PAAU), formerly Kogi State University, Anyigba, infrastructural, curricular and manpower needs have been met. Not only that, but the school which used to have a vicious campus cult problem which has claimed the lives of many students over the years is now one of the most peaceful in the Federation as the Bello administration has decisively quelled the miscreants and established a comprehensive security on campus and environs.

Also, the school is expected to receive accreditation soon from the National Universities Commission and the professional regulators in the medical field for her College of Medicine to commence. Again, it was Yahaya Bello to the rescue.

His administration has built and equipped a world class teaching hospital for PAAU at Anyigba thus meeting the regulatory prerequisite which has held her back for nearly two decades. It is also important to note that the teaching hospital facilities are also a grand boon to overall health-care in the university town, and indeed the entire Kogi East Senatorial District.

Additionally, through the direct intervention of the Yahaya Bello administration, the school has also enjoyed uninterrupted academic calendars since 2017, apart from a short break during the Covid-19 pandemic. It is practically the only public university in Nigeria where students have graduated on schedule in the last 6 years.

The Kogi State Polytechnic (KSP), Lokoja lies on the ever-busy Abuja-Lokoja-Benin Highway. It used to be nondescript, and little more than a glorified secondary school which no one paid any attention. Under the eagle's eyes and generous support of Governor Yahaya Bello it has transformed into a center of academic excellence that can today boast of vastly improved infrastructure and highly expanded instructional capabilities. In June 2022 KSP received a historic 100% accreditation for all courses offered from all regulatory and professional bodies concerned having met all requirements. In February 2023, the school which used to be shunned by students and their parents matriculated a huge crowd of 6,387 students made up of both the National Diploma and Higher National Diploma hopefuls.

Once again, the Governor, who was represented by the Commissioner for Education, used the occasion to reiterate his commitment to making Kogi State a Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) education hub in Nigeria. It was noted that both the enhanced attraction of KSP to new students and the 100% accreditation for all courses that it has attained represent definitive progress.

The Yahaya Bello administration has also paid attention to the state's four existing technical colleges at Idah, Ihima, Mopa and Ankpa with extensive construction and renovation works still ongoing at the first two. The Kogi State Colleges of Education at Ankpa and Kabba also enjoyed huge attention from this progressive administration. Both have secured 100% accreditation for all courses offered for the first time in their history, like all the other tertiary institutions in the State. Again, the magic happened after the administration provided the infrastructural and instructional facilities demanded by the respective regulators.

The School of Health Sciences and Technology, Idah also shares the same testimony of Bello Transformation. The school gained 100% accreditation for all courses offered under this administration, after over 40 years of existence and both infrastructure and equipment has seen major upgrades. This is also the case at the Kogi State College of Nursing and Midwifery, Obangede which in addition to the 100% accreditation feat it attained under Yahaya Bello was in April this year approved to offer HND training and certification in nursing to students. The National Board for Technical Education (NBTE) gave approval for the HND programme to begin this year convicted that the school has been given the infrastructural and instructional resources to do so excellently.

administration has massively This recruited instructors into her school systems at all levels and ensures that payment of teachers' salaries is now regular. It also provides essential training and continuing learning for educators as crucial aspects of educational development in the state. Kogi State has also routinely dedicated 20 to 30 per cent of her annual budget to education although finance constraints make full implementation nigh impossible. An Education Law made in 2020 codifies some of the reforms which will continue as a legacy of Governor Yahaya Bello in the education sector.

Renaissance of Kogi State Polytechnic under GYB

overnor Yahaya Bello's unwavering commitment to quality education has manifested in the massive infrastructural development and academic renaissance in Kogi State Polytechnic Lokoja

Over the last 8 years the institution has been transformed through massive infrastructural renewal and construction of additional facilities to enhance the standard of education.

Furthermore, all 30 academic programmes currently offered by the polytechnic have been duly accredited by the National Board for Technical Education courtesy of Governor Yahaya Bello's commitment towards ensuring high standards in the institution.

The leadership of the institution has also been overhauled to promote the quality and standard of learning. The current management under the leadership of Dr. Usman Ogbo has enhanced the level discipline among the students while promoting professionalism among the management and staff.

It is noteworthy to mention that the Polytechnic has not recorded any truncation of its academic program due to any labour union strike action in the last 8 years of Governor Bello's Administration.

This positive development has resulted in significant growth in the number of students seeking admission to study various courses in the polytechnic. Recently, the institution held its 4th convocation in January 2024 where a fellowship degree was conferred on Governor Yahaya Bello and other notable dignitaries in recognition of their outstanding contributions to the development of the institution and the society.

This momentous occasion was in commemoration of a decade of accomplishments for the institution and its remarkable stride towards stability and progress.

Health

Vision:

A prime provider of affordableto-free health care careful analysis of the health sector before the advent of Governor Yahaya Bello's New Direction Administration shows that the sector was characterised by gross inadequate health-care facilities exemplified by the insufficient number of healthcare facilities, poor infrastructure, inadequate manpower, and almost non-existent drug supply.

Further assessment of the health care system in the state in terms of service delivery to patients revealed that this all important indicator for the State is very poor. Healthcare services in the State are not of standard quality due to inadequate monitoring and evaluation of the activities of healthcare workers especially in the rural areas which is said to be as a result of high level of truancy and indiscipline among healthcare workers. High level of infant and maternal mortality rates are also part of the attendant health vices that were bedevilling the health sector.

Mission:

The last 8 years have seen grand achievements in the health sector in Kogi State. A result of adherence to the New Direction Blueprint and sound implementation of policies and programs. The administration set her focus on excellence in Primary Healthcare delivery for direct impact on the grassroots, wholesale construction and reconstruction of Primary Health Care (PHC) Centres saw the revamping of 332 primary health care centres across the State, such as those at Upagoro and Agassa, PHCs also enjoyed massive recruitment of qualified personnel earning competitive remuneration, rapid drug delivery services and upgrades in equipment and facilities, giving the healthcare sector in Kogi State not only a facelift, but enhanced capacity to attend to immediate health needs of the citizens.

Governor Bello ditched the previous culture of mediocrity in public services for excellence by constructing a 300-bed World Class Reference Hospital in Okene, a 50-bed Ultra-Modern Hospital in Gegu Bekki. These are fully completed and equipped with world-class health facilities as at today. The Ultra-Modern Hospital in Eganyi and Isanlu both in Ajaokuta and Yagba East are almost at the completion stage. There is also massive rehabilitation of the State Specialist Hospital in Lokoja, Prince Abubakar Audu Teaching Hospital, Ayingba, and General Hospital Idah which have been totally equipped with standard health equipment.

The Health sector also witnessed the codification of critical services into law through the presentation and passage of bills to that effect passed into law in record time to revolutionize the health sector. These include the Health Insurance Bill and the Primary Health Care Bill. Today, for the price of treating one bout of malaria, a Kogite who is enrolled into the Scheme can access one full year of healthcare services. The Health Insurance Scheme has so far absorbed the first batch of 15,000 citizens. These beneficiaries cut across all the 21 Local Governments in the state as well as non-indigenes. The Governor Yahaya Bello administration also purchased 23 Ambulances which would be distributed across all the local governments to attend to emergencies of the citizens of the State.

Aside from the implementation of the revived COMMES 2014 Salary Structure for medical doctors and 100% CONHESS Salary Structure for nurses in the state, 2,424 health professionals were also recruited to help sustain health coverage in the State. The State has partnered with various organizations to deploy a sustainable Drug Revolving scheme which has made drugs available for the treatment of patients at various hospitals. Significant achievements have been recorded by the reduction in infant mortality rates, maternal mortality, malaria, and tuberculosis incidence as a result of the Governor Yahaya Bello Health Care Plus initiative.

Another critical achievement of Governor Yahaya Bello is his tactical leadership in the management of the COVID-19 pandemic that brought the world to its knees but came and went without Kogi recording a single incident of COVID-19 disease.

Finally, The New Direction Administration of Governor Yahaya Bello has laid a solid foundation in changing the tides of the health sector in Kogi State in the course of his 8 years in office and such are the things he will be remembered for as a capacity oriented Governor.

GYB Catalyzing Healthcare Access

LAUNCH OF KOGI STATE HEALTH INSURANCE SCHEME SPEECH DELIVERED BY HIS EXCELLENCY, ALHAJI YAHAYA BELLO ON AT THE FLAG-OFF OF ENROLMENT OF BENEFICIARIES INTO THE KOGI STATE HEALTH INSURANCE SCHEME AT GLASS HOUSE, GOVERNMENT HOUSE, LOKOJA ON 2ND DECEMBER, 2020.

Protocols

t is indeed a great pleasure to flag-off the enrolment of beneficiaries into the Kogi State Health Insurance Scheme under the auspices of the Kogi State Health Insurance Agency.

Access to quality and affordable healthcare is a fundamental human right. As leader of the New Direction Administration which prioritizes health as a core theme of our Blueprint, I was determined to secure that right by law and by policy. No one should suffer or die because he or she cannot access or afford healthcare.

The journey to the establishment of Kogi State Health Insurance Agency started on November 14th, 2019 when Kogi State House of Assembly passed the bill establishing the Agency. I assented to the Law on April 24, 2019.

The Kogi State Health Insurance Agency was envisioned to provide equitable access to quality and affordable health-care for the people of Kogi State irrespective of socioeconomic status.

Our next objective is to achieve Universal Health Coverage (Health for all) soon. The establishment of the Kogi State Health Insurance Agency also puts this objective within our reach.

It is an open secret that expensive or substandard healthcare leaves citizens at the mercy of diseases leading to incapacitation or premature deaths. Without favorable intervention it can quickly push citizens into extreme poverty or even crime.

We are aware that health insurance improves the health seeking behavior of people and there is a positive correlation between good health seeking behavior, economic growth and development.

Accordingly, this Agency must work fast to provide and expand healthcare coverage to our populace. In a nutshell, it is expected to move fast to improve access to quality healthcare while reducing the financial hardships associated with out-of-pocket payments for healthcare.

Just over one year ago, the good people of Kogi State re-elected us for a second term. This is their own way of giving us their blessing to consolidate on our mandate. We do not take their good faith for granted and health is one area we have been working round the clock to prove that their trust in us is not misplaced.

We have been investing heavily into the health sector in the last one year. We have the on-going construction of world class health facilities across the state.

When completed, the reference hospital at Okene will compete favorably with similar hospitals anywhere in the world. We also have massive construction works ongoing at the Kogi State Specialist Hospital, Lokoja as well as an ultramodern general hospital in Ajaokuta and another one at Gegu-beki.

Our promise for this second term is to do more. I can say with all sincerity that we have been working hard to do that across all sectors.

I want to charge the management of the Kogi State Health Insurance Agency to redouble her effort to bring our people into the healthcare coverage umbrella. I charge them to embark on intensive public enlightenment campaigns on the benefits so that citizens are given all the information they need to key into the scheme.

Our people at grassroots are especially important to me in this project. This is because they are faced with high disease burdens, bear the brunt of irregular and inadequate income, have limited access to healthcare services, suffer high levels of poverty - all of which is worsened by high birth rates and low literacy levels.

The Kogi State Health Insurance Agency must understand that they carry our hopes of reducing multidimensional poverty by providing some social security, in this case, healthcare. If the Agency can get her act together, and I leave her no other option than to do so, the residents of Kogi State will have the help they need from Government to stem the tide of mortalities and morbidities in the State.

I will continue to provide the enabling environment for the Agency to perform optimally and position herself amongst the leading Health insurance Agencies in Nigeria.

Let me reiterate that this health insurance scheme is mandatory. However, I will also reassure the poor and vulnerable among us, such as those with special needs, the elderly, pregnant women and children less than 5 years of age who may find it difficult to contribute into the scheme, that you will be well catered for also.

I have earlier set up the 'Bello Care Project' to cater for the vulnerable people. They will not pay a dime to access quality healthcare under the scheme, but they must sign up to benefit.

I hereby flag-off the enrolment of beneficiaries into the Kogi State Health Insurance Scheme through the Kogi State Health Insurance Agency, to the glory of God and to the blessing of humanity.

God bless Kogi State.

God bless the Federal Republic of Nigeria.

YAHAYA BELLO Governor of Kogi State.

Expanding Universal Health Coverage through Health Insurance Scheme

The New Direction Administration led by His Excellency, Alhaji Yahaya Bello established the Kogi State Health Insurance Agency (KGSHIA) on April 24, 2019 against all odds after failure of successive Government in establishing the Agency.

This bold and decisive action is a clear demonstration of the unwavering commitment of the multiple-award winning Governor to promote the wellbeing of the good people of Kogi State in line with the goal 3 of the sustainable development goals (SDG).

The timely establishment of the Kogi State Health Insurance Agency by Governor Yahaya Bello is rapidly accelerating the attainment of Universal Health Coverage for the residents of Kogi State by expanding health insurance coverage across the state, promoting access to healthcare benefits and reduction of financial burden experienced by individuals and families in the state occasioned by the rising health care cost.

It is also worthy of note that the BELLO-CARE Health Initiative of his administration has provided renewed hope and succor for many indigent citizens with disabilities, pregnant women, children under 5-years and elderly persons who cannot afford the needed healthcare services who are prone to premature deaths and reduced life expectancy.

The Bello-Care Programme initiated by Governor Yahaya Bello has impacted tremendously on the health of the vulnerable persons in the state with verifiable testimonies across the 21 Local Government Areas.

BEING TEXT OF A BROADCAST BY HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR
YAHAYA BELLO OF KOGI STATE TO THE PEOPLE OF KOGI
STATE DURING THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC

y Great People of Kogi State,

1. I greet you

2. It is no longer news that with the novel coronavirus pandemic ravaging both developed and developing nations alike, it appears as if the whole world lies in the power of the evil one. Both the virus and the ailment it causes known as COVID19 are yet to be fully unraveled by either science or religion.

3. From the little we know, COVID19 is still incurable and spreading fast. As at today, April 1, 2020, the coronavirus, which appeared first in Wuhan, Hubei Province of China in the last quarter of 2019, has spread to at least 204 countries, with 859,032 infected and 42,322 deaths. The World Health Organization has declared the CoviD-19 outbreak a global pandemic.

- 4. Here in Nigeria, we recorded our index or first case on the 27th of February, 2020. The case is an Italian who works in Nigeria and returned from Milan, Italy to Lagos, Nigeria on the 25th of February 2020. The Nigerian Centre for Disease Control (NCDC) now tells us that as at this morning of 1st April, 2020 there are 139 confirmed cases of COVID19 reported in Nigeria with 9 recovered and 2 deaths.
- 5. The mystery around the nature and effect of the novel coronavirus has made room for imaginations to run wild, further increasing the fear in the hearts of people. Since prevention is better than cure, this fear can be seen in the increasingly extreme measures adopted by leaders and authorities of nations to secure their people.
- 6. Many who are unsettled by the sheer speed and scope with which the virus spreads are choosing to believe that a sinister struggle for military or economic power among the world powers has gone wrong and brought doom on the world. Others fear that the virus is a ploy to cover up the toxic effects of newly introduced Information and Communications technology on the human body. Nobody knows anything for sure, but the world must demand and receive answers in due course.
- 7. One thing is clear the world as we know it is irrevocably changed in many respects. Familiar paradigms continue to change before our very eyes in ways we cannot even analyze yet, and this makes us apprehensive. I would therefore like to use this address to call for calm. We can overcome the prevailing fear by taking a rational look at mankind's overall health position in order to get some perspective.
- 8. Every day an average of 150,000 people die on planet Earth from different causes, including old age. Mankind should not be so afraid of COVID-19 which only kills around 0.2% to 1% of those infected with it. It should not force us or our society to stop functioning. After all, malaria, tuberculosis, cancer, Lassa fever and other disease conditions have higher crude mortality ratios than this virus but we have found ways to keep them in check. CoviD-19 will not be different.

- 9. From China to Europe to the United Kingdom to the United States of America to Mother Africa, man was confronted with the inevitability of his Mortality and responded initially with helplessness. But only a coward dies many times before his death. Mankind is fighting back with every medical and scientific knowledge at her disposal. I am confident that we shall soon unravel this puzzle.
- 10. People of faith like us have been additionally blessed with divine resources to conquer fear by our trust in God. What comes next is now up to the Almighty God and not science or even religion.
- 11. To the Glory of God, Kogi State has not recorded any case of COVID-19 and we are fighting mightily to keep it so. Our gratitude goes to doctors, nurses, epidemiologists and medical professionals of all specializations, in State and Federal agencies, who are stretching themselves and making sacrifices to protect the rest of us. Thank you for your service.
- 12. Even though we have no case of the disease in our state, the pandemic has not left our state untouched. Alhaji Suleiman Achimugu, a distinguished Kogite from Ofu LGA succumbed to a combination of COVID-19 and some preexisting health conditions on 22 March, 2020. He was a former Managing Director of the Pipelines and Products Marketing Company (PPMC). His untimely death Kogite is an irreparable loss to our State. May his soul rest in peace.

- 13. I too have personally been in the frontlines of those challenged by this disease, but by the grace of God I am in great health and unaffected. On March 17, 2020 during my mother's funeral Programme, I had contact with a friend who later tested positive for the virus. When his condition became known, I went into voluntary self-isolation and subjected myself to all the medical protocols as directed by the appropriate medical authorities.
- 14. A week ago, as the footprints of the pandemic widened in the country, we set up a CORVID-19 and Lassa Fever Squadron Committee headed by the Deputy Governor to coordinate our responses to the situation. They have done a really marvelous job so far. My self-isolation period of 14 days ended yesterday, so I am resuming full duties and putting myself and my office at the disposal of the Committee. This - will beef up our capacity and help to make sure that Kogi State continues to be kept free of COVID-19.

- 15. We earlier announced some restrictions in Kogi State through the Squadron Committee, and released guidelines for enforcing them. In practice, and as our citizens may have noticed, we endeavored to put a human face to the enforcement of the those guidelines in order to ensure that disruptions to your lives and livelihoods are reduced to the barest minimum
- 16. We remain determined as a government not to buy into the highly controversial mass hysteria developing around CoviD-19. While reiterating that our primary objective is keeping Kogi State coronavirus-free, we will continue to respond to developments with reason informed by knowledge.
- 17. We recognize that hunger from a denial of access to sources of livelihood presents a more compelling danger to the larger society than the novel coronavirus itself. This is what informed our decision to maintain a firm but humane grip on the shutdown procedures we announced earlier.
- 18. We are therefore glad that in his national broadcast yesterday on the CORVID-19 situation, His Excellency, President Muhammadu Buhari exempted the rest of the country, Kogi State included, from the total lockdown initiated in the most affected States, that is, Lagos, Ogun and Abuja the Federal Capital Territory.
- 19. We will be liaising with the various ministries, departments and agencies charged in the President's Speech with the delivery of any aspect beneficial to our people to make certain that we bring them home. Accordingly, as I complete my isolation period and return to public circulation today, we shall review progress thus far, identify strengths and weaknesses within our system, and confront external opportunities and threats likely to help or worsen the situation for us.

- 20. One thing is abundantly clear right now, and that is the impracticability of sustaining a lockdown indefinitely, or even for a long duration of time. Thus, after we have fully analyzed our current situation and made proper evaluations and projections, we shall release modalities to commence a roll back of the existing restrictions on movement and commercial activities, most likely as early as the end of this week.
- 21. In particular, we shall relax restrictions on trade, commerce and industry as well as those imposed on educational institutions. We also expect to review how people can observe worship obligations and hold other gatherings like funerals or weddings. Our sole aim in all of this is to curate a return to normalcy for our state in a responsible manner which does not expose any of us to increased risk of contracting the disease.
- 22. We cannot thank the individuals and organizations who have voluntarily contributed in cash or kind to strengthening our COVID-19 control efforts. We solicit more cooperation from the good people of Kogi State as we navigate these troubled waters.
- 23. Observe the often-repeated prevention guidelines and you should be fine.
- 1. Wash your hands frequently with soap and water or an alcohol-based hand sanitizer.
- 2. Maintain social distancing and keep at least 1 meter (3 feet) distance between yourself and anyone who is coughing or sneezing.
- 3. Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth because your hands touch many surfaces and can pick up the virus which is then transferred to your eyes, nose or mouth when you touch them. From there, the virus can enter your body and can make you sick.
- 4. Practice respiratory hygiene and make sure you and the people around you cover your mouths and noses with - your bent elbows or tissue paper when you cough or sneeze. Droplets spread virus. By following good respiratory hygiene, you protect the people around you from viruses such as cold, flu and COVID-19.

- 5. If you have fever, cough or difficulty breathing, seek medical care early. We have put a sufficient number of professionals at your disposal. Call the hotlines circulated by our COVID-19 Squadron Committee if you have reasons to suspect a case of COVID-19 and you will be attended to. If there is need, the NCDC will be involved.
- 6. Stay informed on the latest developments about COVID-19. Follow advice given by our healthcare professionals in the daily updates. They know how you can best protect yourself and others from COVID-19 and are best suited to advise you on what you should be doing to protect everyone.
- 7. Protect your mental health and take charge of your psychological wellbeing. Avoid the relentless stream of negative postulations and dire predictions some busybodies now delight in making, especially on social media. They will only fill you with hopelessness which may lead to depression, worsening your case.
- 24. In concluding, I urge Kogites again to remain unafraid but careful the novel coronavirus disease is by no means a death sentence nor is it the end of the world. It is a trial that we shall all come through together by the grace of the Almighty God.
- 25. Fellow Kogites, stay strong.
- 26. God bless Kogi State.

Infrastructure

Vision: Infrastructure for economic growth and sustainable development.

overnor Yahaya Bello's tenure has witnessed a tremendous overhaul in Kogi State's infrastructure. Roads that were once dilapidated and impassible have been rehabilitated, connecting previously isolated communities and enhancing transportation networks. This commitment has not only ensured easier access to healthcare and education but has also attracted local and foreign investors, spurring economic growth within the State. Prioritizing infrastructure development in the state has enabled significant investments made in road construction and rehabilitation, improving transportation networks and connectivity, rural electrification and portable water within the state. The Project Light Up Kogi East (PLUKE) is a significant feat of Governor Yahaya Bello's administration that was approved to connect the Eastern senatorial districts to the National Grid through Agenebode in Edo State.

Mission:

There is what we call the GYB signature in the State, a look at the Revenue House, Ministry of Transport, roads in Olamaboro, Omala, Ankpa Okene, Kabba and other places, the confluence Rice Mill is tagged the 2nd largest in the North and the best in the country are the standard GYB set in the infrastructure landscape in Kogi State. It is on record that no administration in the history of the state has done anything close to what Governor Yahaya Bello has done in Kogi State. The people in the rural areas has felt the impact of good governance in infrastructure as people can now move their farm products easily across borders of each town at a reduced travel time which has relatively impacted on the food economy of the State.

Another monumental legacy of Governor Yahaya Bello is the Ganaja Flyover in the capital city of Lokoja. This was a project met with pessimism and was not believed because previous administration had toyed with the intelligence of citizens on this particular project. But as state were in the economic mess of COVID-19, the magical GYB released billions for the project and a project onced tagged as a borehole at its inception is now a monumental legacy that has resolved the traffic problem in one of the fastest growing city in the world. The Muhammadu Buhari Civic Centre is another edifice in the state capital and that has started bringing its dividends.

The Ministry of Works and Housing tasked with the development of Infrastructure in the State were also well equipped and their agencies enhanced. Earth moving vehicles were purchased for the Kogi State Road Maintenance Agency. This has enhanced their capacity to fix virtually all the Intra roads in the Lokoja Metropolis.

The vision of Governor Yahaya Bello is to make Lokoja city as one of the fastest growing city in the world and he understood that a good infrastructure base will not only attend to the citizens but also enticed investors springing up i. Today the story and the evidence are there in Kogi to establish GYB signature in the infrastructure landscape of Kogi State. All of these efforts has helped to bridge the infrastructure deficit in education, health and other sectors in Kogi State.

Giant Strides of GYB in Kogi NEWMAP

overnor Yahaya Bello's desire to combat the menace of Gully Erosion in Kogi State, safeguard lives and livelihoods of the good people of the State, as well as safeguard critical infrastructure in the State, led to the partnership with The World Bank/Nigeria Erosion and Watershed Management Project (NEWMAP).

This partnership brought succor to communities which had hitherto been ravaged by the menace of Gully Erosion and flooding, leading to loss of lives, livelihoods, property, and critical infrastructure which had been neglected in the past.

On his part, as a way of ensuring effective partnership with the World Bank/FGN NEWMAP Project, Governor Yahaya Bello has paid Counterpart Funding, in Hundreds of millions, and also paid compensations to all project affected persons around the 5 gully sites reclaimed. This noble move by the Environment friendly Governor has ensured that people who are involuntarily affected by Project intervention are adequately compensated, as a way of positively impacting their lives!

GYB, through the Kogi NEWMAP intervened in 5 sites - Agassa Gully Site in Okene, Adum Road Gully Site in Olamaboro, Ogane-Aji Gully Site in Dekina LGA, Ozuri Gully Site in Adavi LGA, and Greater Lokoja Water Scheme Gully Site in Lokoja. This is in addition to other livelihood support given to members of affected communities of intervention in the State.

His Excellency has perfected all processes and procedures for intervention in three new Gully Sites in the ACReSAL project and equally paid Counterpart funds, namely – ETAHI Gully Erosion Site, in Okene OMIGBO River Channelization, in Kabba, and Ankpa Gully Erosion Site, these sites interventions would be carried out under the Kogi Agro-Climatic Resilience in Semi-Arid Landscapes (ACReSAL) Project. In Summary, from NEWMAP's gully interventions, a total of 43.77Ha of land was reclaimed; 45.6km length of roads constructed, with adequate drainage system, and 33km length of drainages constructed.

Additionally, using the instrumentality of the Kogi NEWMAP, His Excellency, Governor Yahaya Adoza Bello Installed Automatic & Manual Weather Stations at the Prince Audu Abubakar University; Installed a Telemetry Station in Bagana; Provided Solar Powered Boreholes & Streetlights In 7 Communities (Achoze, Oguda, Akuu, Ekinrin-Adde, Odulugu, Emifobida, and Okugo)

The establishment of the Kogi State Sanitation and Waste Management Board and the Environmental Health Law 2020 showcases Governor Bello's dedication to sanitation and waste management, ensuring cleaner and safer surroundings for the populace.

Did you know?

Governor Yahaya Bello's decision to partner with the Nigeria Erosion and Watershed Management Project (NEWMAP) with aid from the World Bank was basically to put an end to the environmental degradation disaster that has impoverished the agrarian communities. The partnership with NEWMAP recorded a lot of achievements, especially in reclamation of land which was destroyed by gully erosions and floods.

Agriculture

Vision: Food Security for all in the state

Bello's administration, agriculture in Kogi State was almost non-existent. Systemic decay, leadership problems, and lack of political will were the attendant problems faced by this sector However, the governor's prioritization of agriculture, birthed the Agricultural Rebirth Policy, which dissected the problematic issues mitigating against the sector and proffered lasting solutions through definitive implementation framework for effective execution of the strategies identified. This policy also galvanizes restructuring of the Ministry of Agriculture to improve her oper-

Mission:

To ensure food security by providing an enabling environment to enhance agricultural productivity in the state ations, make agriculture a more lucrative engagement among the youths, attract investors, mechanize the system of farm practices in the state and make Kogi the new food bank of the nation. The efforts for the betterment of farmers has yielded significant results. The last eight years has witnessed a qualitative change in the life of farmers with increased food production and agricultural business in Kogi State

One of the smart move by Governor Yahaya Bello administration is to align its agricultural policy with the federal Government. A move applauded by the World Bank for introducing Sustainable Agricultural programmes to the State. Some of the key interventions in agriculture includes; the establishment of the Ejiba Rice Mill in Yagba East of Kogi West, donation of mechanized farming equipment and inputs to local farmers and others. The introduction of the Anchor Borrower Scheme (a key intervention programme at the federal) saw 5% of equity being paid for about 4,954 rice farmers who were drafted into the scheme, not only was their equity paid, they were also furnishd with various inputs like, 50Kg of NPK fertilizers, Urea, Insecticide Nets, Water pumps and 50Kg of Rice Paddy. All of these efforts were directed towards enhancing the livelihood of farmers in the State.

In a bid to expand the Kogi Economy through agriculture renaissance and encourage agribusiness within the youths, the governor procured sets of 375 fergus tractors with complete implements, mini harvesters, planters, boom sprayers, rice reapers and other similar equipment to enhance agricultural activities and boost production. Similarly, Kogi State government purchased assemblage of 1500 tillers which were distributed to small scale farmers across the State. (2017)

Apart from that, Governor Yahaya Bello facilitated loans for farmers to encourage mechanization and improved their production outputs. This move has attracted thousands of youth to key into farming through orientation, sensitization, mechanization input subsidiary. Besides, the administration of Governor Yahaya

Bello acquired and cleared 1,000 hectares of land for farm estates across the State, thereby giving youthful farmers opportunity, access farmland, inputs and agric machines without stress.

(Change this to Did you Know)?

Governor Yahaya Bello's Administration established a 50-ton per day Confluence Rice Mill in Ejiba, which today is the 2nd largest rice mill in north central.

The World Bank-assisted project Agro Processing and Productivity Enhancement Livelihood Scheme' (APPEALS) witnessed remarkable success in Kogi State. This initiative employed over 1,700 farmers with access to funding, high-quality seeds, fertilizers, and modern farming techniques in Cassava, Rice, and Cashew production and their value chain; Poultry and Fish production.

Governor Yahaya Bello's administration employed over 6,000 direct and indirect jobs through the construction of the Confluence Rice Mill, the Greenhouse farm Osara is also a major gain for the administration. Under the State Fadama project, youths' capacity has been developed across various agricultural ventures. The Kogi State Government in partnership with the World Bank, trained and empowered over 6,235 Youths and Women in the Agro Processing, Productivity Enhancement, and Livelihood Improvement Support (APPEALS) project which has enhanced agricultural productivity of Small and Medium Scale farmers. Apparently, the investments of the goal-getting Governor yielded positive fruits as more investors has been witnessed.

Today Kogi State is comfortably placed on the platform of sustainable agricultural growth and development.

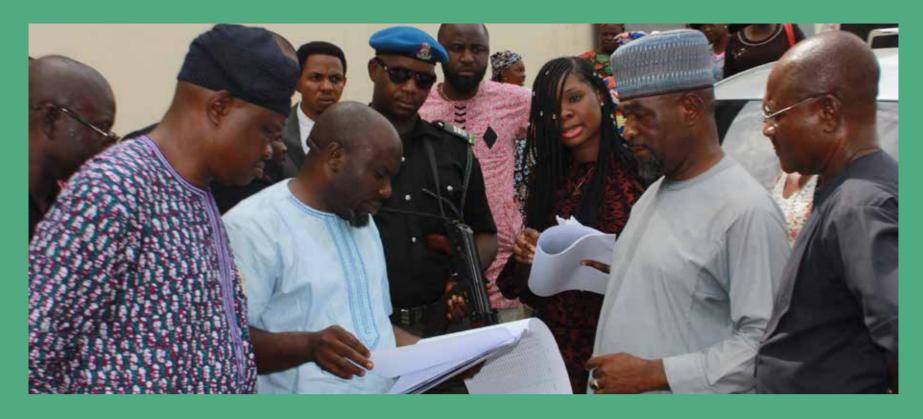

Achievements under Kogi APPEALS Project

he Kogi State APPEALS Project (Agro-Processing, Productivity Enhancement and Livelihood Enhancement Support Project) achieved commendable success in enhancing the productivity of Agribusiness Clusters in farming communities in the production of key staple crops of Cassava, Cashewnuts and Rice across the state under the purposeful leadership and support of Governor Yahaya Bello.

The APPEALS Project is a World Bank supported project designed in line with the Federal Government Agricultural Promotion Policy (APP) thrust on food security, local production, job creation and economic diversification.

Kogi State is one of the 6 (six) pilot states selected to implement the project.

The impact of the APPEALS Project was largely seen and felt by beneficiaries across the State under the following components:

- Production and Productivity Enhancement
- Primary processing, Value Addition, Post-Harvest Management and Women and Youth Empowerment
- Infrastructure Support to Agribusiness Clusters
- Technical Assistance, Knowledge Management and Communication

Project Management and Coordination

Kogi State had a target to directly reach 10,000 smallholder farmers of which 35% of the total direct beneficiaries is expected to be women and at least 10% will be People Living with Disability (PWD). As at closure, the total number of beneficiaries for both Cooperative Interest Groups and Women and Youth Empowerment Program, and Infrastructure Support is 9,462 This represents 94.62% achievement of direct beneficiaries. When disaggregated by gender, a total number of 4,921 males (52.01%) and 4,541 females (47.99%) have so far benefited from the APPEALS Project.

Security

Vision To create a secured and resilient environment in Kogi State n an age of increasing threats and evolving challenges, governments worldwide are faced with the challenges of making significant strides in enhancing security measures to protect their nations and communities. From combating terrorism to addressing cyber threats and ensuring public safety, governments must demonstrate commendable will in safeguarding their citizens as a fundamental responsibility.

Kogi, known as the Confluence State is a major linkage between the northern and the southern parts of Nigeria. A state with a diverse population and numerous security challenges.

Mission

For years, Kogi state has been plagued by security challenges, including terrorism, armed robbery, thuggery, cyber crimes, and kidnapping amongst others. These challenges have taken a toll on the state's economy, as businesses have been forced to close and investors have been scared away. The state's development has also been hindered, as projects have been delayed or abandoned due to security concerns. The impact of these challenges has been felt by all residents of the state, regardless of their social or economic status.

To maintain and enhance sufficient measures that will guarantee safety of lives and properties in the State

When Governor Yahaya Bello took office on January 27th, 2016, he was determined to tackle the security challenges facing the state. With his experience in both public and private sectors of the country, coupled with his knowledge of the terrain and the political will to do what is right, Bello hit the ground running by introducing policies and programs aimed at tackling the inherited widespread insecurity in the state through the introduction of several policies and programs.

These policies and programs were designed to address the root causes of the security challenges, rather than just the symptoms. Governor Bello also made a point of working closely with the media and civil society organizations to ensure that the policies were implemented effectively.

OPERATION TOTAL FREEDOM

Governor Yahaya Bello's "Operation Total Freedom" policy which was introduced in his first tenure, is a comprehensive security operation aimed at combating criminal activities across the state. This initiative involves collaborative efforts between security agencies, such as the police, military, and local vigilante groups. The operation has significantly improved the security situation in Kogi State, leading to the decimation of the Boko Haram sect operated cell and IED factory in the state; and a reduction in violent crimes, including armed robbery, kidnapping, and cult-related activities.

COMMUNITY POLICING

Recognizing the importance of community engagement, the Kogi State government under Governor Yahaya Bello actively promoted community policing initiatives. These efforts involve close collaboration between the police and local communities to enhance trust, intelligence sharing, and crime prevention. Through community policing, the government has empowered residents to actively participate in security matters, leading to improved crime detection rates and prompt responses to threats.

TECHNOLOGY-DRIVEN SOLU-TIONS

Being a security-conscious governor who understands that new technologies and capabilities are required to effectively combat insecurity in the state, Governor Bello invested significantly in security infrastructure to equip security agencies with the necessary resources and tools to combat crime effectively. This includes the provision of over 200 patrol vehicles, construction and equipping of an Army forward base, purchase of communication equipment, and modern surveillance technology.

By enhancing the capabilities of law enforcement agencies, the government has successfully deterred criminal activities and facilitated quick response times in emergency situations.

INTELLIGENCE GATHERING AND ANALYSIS

The Kogi State government has placed a strong emphasis on intelligence gathering and analysis to proactively address security challenges. The establishment of a robust intelligence network has enabled security agencies to stay ahead of criminal elements and prevent potential threats. The effective use of intelligence has resulted in the dismantling of criminal networks, the rescue of abducted individuals, and the recovery of stolen property. From inheriting a state with a statistic of 25 kidnap cases per month, the administration through strong partnerships with security agencies and relevant stake-holders engaging in regular meetings, intelligence sharing, and joint operations has successfully dropped the number to 3 cases, with some months recording 0 cases.

YOUTH EMPOWERMENT AND JOB CREATION

Governor Bello recognizes that addressing the root causes of insecurity requires addressing youth unemployment. The administration made youth empowerment, job creation, and education another major focus, with Kogi State rated as having the highest number of young people in leadership positions. This significantly helped to reduce youth involvement in criminal activities and promote a more inclusive and productive society.

In August 2021, Lokoja, the Kogi State capital made a list of the fastest-growing cities according to a report by the world-recognized Canadian firm, Visual Capitalist.

Visual Capitalist is one of the most recognized online publishers globally, focused on topics including markets, technology, energy, and the global economy.

This buttresses the fact that the economic impact of Governor Bello's policies has been significant. Since the policies were introduced, Kogi state has seen an astronomical increase in business activity, and new businesses have been established. In addition, crime rates have fallen, and there has been a significant reduction in violent crime. The quality of life for residents has also improved, as they now feel safer and more secure. This has led to an increase in tourism and investment, and the overall economy of the state has benefited.

While the policies introduced by Governor Yahaya Bello have been largely successful, they have not been without challenges. One of the main criticisms of the policies is that they have been expensive to implement, and have required significant investment from the government. In addition, there were some initial difficulties in getting buy-in from local communities, and some people have been resistant to change. However, the government has responded to these criticisms with results and has made efforts to address any shortcomings in the policies. Despite these challenges, the policies have undoubtedly had a positive impact on the state.

After eight years at the helm of affairs, Governor Yahaya Bello's security policies in Kogi State have demonstrated promising results, making him a model for national reform. His proactive approach, focus on technology-driven solutions, community policing initiatives, intelligence gathering and analysis, youth empowerment programs, and interagency collaboration have collectively contributed to a safer and more secure Kogi State. As Nigeria grapples with security challenges on a national scale, Governor Bello's strategies serve as an inspiration for other states and the federal government to adopt similar approaches and work towards a more secure and prosperous nation.

The great gains we made in securing the lives and properties of our people and those who traverse our territory demanded of us creative thinking and plenty of sacrifice, which we did not fail to provide. Kogi is thus more secure than she has ever been at any time. This is a gain we intend to strengthen and sustain

Human Capital Development

Vision:

To help develop the productive capacity of our citizens

Mission:

To focus on increasing the number of skilled and productive Manpower both in the Public and Private sector, whilst enhancing an enabling environment that will critically contribute to the state's sustainable economic growth uman capital development in any economy has long been regarded as the bane of economic growth and development. This is because the development of human beings brings about the development of the quality and productivity of labor which can be used to produce goods and services that result in growth and development in any economy. Human capital development plays a vital role in driving economic growth, social progress, and sustainable development.

In Kogi State, significant efforts have been made by the government to invest in the development of its people. Through various programs and initiatives, the administration of Governor Yahaya Bello has prioritized human capital development, recognizing that a skilled and empowered workforce is the foundation for a prosperous and resilient society.

The Kogi State government under Governor Yahaya Bello has made substantial investments in the area of education and skills development since it came on board in 2016. Recognizing education as the cornerstone of human capital development, the government focused on improving access to quality education, constructing and renovating schools, providing learning materials, and training teachers. Additionally, vocational and technical skills development programs are implemented to equip individuals with practical skills for employment and entrepreneurship. These initiatives have increased educational opportunities and enhanced the employability of the state's workforce.

The establishment of the Kogi State Youth Development Commission has contributed in no small measure, to reorient the values of Kogi Youths, identify and develop skills, and create job opportunities for Kogi Youths.

Recognizing the importance of gender equality and youth empowerment, the Kogi State government went further to implement various programs to promote the inclusion and participation of women and youth in economic and social development. Initiatives such as skills training, entrepreneurship schemes, and access to microfinance have been provided to empower women and youth, enabling them to contribute meaningfully to the state's progress. These efforts have not only improved economic opportunities but have also fostered social inclusion and gender equity.

In a deliberate effort to diversify the economy of the state, Governor Yahaya Bello prioritized agriculture as a significant sector in Kogi State. The government focused more resources on agricultural development to enhance food security, increase income generation, and reduce poverty. The government also implemented programs to support farmers, provide agricultural inputs, improve irrigation infrastructure, and promote modern farming techniques. This focus on agriculture has not only boosted the sector's productivity but has also created employment opportunities and improved the livelihoods of rural communities.

With his experience in both private and public sectors, Governor Yahaya Bello acknowledges that robust infrastructure, including roads, electricity, and water supply, is essential for economic growth and human capital development. The New Direction government invested in the construction and rehabilitation of both rural and urban roads, electrification projects, and the provision of potable water to enhance connectivity, support economic activities, and improve the quality of life for residents. These infrastructure developments have provided better access to markets, healthcare, education, and other essential services, contributing to the overall development of the state.

By prioritizing these sectors, Governor Yahaya Bello has empowered its people, improved their well-being, and created an environment conducive to sustainable progress.

Through our youth engagement policies, Kogi State has become the land of opportunities, transforming youth employment and development into a beacon of success and innovation

Entrepreneurship and Youth Development

Vision To Promote youth creativity and entrepreneurship development human capital. One of the major factor being lack of political will from successive governments in the State. The situation is worrisome because of increasing youth unemployment rate, bad economic conditions, and high inflation rate, among other

Mission Making Kogi the first choice destination for entrepreneurship and youth engagement ogi State is a paradigm of youth employment before the administration of Governor Yahaya Bello. This has been a central issue of concern with her economy considering that the state is blessed with skilled and available prevailing factors.

In 2016 due to the political will of Governor Yahaya Bello's Job creation and Youth engagement was a fundamental thematic area of his policy document which was a policy directly targeted at unemployment in the State. Agriculture and other components were designed to greatly absorbed unemployed youth to growth in the gross domestic product (GDP) of the state and also to ensure food security. As a result of tremendous achievements recorded, he reiterated in his second term inaugural speech that his administration will commit more towards youth development since they are major drivers leading the development and the success of the State.

A new strategy was to aggressively focused on the advancement of modern technological knowledge which in recent times strengthened entrepreneurship among women and youth of the state.

In the last 94 months Governor Yahaya Bello has demonstrated his ability to reduce youth restiveness by bringing in a large poll of youths and women into his governance, this has helped greatly in reducing tension and acrimony in the state. Prioritizing inclusiveness of women and youth, over 60% of political appointees in his administration are under 40 years old. He established the Office of the Senior Special Assistant on SDGs/Youth Development to coordinate youth policies and programs. The initiatives include skills training, entrepreneurship development, talent development programs, and youth representation in governance.

His commitment has done a lot in upgrading the core business education available to Kogi citizens, especially the youth. He revamped facilities for business education in tertiary institutions, curriculums was designed to train students for enhanced success as entrepreneurs. The Kogi State and Korean Government collaboration on the Nigeria Korea Friendship Institute of Vocational and Advanced Technology (NKFI), has equipped kogi youths with the knowledge to breed the nucleus of technological advancement in Kogi State.

Governor Bello's administration instilled confidence in the youth by engaging over 239 young men and ladies as tenured state security vigilantes, 441 Police Constabulary were also recruited and trained to serve as surveillance intelligence to the Nigerian Police Force (NPF). All of which is to ensure safety of lives and properties in the state. The social intervention Programmes (SIP) under his administration has also gainfully employed youths across the State. He revamps and restructures the existing Social Support Program - Youth Employment and Social Support Operation, (YESSO). Thousand of youths were enrolled in the Programme and are contributing immensely to the economic development of the state.

The Youth Employment and Social Support Operation (YESSO) provided an enabling environment through the public workfare implementation unit, 4,404 beneficiaries were placed on N7,500 monthly stipends in six (6) initial local government areas namely: Ajaokuta, Ibaji, Dekina, Okehi, Lokoja, and Yagba West. Another batch of 1,316 beneficiaries from Okene, Olamaboro, and Yagba East were also captured. The sum of N39,636,000.00 being the state's 10% counterpart funding of the World Bank-assisted YESSO Programme, was released while another N1,221,360 was released for the procurement of sample tools, kits, and jackets.

Another significant achievement of Governor Yahaya Bello is the establishment of the Kogi Enterprise Development Agency (KEDA) by Kogi State law under the Ministry of Commerce and Industry to stimulate, monitor, and control enterprise development for the Social and economic development of Kogi State, this agency has trained and empowered over 50,000 women and youths on various entrepreneurial schemes and programs. Under the ICT Tools to KG-Cares RA.3, N150m of digital tools have been disbursed so far to the beneficiaries to enhance their productivity and sustainability.

With the signing into Law of the bill for the establishment of Youth Development Commission, over 7,452 Kogi citizens have been employed and trained to ensure effective implementation and monitoring of the integrated National Social investment programs. Through the National Social Investment Programmes (Kogi-SIP), disbursed N20,000 to over 74,000 Kogites across the state through the Conditional Cash Transfer (CCT). The New Direction Administration partnered with organizations like the Small and Medium Enterprises Development Agency of Nigeria (SMEDAN), the World Bank, and others to provide youth with entrepreneurship training, mentorship, and access to loans, and grants.

Over 6,235 Youths and Women were trained and empowered in the Agro-Processing, Productivity Enhancement, and Livelihood Improvement Support (APPEALS) project. This project was spearheaded by the Kogi State Government in partnership with the World Bank. Over 600 youths were engaged in the pruning of 6,510 stands of oil palm trees at Aloma.

Governor Yahaya Bello has successfully put measures in place to stop youth migration and retain innovative and skilled manpower in the State, making her economically competitive and attractive. Kogi State is now the land of opportunities.

Good Governance

Vision:

A transparent decision making and accountable government he focus of the Administration's policy thrust on Governance over the Blueprint periods is to provide an enabling environment to facilitate economic and social development in the State as well as introduce and implement reform measures to strengthen governance institutions. This includes the civil service, the pension administration and the state health insurance scheme, among others.

Mission:

To foster a government that is committed to openness, integrity and responsiveness in all actions through transparent governance practices

1. The GYB administration has entrenched equity, fairness and accountability amongst its institutions. It has also embedded gender equity by surpassing the United Nations 35% affirmative action for women participation in her system of government. As a result, GYB has consciously expanded spaces for women into traditionally

- male-dominated areas
- 2. Among only four other States in the federation, and under two years in office, The United Nation declared Kogi State a success story in achieving the Global Goals (SDGs)
- 3. Upon resumption of office, the GYB Administration institutionalized the Bureau of Public Procurement to ensure compliance with the Public Procurement Act, and to guarantee accountability and quality delivery of services as well as ensure value for public funds. This decentralized the procurement process and stimulated due diligence practices in MDAs.

- 4. The Kogi State Bureau of information and Communication under the Yahaya Bello led Government has been upgraded into a full-fledged Ministry, thereby strengthening her capacity to act as ombudsman between the government and the people.
- 5. Governor Yahaya Bello has ensured the autonomy of the Local Government Authority in the State, thereby balancing power to the 3rd tier of government in the State.
- 6. The New Direction Government under the leadership of Governor Yahaya Bello has consistently ensured the publication of its yearly financial statements. This has qualified the State to participate in the World Bank's States Fiscal Transparency, Accountability and Sustainability Programme (SFTAS), emerging 1st amongst the 36 states of the Federation, and carting away the $1.8 million prize.
- 7. The Yahaya Bello Administration built a modern edifice for the State-Owned Graphic Newspaper. This is a multimedia outfit that was repositioned to a level of technical output which is reportedly best in kind amongst similar State entities. The administration also procured the State-of-the -art Outside Broadcasting (OB) Van for Confluence Radio and New Digital Transmitters for the Broadcasting Corporation.
- 8. To further improve the resilience of the people of Kogi State into the aftermath of the Covid-19 pandemic, the Governor Yahaya Bello Administration initiated the BELLO COVID-19 Action Recovery and Economic Stimulus (BELLO-CARES) as a home-grown programme of palliatives through which the citizens of the State was - assisted across the 3 Senatorial Districts with various forms of succour.

- 9. The World Bank Group recognizes Kogi State as a top performer in the World Bank Portfolio. This is due to a policy of prompt payment of the counterpart funds obligations to the World Bank Group and other development partners by the Governor Bello-led Administration.
- 10. The administration of His Excellency Governor Yahaya Bello has a deliberate policy of fidelity and cooperation with the Federal Government. This has injected about N1.3Bn monthly into the economy of the State through the various Social Safety Net (SSN), formerly Social Intervention, Programmes (SIPs). About 179,156 beneficiaries have benefitted through the various programmes in the State ranging from N-Power, Government Enterprise Empowerment Programme (GEEP), Conditional Cash Transfer (CTT) and Home-Grown School Feeding Programme (HGSFP). These have helped to provide employment, increased intervention in public schools, market women economy and monthly grants to the poor and vulnerable in the State.
- 11. In pursuit of inclusiveness for all citizens, the New Direction administration of His Excellency Governor Yahaya Bello commissioned and built a state-of-the-art Chapel in Government House to complement the existing mosque and to give the Christian populace a sense of belonging after 25 years.

Succouring communities through Coordinated Natural Disaster Management.

mplemented a coordinated approach to natural disaster management which brought significant succour to communities facing various environmental challenges. This initiative has not only minimized the adverse effects of disasters but has also fostered resilience and community well-being.

Through efficient coordination, response mechanisms have been streamlined, ensuring timely assistance to affected areas.

This has been particularly crucial in addressing the aftermath of floods, droughts, and other natural calamities that frequently impact communities in Kogi State.

These coordinated efforts involve synergy between local authorities, NGOs, and governmental agencies, creating a network that enhances the speed and effectiveness of disaster response.

Communities in Kogi State now experience improved preparedness and awareness, thanks to ongoing education programs.

These programs empower residents to better understand and respond to potential natural disasters, further reducing the overall impact on their lives and livelihoods.

Additionally, the coordinated approach has facilitated resource mobilization, enabling the provision of essential relief materials, medical aid, and temporary shelters. This has significantly eased the burden on affected communities, fostering a sense of security and support during challenging times.

conclusively, the impact of coordinated natural disaster management in Kogi State is evident in the enhanced resilience and well-being of communities. By fostering collaboration and preparedness, this approach has become a beacon of hope, mitigating the adverse effects of disasters and contributing to the overall sustainability of the region.

Thanks to the commitment of His Excellency. Governor Yahaya Bello.

Achievements under Kogi Community and Social Development Agency (KGCSDA)

he Kogi State Community and Social Development Agency (KGCSDA) has been an effective agency in driving the transformation of rural and remote communities across Kogi State in line with the vision of Governor Yahaya Bello to connect with the grassroots.

Over the last 8-years, Governor Yahaya Bello has consistently empowered and supported the Kogi State CSDA to effectively deliver on its mandate to empower rural and remote communities with essential requirements for a decent livelihood in those remote communities such. To this end, the Kogi CSDA has recorded notable interventions in remote communities particularly in area of health, education, water and sanitation, rural access roads, and socio-economic services. The Kogi State Community and Social Development Agency (CSDA) implemented the World Bank supported Community and Social Development Project (CSDP) from 2009 to 2021 and the Nigerian Covid-19 Action Recovery and Stimulus Preprogramme (NG-CARES), which is currently running.

The objective of CSDP is to improve access to services for human development by empowering communities, gender and vulnerable groups to plan, part-finance, implement, monitor and maintain sustainable and Socially-Inclusive Multi-sectoral micro-Projects through Community-Driven Development (CDD) approach in design, implementation, supervision, monitoring and evaluation.

The achievements of Kogi State Community and Social Development Agency under the purposeful leadership of Governor Yahaya Bello in various areas of project interventions resulted to the completion of about five hundred (500) micro-projects across the sectors of intervention spread through the twenty-one (21) Local Governments Areas of the State as detailed below

INAUGURAL ADDRESS BY HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR YAHAYA BELLO DURING HIS SWEAR-ING-IN CEREMONY FOR A 2ND TERM IN OFFICE AS THE 4TH EXECUTIVE GOVERNOR OF KOGI STATE ON THE 27TH DAY OF JANUARY, 2020

Protocols

- 1. I welcome everyone to this Inauguration Ceremony. It is indeed a red-letter day for us as we receive another chance to take our New Direction Governance Principles to the Next Level and to Do More for our people and society over the next four years. I am truly glad that you could be with us today.
- 2. This is first of all a day for gratitude. In
- the first term journey which we have just concluded, God and Good were firmly on our side. We have lost count of how many times Divine Providence saw us through perilous seasons and situations. I cannot thank God Almighty enough for his immeasurable help.
- 3. I appreciate His Excellency, President Muhammadu Buhari, GCFR for providing us an example of courage in - leadership and the ability to keep your eyes on the ultimate prize, even when your good intentions are misunderstood or mischaracterized by design.

- 4. I appreciate His Excellency, Vice President Yemi Osinbajo for showing us how effortlessly the fear of God, character, competence, faithful stewardship and loyalty can be a complete package in high Office, even in the face of unfair criticism and personal attacks.
- 5. I appreciate most profoundly Hajia Dr. Aisha Muhammadu Buhari - 1st Ladv of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, Her Excellency, Mrs. Dolapo Osinbajo - wife of the Vice President, Hajia Ramatu Tijjani Aliyu, Ph.D. - Minister of State for the Federal Capital Territory and a Kogi woman of substance, each and every one of the wives of Governors and all the other eminent Nigerian women who supported us, especially those in Your Excellencies' powerful entourage to the grand finale of our reelection campaigns last November. Your Excellency, you are indeed the mother of the nation and a fearless advocate of good governance.
- 6. I thank my colleague Governors, both those still in service and those who have completed their tour of duty as the No. 1 citizens of their respective states, honorable ministers of the Federal Republic, other top government functionaries, captains of industry, corporate bodies and well-meaning Nigerians too many to enumerate who stood with us through thick and thin and provided immense support and encouragement.
- 7. I thank our great Party, the All-Progressives Congress (APC), His Excellency, Comrade Adams Oshiomhole our National Chairman, Hajia Salamatu Baiwa our National Woman Leader, Alhaji Abdullahi Bello the APC Kogi State Chairman, the entire national and state membership and leadership of Africa's most empathic Governing

- Party, the APC, for providing us the platform and the political prowess which helped us to emerge victorious for a second time.
- 8. I thank my Team in the New Direction Administration, most especially, His Excellency, Chief Edward Onoja, my Siamese twin and the Deputy Governor of Kogi State, for the hard work and loyal followership which enabled me to pilot this ship with a minimum of distractions. Edward Onoja is a Godly politician, an astute visionary and a talented strategist who has proved his worth to me, to Kogi State and to our party again and again first as my Chief of Staff and now as my Deputy.
- 9. I salute our 3 Distinguished Senators, Chief Smart Adeyemi, Alhaji Jibrin Isah Echocho and Alhaji Yakubu Oseni, along with our 6 Honorable members of the House of Representatives and the 25 Honorable Members of the Kogi State House of Assembly, all of the APC, led by The Right Honorable Speaker, Prince Matthew Kolawole. These efficient lawmakers have proved that legislating is a job for independent-minded team players. Without your support, today may not have been possible.
- 10. My special thanks to His Lordship, Honorable Justice Nasir Ajanah and the Kogi State Judiciary for their roles in the task of governing Kogi State. No doubt, the principle of separation of powers has benefited tremendously from our experiences in the last 4 years.
- 11. I pay heartfelt homage to the Kogi State Council of Traditional Rulers led by His Royal Highness, Dr. Michael Idakwo, Ameh Oboni II, the Attah of Igala and His Royal Majesty, Alhaji Dr. Abdulrahman Ado Ibrahim, the Ohinoyi of Ebiraland as President and Vice President respectively. His Royal Majesty, Oba Solomon Oladele Owoniyi, Otitoleke Oweyomade I, the 44th Obaro of Kabba, His Royal Majesty Alhaji Abdulrazaq Gambo Isa-Koto,

- The Ohimege-Igu of Koton-Karfe and His Royal Highness, Chief William Keke, the Aguma of Bassa have all played invaluable roles in complementing governance in their domains.
- 12. Generally speaking, my administration is blessed with very enlightened Royal Fathers who are lovers of peace and advocates of social change. They have worked assiduously to advance our efforts in conflict resolution and inter-community cooperation. They are always willing to assist Engr. Abubakar Ohere and my team at the Ministry for Local Government and Chieftaincy Affairs on all matters of state requiring their attention, even at the risk of being misunderstood. When called upon, they have intervened for Kogi State as special envoys, including with Mr. President. I am immensely grateful.
- Organized Labour in Kogi, the various unions and organizations including the student bodies whose firm support translated into crucial and substantial electoral votes. Of special importance are the faith-based duo of the Muslim Council of Ulamas in Kogi State and the Christians groups led by the Christian Association of Nigeria. They proved to be upright partners who helped to keep us accountable to the people.

14. I celebrate my family:

- a. My wives Hajia Barr. Amina Oyiza Bello, Hajia Rashidat Bello, the First Lady of Kogi State and Hajia Hafiza Onyinoyi Bello.
- b. My children Miss Hauwa Bello, Master Hayatullah Bello (our super able son) and the rest of our lovely children.
- c. My dear mother and matriarch of our family, Hajia Hauwau Oziohu

- Bello and my esteemed siblings.
- d. And in memoriam, I recall with fondness my father Alhaji Ochi Ipemida Bello who died while I was still a toddler and my sister, Hajia Rabiat Bello who passed away in late December 2019. May your precious souls continue to rest in peace.
- e. We are a closely-knit family unit which spends a lot of time together so I am really grateful for the incredible patience and sacrifice of my loved ones since I embarked on this tough journey about 4 years ago, especially as it has now extended into another 4 years.
- 15. I also recall the contributions of a great and unforgettable man to the emerging realities of today's Kogi State. Prince Dr. Abubakar Audu laid the foundations of robust governance as the 1st Executive Governor of Kogi State. He also built the APC into a formidable political force in the state, and personally led it to dislodge the former ruling party. Unfortunately, he died before he could see his beloved party at the helms of affairs in Kogi State. We salute this extraordinary visionary today, and pray the Almighty God to grant him eternal rest.
- 16. I have reserved my greatest thanks, my deepest appreciation and my heartiest celebration today for the good people of Kogi State - my employers and my only Reason for getting into politics. Kogites are the best people any Governor could ask for. They will set high standards for you, they will knock you into shape, they will keep you on your toes and no matter what you do, only your best will ever be good enough for them at any time. However, if you serve them well, they will prove to the world that you are their own, and when you need them, they will stand solidly with you - an army that no one can defeat. I will never get over - the massive support they gave me for my reelection!

- 17. In fact, let me use this opportunity to specially appreciate the awesome people of Kogi State for the unbelievable support they gave us in all the elections which were held during our first term, and in particular, the 2019 General Elections and the November 16 Kogi State Governorship Polls. This wonderful people handed the All-Progressives Congress (APC) decisive wins across board in all the elections.
- 18. Kogi State reelected Mr. President and the Vice President with very sound margins before giving us a clean sweep of the various legislative seats by voting APC candidates into 2 out of 3 Senate seats, 7 out of 9 House of Representatives seats and all 25 Kogi State House of Assembly seats. In a subsequent rerun poll after the Tribunal rightly nullified the Kogi West Senatorial election earlier carted away by the main opposition party, the APC also won the third and final seat.
- 19. I will never forget the historic vote Kogites gave me for my own reelection on November 16, 2019. I ended up beating my nearest challenger in the 2019 Kogi State Gubernatorial Elections with over 215,000 votes! My victory was not only historic, but it marks a drastic paradigm shift in how we play our politics in Kogi State and will henceforth obligate politicians and their parties to court every constituency if they wish to govern Kogi State. I am indeed grateful that Kogi people counted me worthy to be the protagonist of these new realities. Thank you, thank you, and thank you!
- 20. The story of our stewardship in the term just ended is the classic tale of choosing a new direction and confronting whatever challenges it brings with courage, no matter how overwhelming they might become.
- 21. When we took Office for our first term on the 27th day of January, 2016, we quickly discovered that if Kogi State

- must survive the twin troubles of recession and insecurity which were ravaging Nigeria at the time, we must do a whole lot of things differently. We knew that the Youthfulness and Patriotism which we brought to Government would be overcome by the status quo if we failed to quickly upset the old ways which accorded unholy privileges to a favored few at the expense of the rest of the populace.
- 22. Thus, it was clear to us from the beginning that conformity would mean more of the retrogressive ways and corrupt practices which had caused our state so much trouble. Since this was not an option to us, we moved on to chart a different but more difficult path, and one which put us on a collision course with strong vested interests.
- 23. We identified godfatherism, tribalism, class consciousness and religious divides as the four legs of the table of corruption in this state and the ready tools of oppression and misgovernance. They had distorted social equity and equality among Kogites so over the four years of our first term we confronted these four evils wherever we found them. Today, we have cut them off and they no longer determine the rules of engagement between the government and the people in Kogi State.
- 24. More importantly, by vigorously enlightening the populace to the real costs of these divisive and discriminatory practices, even to those who may appear to be benefiting from them, we were able to empower the people to resist such. Our people are now less inclined to mortgage their welfare to gain some fleeting patronage. In fact, we are now seeing more and more individuals, families and even whole communities across Kogi State rising up and freeing themselves from social, economic and political subservience to a few individuals and their entrenched interests.
- 25. I make bold to say therefore that

- uniting the rich human and natural diversities of Kogi State into a progressive and cohesive force for good is the main achievement of our first term and will remain a priority of this 2nd Term. We shall not relent in weaving equity and equality into the fabric of our society and strengthening the bases for our coexistence.
- 26. Truth be told, no single Governor can completely rebuild a society in the time available to one administration, but we can and we are making plans for the long term. As Martin Luther King Jr said, 'we must live together as brothers or perish together as fools'. This makes the battle for a united and egalitarian Kogi society one which we must not only win, but sustain, and at the appropriate time, pass on to posterity. I also take the liberty to commend this quote by the great Civil Rights activist to our nation as well. We must understand that what hurts one of us in Nigeria hurts all of us, and with that understanding we must begin to pool our energies for mutual protection and profit. Truly, if we do not urgently make greater effort to live together as brothers and compatriots, we will continue to perish together as fools.
- 27. One small but significant achievement of our first term, and one that I am particularly elated over because of its uniting force, is the building of a beautiful Chapel inside the Kogi State Government House premises for the first time in 28 years. It is not so much the cost of the building, but the balance which we were finally able to bring in the seat of power between the two major religions in our state after such a long time which excites me. It may be a token, but it is a significant token.
- 28. 28. Of course, the rent-seekers who were beneficiaries of the old ways as well as their protégés came at us with Vengeance, like a Tsunami. They twisted and turned our every word and - action into all sorts of negative shapes before the world, especially through their captive media, and for a while the news only reported bad things about us, nearly all of which were false.

- 29. However, a key attribute of the Truth is that it cannot be hidden forever. Today, with the help of God and the support of our people, we have not only reduced the footprint of sectionalism in our body politic but we have - also tamed the capacity of their beneficiaries to redeploy and benefit from them.
- 30. We are not ashamed to admit that we lost the propaganda war during our first term, but neither are we shy to say that we won the battle for Truth, which is more important. Today, we are defined, not by the lies which uncharitable people have told about us to the nation, but by the many infal-

- lible proofs of great governance which we were able to produce and deliver to our people across the state.
- 31. I will be guilty of a huge error if I do not at this juncture say a big 'thank you!' to those brave souls in the media, both conventional and social media who insisted on reporting only what is true and fair about us. In the face of syndicated and unrelenting fake news about the New Direction Administration in Kogi State, these brave souls manged to find and report the truth, sometimes at the risk of offending editors or advertisers. Thank you for remaining true to your conscience and your journalistic ethics.
- 32. Indeed, as the revered Shehu Usmanu Dan Fodio once said, 'Conscience is an open wound, only truth can heal it.' There is plenty of proof today that during our 1st Term, in addition to achieving the enhanced cooperation and integration among our people which I have spoken about earlier, we also made critical developmental and governance milestones which are helping to reposition Kogi State to face the future head-on and unafraid. Above all, we set out to touch the lives of the people with the dividends of democracy and it is not immodest to say that we did a good job of it, by every objective standard.
- 33. We started off by developing a well drafted plan, the New Direction Blueprint, which acted as our roadmap for accelerated development of Kogi State in all her constituencies. It provided guidance and helped us to focus on 7 key thematic areas, to wit, Education, Health, Infrastructure, Job Creation, Civil Service Reforms, Agriculture and Security. Today, the results speak for themselves.
- 34. For the first time since Kogi State was created we have enjoyed equity in the spread of government appointments and projects. When it comes to appointments, everyone knows that Yahaya Bello only considers merit, fairness and justice in selection and placement of persons who work with him. When it comes to projects, we have tried to spread the love proportionately between our 3 Senatorial Districts.

- 35. Tribe, religion or class are no longer the determinants of who or where gets what. They play no role except as a measure of proportionality. We also
- made it a deliberate policy to observe affirmative action. For the first time in our history, the youth and the womenfolk occupied the largest number of high profile positions in government ever, and wielded real influence.
- 36. We inherited a Kogi State that was notorious for insecurity, especially as the kidnap capital of Nigeria. It was a hotbed of armed robbery, communal clashes, home invasions, political thuggery and other violent - crimes. The state recorded over 250 kidnappings in 2015 alone, but less than 6 months into my tenure, those numbers dropped drastically. In fact, for a 6-month period from July of 2016 to early January of 2018 we recorded no kidnaps at all. Till today, kidnapping has remained an opportunistic and isolated crime in Kogi State.
- 37. We invested in over 200 brand new vans and trucks and over 500 motorcycles and distributed them free

- among all the security agencies operating in the state. We also imported and supported them with modern communications gadgetry and provided finances and logistics. We built a Forward Operations Base for the Nigerian Army from scratch and established smaller outposts for other agencies across the state.
- 38. We forged synergy between the various agencies and formed a Joint Task Force of the Nigerian Police, the military and all other federal law enforcement agencies in the state. We flooded every nook and cranny of the state with mobile patrol teams. We set up the Kogi State Vigilante Services which currently has over 5000 active personnel, mainly retired security agents and agile youths and tasked them with community policing.
- 39. Consequently, we were rated the 2nd most peaceful state in the federation after Osun in 2018, and the most peaceful in northern Nigeria by the National Peace Index (NPI). Kogi State under my leadership was in the same 2018 rated the state with the second lowest crime statistics after Kebbi by the National Bureau of Statistics (NBS).
- 40. The great gains we made in securing the lives and properties of our people and those who traverse our territory demanded of us creative thinking and plenty of sacrifice, which we did not fail to provide. Kogi is thus more secure as we go into our 2nd Term than she has ever been at any time. This is a gain we intend to strengthen and sustain.
- 41. Moving on from security, we worked hard to improve our fiscal responsibility and sustainability capacities as a state. Our budgets for every year has always been passed before the end of the previous year since we came to office. We passed fiscal accountability laws to close the gaps we met in the stewardship of public finances. We upload our budgets and routinely publish our stewardship of public - finances both online and in newspapers to improve transparency.

- 42. The results have been great. Our Internally Generated Revenue has grown from about N350m monthly when we took Office in January 2016 to about N1.4bn per month now, mainly by the elimination of waste and corruption and by improving collection. Our IGR figures since 2016 are in themselves a metaphor for the steady development which we have achieved in most areas:
 - a. 2016 N9,569,123,755.23
 - b. 2017 N11,244,260,974.7
 - c. 2018 N11,334,113,743.5
 - d. 2019 N16,389,026,388.86.
- 43. Less than 2 years into my first tenure, Kogi State became one of only 4 states in the federation deemed success stories in the SDGs by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). We were invited to the 72nd UN General Assembly on this score. In addition, we consistently received high ratings in key performance areas from credible local and international agencies.
- 44. In 2019, the World Bank Group recognized us as the top performer in World Bank Portfolio. It bears repeating that since we took Office, we have been intentional about meeting Kogi State's counterpart funding obligations to the World Bank Group and other development partners. That is a lot of money, but the dividends have been much too. Our partnership with the World Bank Group is one I wish to deepen greatly in this second term.
- 45. Still in 2019 we ranked the 7th top performer among all the states and FCT in basic education funding according to the records of the Universal Basic Education Commission (UBEC). We have renovated, or constructed from scratch, over 375 classroom blocks in basic education (primary) schools across the state. Those of you on the - lookout might have seen some of these buildings in the schools you passed on your way here today. They are painted an iconic blue and white, and you cannot miss them.

- 46. Our secondary schools and Tertiary institutions also received extensive attention from my administration in our first term, mainly in provision of enhanced learning materials and development of physical infrastructure.
- 47. Our gory experience with sections of the media notwithstanding, we did not refrain from giving the media and communications industry their full dues as resources would permit. In keeping with our healthy respect for the media and practitioners therein, I will also be upgrading Information and Communication from a Bureau to a full-fledged ministry in this 2nd Term. This will not only accord the media her pride of place as the 4th Estate of the Realm but also strengthen her capacity to act as ombudsman between the Government and the people.
- 48. In this regard, the new ministry will be deploying the Kogi State Open Government and Accountability System (KOGAS) within 60 days of this Inauguration. KOGAS will be a real-time online accountability platform designed to mobilize the people in checking government and her functionaries, by nipping misconduct and excesses in the bud.
- 49. For the records, we also built a modern headquarters for The Graphic Newspaper, our state-owned print media outfit and repositioned her to a level of technical output which is I am told is currently best-in-kind amongst similar state entities in the country. We also procured a state-of-the-art Outside Broadcast (OB) Van for Confluence Radio and new digital transmitters for the Broadcasting Corporation of Kogi State thereby migrating her fully into the elite corps of digital broadcasters in the country.

- 50. We embarked on a meticulous staff screening and verification exercise which Organized Labor in the state has described as 'difficult but necessary' and credited with deepening efficiency in the civil service.
- 51. In 2019, the Nigerian Bureau of Statistics rated us one of the only 9 states which reduced unemployment at a time that the rest of the country slid further into it. This rating in particular silenced those who invested a lot into discrediting my civil service reforms.
- 52. Today, the claims of non-payment of salaries which dogged our footsteps during our staff screening and verification exercise have become history. I have been able to bring my salary payments up to date and since August last year I have had the incredible joy of fulfilling my dream cum promise to pay salaries before they become due. We now pay our workers even before the month ran out. Henceforth, it is our plan, all things being equal, to pay salaries and pensions between the 25th and 28th of every month.
- 53. I commend the patience and support of Organized Labour in Kogi State throughout the process of implementing our civil service reform schedules. They understood that we were only trying to sanitize our workforce and payroll and they acted as fierce, but fair, watchdogs over the process.
- 54. Infrastructure was a big need in Kogi State when we arrived Government House and it was a big deal for us. It is still a big need today, but we also got a lot done in our first term by tackling infrastructure as vigorously as time and funding would permit.
- 55. Across the state, we awarded 16 new intercity roads and designated 2 existing ones for complete overhaul. This enabled us to construct about 200km of new roads. 34 other roads were rehabilitated 100% in towns and - cities across the state which added another 150km. About 350km of motorable asphalt overlay added to our existing road network is not bad for a first term in office, especially one which started in a recession! Our second term will see several legacy infrastructure projects come on board.

- 56. We connected over 200 communities to the national electricity grid some of them for the first time while others were reconnected after really long periods of disconnection. In our second term, we intend to accelerate electrification of many other communities through on-grid and off-grid options. Our ongoing Project Light Up Kogi East which is personally overseen by the Deputy Governor under my supervision is an ambitious project that is on course to strengthen electricity facilities serving the Kogi East axis where we have the lowest electricity penetration in the state. When completed the project would have provided another 200-500 communities with electricity.
- 57. We provided over 300 boreholes and rural water schemes to villages and hamlets across the 3 Senatorial Districts and revamped existing waterworks in several urban centres for improved provision of portable water to the populace.
- 58. Agriculture has always been earmarked as the mainstay of government's efforts to engage the people profitably and we will continue to invest in it. Already we have thousands of Kogites gainfully engaged in the Agricultural value chain and it will be our policy thrust in the second term to enlarge the scope.
- 59. We constructed a brand new 50 tons per day Rice Mill at Ejiba in the Kogi West Senatorial District during our first term. It is supported with about 800 hectares of paddy under cultivation. We have enlarged the scope of support to farmers and agricultural - undertakings across the state. Government support has taken the form of free or subsidized agricultural services or inputs such as tractors and other farm equipment, fertilizers, improved seeds and seedlings, land preparation and extension services.

- 60. In the health sector, we have done rather well too. Kogi has the lowest infant mortality rates in Nigeria according to a November 2019 study by the National Population Commission (NPC) and the Federal Ministry of Health sponsored by the United States Agency for International Development (USAID). Along with saving hundreds of lives among our children under five years of age, we also achieved a corresponding drop in maternal mortality rates. This followed the launch of free health services to our pregnant women, nursing mothers and the newborns themselves.
- 61. Following the resolution of sundry contractual and legal impediments which occasioned some delay and distorted our earlier schedules, we have nearly completed the Confluence Advanced Medical and Diagnostic Centre, a full-fledged Ultramodern Diagnostic Center at the Specialist Hospital, Lokoja.
- 62. We beefed up the fight against deadly and infectious diseases by constructing a brand-new Biosafety Laboratory, reactivating the moribund Lassa fever treatment center and establishing a Public Health Operations Centre.
- 63. I set up the Kogi State Poor and Vulnerable Peoples Fund early in my administration and provided money for health and other interventions to the poor. Wealthy citizens were also encouraged to donate to the Fund and some of them were very generous indeed. We were able to sponsor 876 surgeries and over 50,000 other medical cases, some of which were treated abroad under the auspices of the Bello Health Intervention initiative.

- 64. In addition to large scale facelift of Health training institutions in the state through infrastructural developments, we also recruited thousands of personnel for the health sector. The Kogi State College of Nursing, Obangede was able to receive the full accreditation which had eluded her for many years.
- 65. We have 239 wards in Kogi State and we built, renovated or remodeled at least one Primary Healthcare Centre in each ward in the State. A few wards actually received more than one.
- 66. We set up the Kogi State Health Insurance Agency with an eye to the planned rollout of universal health-care services in our second term.
- 67. My Administration is happy to accept all the help she can get from every honest source. The various initiatives under the Federal Government's Social Investment Programme (SIP) have proven an invaluable social safety net which we have exploited for the benefit of tens of thousands of Kogites. As at today, we have the following SIP statistics:
- a. N-Power: 12,964 beneficiaries earning N30,000 each per month, which adds about N388,920,000 to our economy monthly.
- b. Conditional Cash Transfer (CCT): 62,160 poor and vulnerable people receiving N5000 monthly grant which injects N621,600,000 into the Kogi State economy monthly.
- c. Government Enterprise and Empowerment Programme (GEEP): 4,192 beneficiaries of interest free loans for market women which has added N209,600,000 to the economy of Kogi State.
- d. Home Grown School Feeding Programme (HGSFP) is still operating at pilot stage, but currently feeds about 100,000 pupils in 620 public primary schools whole employing

- 1,067 caterers and putting in over N100,000,000 into Kogi's economy per month.
- e. Currently, the SIPs as a whole pump in about N1.1billion into the Kogi State economy monthly.
- f. We have received commendations from the Presidency through the Honorable Minister of Humanitarian Affairs, Disaster Management and Social Development for outstanding performance in partnering with the Federal Government on the SIPs.
- g. We shall not relent in our efforts and during our second term we intend to scale up on all the components of the SIP by at least 100%.
- 68. We ran for a 2nd term with the slogan, 'Let's Do More', and made a strong case for reelection by showcasing our 1st term achievements while undertaking to improve on them. Kogi voters have reelected us with the most historic margin in a gubernatorial election ever seen in this state and it is now incumbent on us to keep our electoral promises and we shall do just that.
- 69. Our Let's Do More mantra stands on 3 Operative Principles, i.e., Partnerships, Progress and Prosperity. The 3Ps (as we call them) will underpin all our engagements in this new term of Office. Everything we do will explore partnership, be progressive and produce as much prosperity as possible for Kogi State.
- a. Partnership: Our Next Level in Kogi State will rely on synergy at every stage, primarily the one between the People and the Government but also with a wide array of domestic and international investors, service providers and development partners spread across the public and private sectors.
- b. Progress: The partnerships which will define our 2nd Term must be inherently progressive. Their trajectory must be a progression from where we are to where we plan to go, and rely predom- inantly on homegrown solutions for meeting our unique challenges as a people and state.

- c. Prosperity. Our second term must improve the lot of every Kogites who is willing to put in an honest day's labor. Our aim is to grow an inclusive economy which has room for every willing participant, irrespective of his or her ethnic extraction, physical location and preferred occupation.
- 70. 70. Our overall mission in this second term is to develop Kogi State into Nigeria's foremost and most secure emerging commercial hub through optimization of the state's geographical location, natural endowments and human resources for a sustainable future.
- 71. We shall embark on large scale urban renewal projects to further transform Lokoja into a resilient capital city with modern utilities attractive to residents and tourists alike. Even though upgrading the sights and sounds of Lokoja will be paramount, this beautification project will extend to at least one major town in each Senatorial District.
- 72. We will sustain focus on Agriculture for improved food security, mass employment and increase in Internally Generated Revenue. We will take the Agricultural Revolution which we started in the first term to the Next Level.
- 73. Specifically, Rice, Cassava, Cashew, Aquaculture and Livestock will remain the bedrock of our activities in the agricultural sector as follows:
- a. In addition to the state-owned rice mill at Ejiba which I mentioned earlier, we will work to see more Rice Mills built by private capital in the state, increase land under cultivation with rice and facilitate off-taker agreements for local growers. We want to make Confluence Rice the dominant brand, at least in the home market.
- b. Nigeria is the largest cassava grower in the world and Kogi State is Nigeria's - largest grower. We will add 500,000 new cassava farmers from our populace into our initiatives around this amazing crop during this second term.

- c. We also plan to build the nation's largest ethanol plant in Kogi State for the production of ethanol fuel from cassava. This will and further expand the use of green fuels in Nigeria given that Climate Change has become such a dramatic concern globally. We have secured a partnership with the NNPC Group, the Central Bank of Nigeria and a private investor to make this project a reality.
- d. Kogi State is a leading player in Nigeria's cashew nuts industry. We have largely eliminated the communal conflicts around this crop and will continue working with orchards and growers to improve the quantity and quality of our produce as well as the size of our market share in the multibillion-naira cashew industry.
- e. We have added thousands of new fish ponds and their proprietors to the numbers we met in 2016 and we shall be taking our aquaculture to the next level as well in this second term.
- f. Livestock farming has always been subsistence in Kogi State but over the last four years, we have grown the numbers of participants in this area too. Our second term strategy is to support more Kogites to find employment in poultry farming. We will also be establishing institutional cattle ranches to take advantage of the employment and income options in this neglected area.
- 74. Outside of Agriculture, we are also going to pay greater attention to human capital development by investing more in training our people for enhanced relevance in a technologically evolving future.
- 75. With Information and Communications Technology becoming such a big earner for individuals and societies,

- we will do our best to facilitate some youth with the relevant cognates and competencies to acquire further education in this area at leading institutions abroad.
- 76. I do not intend to outline everything we shall do in this second term in this brief speech. That will have to wait for our updated New Direction Blueprint which should be out within the next 90 days. However, it is important that we give us an idea of our governance thrust and that is what we have just done.
- 77. The more you bear the burden of leadership, the more you realize that people, and not things, events or places, matter the most. This places a demand on you to make your people and their welfare the heart of your leadership. But since things, events and places exert a profound influence on people, you also find yourself obligated to improve them for the benefit of your people.
- 78. Therefore, my definition of good governance is the ability to unite the people, things, events and places within our leadership space in a wholesome, symbiotic relationship.
- 79. When approached with the above mindset, governance ceases to be a popularity contest and becomes a lifesaving vocation requiring the leader's best efforts always. Our governance objective in Kogi State since January 27, 2016 when we first took Office is to do the right thing for the present generation and for posterity without fear or favor. This objective will remain unchanged throughout my second tenure.
- 80. My primary allegiance as Governor will remain to Kogi State and her citizens, not to party or tribe. Everyone is my citizen and I owe everyone the protections and fidelities inherent in the Office.
- 81. I therefore call on all and sundry,

- friends and perceived foes, to put aside all differences of politics, ideology or affiliation and join hands with us to give Kogi State the best of governance.
- 82. By the grace of God, the Oath of Office I have just taken is a pact to do right by all citizens as the 4th Executive Governor of Kogi State. In this second and concluding term of my constitutional tenures as Governor, it shall be the principal preoccupation of my administration to bring revitalized energy to bear in delivering refocused governance.
- 83. It is on this note that I enjoin all Kogites to look forward to the next four years with optimism and great expectations. We will do everything in our power as government to make sure they are productive, prosperous and peaceful.
- 84. So help me God.
- 85. I thank you all.
- 86. God bless the Federal Republic of Nigeria.
- 87. God bless Kogi State.
- 88. And God bless you all.

YAHAYA BELLO Governor of Kogi State 27 January, 2020.

We've made agriculture a corner stone of achievement. Through strategic initiative, agriculture has enhanced productivity and food security for sustaining the economic power of Women and Youth in Kogi State.

Governor Yahaya Bello: The 'He-For-She' Ambassador

BRIEF REMARKS BY HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR YAHAYA BELLO AT THE AWARD CEREMONY AS MOST GENDER-SENSITIVE GOVERNOR

omen are powerful, and I speak from experience when I say happy is the man who finds himself under the influence of good women at every season of his life. I have been fortunate to be one of such men and I take pride in describing myself as a product of the combined love, strength and sacrifice of many wonderful women.

From birth up till March 15, 2020 my irreplaceable mother, Hajiya Hauwa'u Oziohu Bello, dedicated her life to raising me and my siblings after her husband and our father, Alhaji Bello Ipemida Ochi died relatively early. I was her last and still a tiny child at the time of her great loss, yet her iron will and hands forged all of us into individuals who are successful and useful to society today.

Although mama is no longer physically with us on earth, her life, values and lessons will continue to guide me to the end of my days. May her lovely soul continue to rest in peace.

In like manner, the women of my family have been a compass for me. The matriarch of my home, Hajia Amina Bello, the first lady of Kogi State, Her Excellency, Hajiya Rashidat Bello and my other wives, all of them equally beloved, my dear daughters and my sisters are all in the forefront of shaping my private and public conduct.

The first lady of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, Her Excellency, Hajiya Aisha Buhari is one of my accountability figures as a Governor and a politician. I never want her to hear anything about me or the Administration I oversee which is inconsistent with good governance and humanity.

Then, of course, I am surrounded by women of impeccable character in my Cabinet, among my appointees, in the civil service and outside government whose expectations I can never disappoint. Women like Dr. Mrs. Folashade Arike Ayoade, the Margaret Thatcher of Kogi State and our 2-time Secretary to the Government, Deaconess Deborah Ogunmola the Head of Service, also a two-timer and others too numerous to mention. They do not have to speak for me to know that they will be hurt beyond words if we ever deviate from our Oath of Office to engage in anything inimical to the overall best interests of our people.

The point then is that the influence of good women is a strong asset to any man, especially to those like me who are in leadership and have a passion to do right by those they lead. Today, and by this honor, the National Council for Women Societies (NCWS) has further thrust upon me the great expectations and aspirations of Nigerian women, both at home and abroad.

When the NCWS, the apex and most credible umbrella of women societies in the country comes together to bestow upon me the unprecedented honor of 'THE MOST GENDER SENSITIVE GOVERNOR IN NIGERIA' and simultaneously decorates me as the HE-FOR-SHE GOODWILL AMBASSADOR FOR NIGERIAN WOMEN, I am humbled, challenged and encouraged at the same time.

Necessity is now firmly laid on me to walk worthy of the distinctive ideals for which the NCWS is known. How can I do anything henceforth but what will make these my mothers, my sisters and my daughters proud of me? I am duty bound to respect them, to protect them and to fight for the advancement of their interests.

True, nothing is by chance. Everyone knows that long before these honors came my way tonight, I have been deliberate in empowering women with sensitive and strategic positioning within the governance structure of Kogi State. Let me state it clearly too that one major reason I have surrounded myself with women of substance in and out of government is because the women themselves have a tendency to perform when given the opportunity. Broadly speaking, they have never let me down.

Kogi State is microcosmic of Nigeria and we have all the diversities of tongue and faith along with all the age-old African problems associated with patriarchy and paternalism facing every other part of the country. Yet, right from the moment I was sworn into office for my first term in 2016, I made a determination to be a unifier, a bridge-builder and an advocate of equity, including gender equity by way of elimination of gender-based violence and issues of maternal and newborn health, as well as defense of the rights of the girl child.

Apart from the 35% affirmative action threshold which we have always surpassed since we took Office, Goal Number 5 of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) have remained our guide in our dealings with the womenfolk. We are focused primarily on the 3 primary targets of that Goal.

First, we have largely ended all forms of discrimination against women and girls in Kogi State. Secondly, we are working to eliminate all forms of violence against all women and girls in the public and private spheres, including trafficking and sexual and other types of exploitation. Thirdly, we are doing our best to eliminate all harmful practices, such as early, child or any form of forced marriage, and such abhorrent cultural practices as female genital and facial mutilation.

Some people suggest that all we need to do is to create a level playing field and the women can compete as well as the men. It is not as simple as that. No matter how much you rebuke it, the cock, by his natural advantages, will always have more access to food and other opportunities than the rest of the poultry in the yard. Anyone interested in true equity in the yard therefore, must occasionally cage the cock so the hens and the chicks can enjoy some liberty and personal progress.

It took us political will and dexterity to shield the women in Kogi State and ensure they reach where they are today. I believe the fastest way to achieve the Goals and Targets of the SDGs relative to females is to empower as many women as possible thereby enabling them to stand up for themselves and other women and girls. And if we have to restrict some of the men from certain areas to do so, no problems.

On December 12, 2020, I led my party to the elections with a mandate to ensure that all the Vice Chairmen and Council Leaders in all the 21 Local Government Areas of Kogi State are women. Simply put, we made those positions off limits to men in the APC, Kogi State. We achieved that objective. Those 42 women join a minimum of three other women who we also presented and supported to emerge Councilors in each of the 21 Local Government Areas. This means that at the grassroots level we have at least 105 women in elective and effective offices in the state.

At the State Level, the Secretary to the Kogi State Government of the State and the Head of Service are women. I am the only Governor with a female Aide de Camp (ADC) in Nigeria today. Until not too long ago I was also the only Governor with a female Chief Press Secretary in the country. Some even say across Africa and around the world.

Beside those I have enumerated above, there are, at the state level, more than 70 other women in positions of high authority ranging from commissioner, several Directors General, Managing Directors, Chairpersons of Board, Commissions and Agencies. Some are Commissioner, Special Advisers, Senior Special Assistants, Personal Assistants, and Special Assistants, etc.

You can boldly take the message to the rest of the world that the New Direction Administration of Governor Yahaya Bello in Kogi State has far exceeded the 35% affirmative action for women. By the way, Kogi State was one of only 4 states invited to the 72nd UN General Assembly in 2017 as identified success stories in the SDGs, so we know what we are talking about. Kogi State is a recognized, and will continue to be a recognized, pacesetter in gender inclusiveness.

Let me also use this opportunity to mobilize and sensitize our women across the country that membership of a political party, the APC, is what gave us the opportunity to do all that we have enumerated. On the 25th of January, 2021, under the auspices of His Excellency, President Muhammadu Buhari, the APC is reopening membership registration and validation and I urge our Women to go out in masse and register themselves and their family members. Participating strongly in politics will provide more power and opportunities to any group. I assure you that I will remain your advocate, to always speak for you and ensure you get your due, both in the party and in this country.

I thank you all for this recognition and today's award presentation and decoration ceremony. I solemnly undertake to do even more to advance the cause of our womenfolk - in my present capacity as the Governor of Kogi State and in any future capacity in which it may please the Almighty God to empower me to serve.

No women!

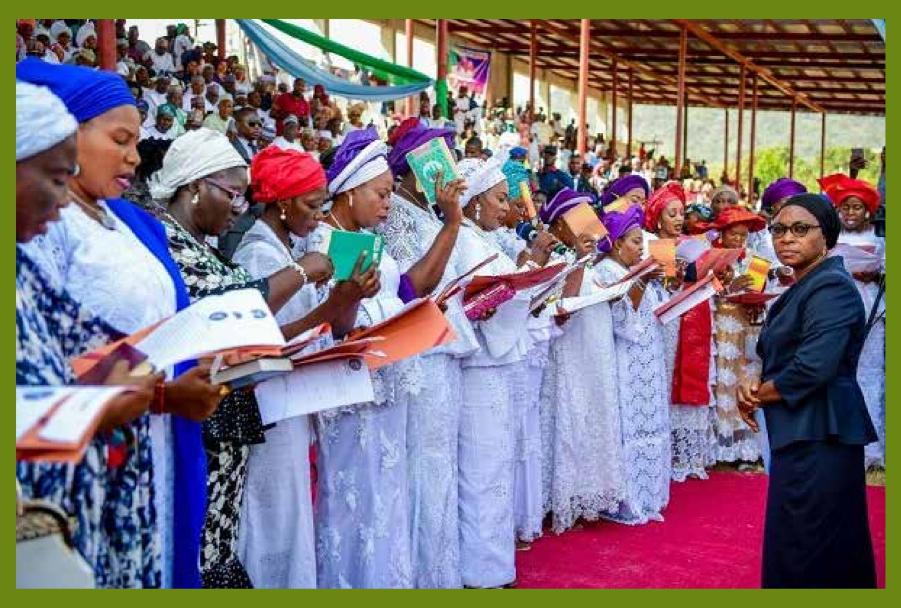

No Nation!

No women!

No Nation!

Thank you and God bless.

GYB: An Advocate of Peace and Unity

ADDRESS BY HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR YAHAYA BELLO OF KOGI STATE AT THE COMMISSIONING CEREMONY AND DEDICATION OF THE CHAPEL OF PEACE AND UNITY, GOVERNMENT HOUSE, LOKOJA ON MONDAY, 8TH MARCH, 2021

welcome all of you to this event with overwhelming joy and a deep sense of satisfaction. It goes without saying that it is only with God's help that we found the desire, courage and resources to build the Chapel of Peace and Unity, Kogi State Government House, Lokoja. We are eternally grateful to the Almighty God for both willing and doing His good pleasure through us in this project.

When we did the groundbreaking ceremony on 22 July, 2019, we promised to finish the work in December of that year. We completed it on schedule and put it to use that same year. Today, we are here to officially commission and dedicate it. We cannot thank God enough.

I do not pretend to fully understand all the dynamics behind the failure of previous Administrations before mine to also adorn Government House with a befitting place of worship for Christians for over 25 years given the plural nature of our society. I only know that it was wrong, but I guess each leader must look to his own persuasions for his own justifications.

For me however, coming into the great responsibility of this Office in January 2016, it was clear that a situation where the people's house provided accommodation for the devotional needs of only one-half of the people in a diverse populace was a disservice to the amazing successes which our society has recorded in the area of religious tolerance long before Nigeria moved from a colonial construct to become an independent nation.

It is a well-known fact that with the advent of Islam and Christianity our ancestors across what is the territory we call Kogi State now were able to build huge multire-ligious families. The average adult Kogite of today grew up in homes surrounded by relatives, born of the same parents in some cases, who were either Muslim, Christian or even traditional animist by choice. Yet, everyone still lived in functional peace and harmony.

Surprisingly, and for reasons which anthropology is yet to fully unravel, we, the allegedly modern and enlightened descendants of these great ancestors chose to politicize and weaponize religion. That is my conclusion after giving a great deal of thought to the matter, for beyond selfish personal interests, I cannot fathom why anyone would otherwise accentuate reli-

I have always known that such parochial thinking is dangerous in the extreme and totally antithetical to progress in any generation, especially ours. Thus, when I took office, I counted the absence of a deliberately constructed place of Christian worship in Government House to complement the decades old mosque to be a grave error which an administration led by me could not condone. By the grace of God, we have now remedied that injustice.

What this means is that the significance of this Chapel will always surpass its size. To me, and I hope to everyone else, inasmuch as it is but a small building comparatively speaking, it should also communicate a big and compelling message. If you ask me what that message should entail, I will list several things - as a testimony for us gathered here today, but more importantly, as a testament for those coming behind us in this state.

One, this Chapel declares that our constitutional guarantees of equality as citizens are binding on leaders irrespective of their personal beliefs, feelings and inclinations.

Two, this building speaks of equity, unity and the fear of God as the principal bedrocks of a diverse but egalitarian society.

Three, it proclaims that inclusivity and equal access to government and her institutions are the inalienable right of all citizens.

Four, it says that Affirmative Action is for every section of the populace and that governance is useless unless it ensures that wherever people are disadvantaged or excluded in our society, leadership makes it a point of duty to take action to balance the scales.

There are many other reasons, but the four above will have to suffice for now. On our part, we are deploying these sterling principles in other areas beyond religion. As you may have heard, in the last Kogi State local government elections which we held on 12th December 2020, I led my party the All-Progressives Congress (APC) to deliberately expand the leadership space for our womenfolk. No matter what some say, you have to sometimes restrain the men for the women to make some headway.

Since my first term I have always surpassed the 35% Affirmative Action on gender inclusiveness demanded by Goal 5 of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), but in those elections we took it several notches higher. The APC as a party reserved all the Deputy Chairperson and Council Speakership positions and at least 3 councillorship slots out of 10 per LGA for the females.

Interested women were assisted to buy forms, to campaign and to contest alongside their co-flagbearers in our party. Today, all our 21 local government areas have women as Deputy Chairpersons, women as Council Speakers and not less than 3 female councilors each. That is 105 women empowered into positions of strategic leadership at the very grassroots of our society, all by our deliberate governance decisions.

That is Affirmative Action in the real sense of it and I am indeed proud of what the APC in Kogi State has accomplished in this regard.

I am sure that by now any person of good-will who has followed my leadership in the last 5 years must have come to the inescapable conclusion that I practice what I preach. I do not discriminate on any basis and beyond the common-sense requirement that functionaries possess cognate merits for the position they are recruited for, I have achieved a diversity and spread in government that is unparalleled in any other state today. This is a governance model that I have internalized and will always replicate in my present position, and in any future ones the Almighty God will be pleased to lead me into.

I thank the Christian Association of Nigeria in Kogi State and at the national level for standing solidly with us in the actualization of this singular project. It is my prayer that God will bless CAN and her affiliates and continue to increase her capacity to positively influence good governance, peace and righteousness in Nigeria.

I particularly wish to single out the President of the Christian Association of Nigeria (CAN), Rev. Samson Ayokunle for special commendation. He was here to lay the foundation stone of this Chapel and he is here again today to conduct the dedication. Rev. Supo Ayokunle has been a veritable source of encouragement. He understands, as I do, that the very soul of our nation is at stake wherever inequity or inequality of any kind is allowed to exist unchecked. Indeed, deep calls unto deep and I hope that after today, the good Reverend will always feel free to volunteer counsel that will help our leadership efforts. Thank you, sir, and may God honor your service.

I appreciate the Deputy Governor of Kogi State, His Excellency, Edward David Onoja who bore a sacrificial burden to see this work completed on time. He gave his all. May the God Whose House it is bestow special favors on him for his Labor of Love.

The builders have done a great job in giving us a compact but beautiful house. To the architects, engineers and workers whose physical and mental labor went into the building of this House, thank you and God bless you.

My wonderful and good-hearted officials in government, both Christians and Muslims, as well as Kogites of all persuasions supported this project with a passion that was beautiful to behold. May God bless every one of them too.

Last year, our people asked me to man the helm of affairs in the state for another 4 years commencing January 27, 2020. I want to do all that the God of heaven commands for the people and the state so, I will again bring the best of my abilities to bear on the job as I did in my first term. I humbly solicit the prayers and support of the entire Christian community.

Last week we got the opportunity to wade in and resolve the increasingly deteriorating situation which led to the imposition of an embargo on haulage of food products to the south of the country from the north.

That embargo again clarified for us our need for and reliance on one another. Hardly had the blockade begun than the South began to experience food shortages and inflation while the North began to see food wastage of unimaginable proportions with attendant economic loss. Truly, if the eyes cry, the nostrils cry with them.

However, more insidious and more dangerous than the blockade was the growing resentment on both sides over the killing of northerners in some southern cities starting from the latter parts of the hijacked #EndSARS protests. Because the violence remained unaddressed the calls for retaliation and reprisals in the North were becoming too alarming so when an opportunity was presented, we stepped in. With the cooperation of the traders, transporters and other ordinary Nigerians who were directly affected, we ended the blockade and defused the tension. To God be the Glory!

Lessons abound from this incident, but the one that stands tallest for me is one that I have known and practiced for long which is that we leaders must be proactive and address problems within the polity in a timely manner before they snowball out of hand. Grievances must never be allowed to fester into violence because of leadership inaction. May God guide us leaders aright always.

Once again, I welcome us to this beautiful edifice. May the Almighty God bless this Chapel and may He hear His People when they pray unto Him from within it and answer their prayers.

Thank you and God bless!

misconduct and vested interests but Governor Yahaya Bello is not one to balk at challenges. He quickly deployed a series of strategies to change the persistent and pervasive poor output by the workforce to better performance while eliminating wastage and punishing fraud. The Kogi State Government's bold steps on the Civil Service Reforms recalibrated the engines of a near moribund service and continues to drive a level of productivity that is unprecedented. The results have been evident in the social, economic, political and environmental sectors of the State.

It is a measure of the versatility brought to government-labour relations by Governor Yahaya Bello that organised Labour proved itself a worthy partner rather than an antagonist in the Kogi State Staff Screening and Verification Exercise.

It is no news that the State's civil service was be-devilled by decay and malpractices before the reforms, reducing performance and efficiency. By implication the bulk of the state's scarce finances was used to pay salaries to a bloated civil service which could not be justified by her dismal turnover rate in terms of productivity.

The adverse effect was little or no development in the State. Today, after Hurricane GYB, the Kogi State civil service, as the Government machinery for formulating policies and implementing services, performs much more efficiently than at any other time in the experience of Kogi State.

THE IMPACT OF CIVIL SERVICE REFORMS IN KOGI STATE.

- 1. The remodeling of the Kogi State Internal Revenue Service and the implementation of the Single Treasury Account (STA) has brought about improvement and increase in revenue drive and prudent use of funds in MDAs.
- 2. The restructuring of Ministries,
 Departments and Agencies through Screening, merger, upgrading and scrapping as the case may be has brought about reduced cost of running Government.

- 3. Sustainability of Reforms and the gains at any level requires synergy between Political Office Holders and the Bureaucrats. As such, political interference in the daily operations of the State Civil Service needs to be minimized, in order to restore confidence in the service. It is worthy of note that this Kogi State is showing a good example in this regard. This is reflected in the Super Political Action Committee (SUPERPAC) that was formed to establish a cordial work relationship between the Political Office Holder and Bureaucrats.
- 4. As part of the efforts of Governor Yahaya Bello to develop the capacity of its Civil Service for optimum productivity, a total of 5,363 Staff have been trained in different capacities across the Ministries, Departments and Agencies
- 5. About 6,000 youths have also been trained on different skills acquisition programmes and enabled to pursue private enterprise.

Kogi State Civil Service.

ogi State Civil Service is also the administrative structure and bureaucratic workforce responsible for implementing government policies and providing services in Kogi State. It includes various Ministries, departments and agencies that support the State's functions. The civil service plays a crucial role in governance, public administration and service delivery within Kogi State. It is subject to the regulations and policies set by the State Government, and civil servants are responsible for carry out various public duties and tasks to serve the citizens of Kogi State.

The greatness of any State or Nation depends largely on the qualities of its leaders. It is indeed the ability of the leaders that determine the direction and development of the State.

In January 2016, the State was blessed with a leadership endowed with the knowledge, focus, vision and commitment to the rapid transformation of the State.

This Government ably led by His Excellency, Alhaji Yahaya Bello, the Executive Governor of Kogi State evolved a blueprint aimed at developing the State through a strategy, code named New-Direction Agenda.

A cardinal part of this agenda was the Civil Service Reform. Apart from laying strong, viral and robust foundation through entrenching discipline and accountability within the service, this agenda prioritizes the welfare of the Civil Servants.

In line with the intention and purpose of this reform, the government designed policies that ensured the realization of the following milestone:

- 1. Civil Service was stream lined and sanitized for optimum and satisfactory service delivery in line with New-Direction Agenda. The after math of the Screening Exercise saw the drastic reduction of the State Staff Strength from 22,081 to 15,676 thus saving millions of naira for other Economic and physical Development of the State.
- 2. Implementation of N30,000 (Thirty Thousand Naira) Minimum Wage.
- 3. Cash backed all promotions up to 2018.
- 4. Approved up to date promotion. Indeed, this is on-going.

- 5. Monetization for Some Permanent Secretaries for vehicles to enhance their mobility and hence prompt service delivery.
- 6. Some Senior Civil Servants were sponsored for Senior Executive Courses / Programme to boost their performances, efficiency and above all productivity. (E.G NIPSS Course).
- 7. Resuscitation of vehicle refurbishing loan for Civil Servants.
- 8. Adopted the Federal Public Service Duty Tour Allowance (DTA)

- 9. Consistent and prompt payment of salary and pension
- 10. Elongated service years of teachers from 35 40 years and service age from 60 65 years respectively.
- 11. Partnering with a private estate developer (Ahmed Aso Investment Limited) to build 600 (Six Hundred) Housing Units for Kogi State Workers e.t.c.
- 12. Renovation of Secretariat Complex I including provision of Office furniture.
- 13. Installation of 33 KVA Transformer

- power line which stabilizes and boost power supply to the Secretariat Complexes. This has greatly enhanced performance of Civil Servants e.t.c.
- 14. Construction of fence round the Secretariat Complex I & II have commenced and it is expected to be completed soon. This would effectively bring to an end the rampant theft and other criminal activities in and around the Secretariat. It will equally keep of intrusion by cattle rearers.

Governor Bello's Impact on Local Government Administration

he Local Government system was first introduced in 1976 as part of reforms rooted in the ideology of grassroots representation with the aim of bringing government closer to the people in rural areas.

This implies that Local Government can therefore be seen as a worthy implementation design of decentralization policy to transform un-served and underserved areas into a viable and effective instrument of development and change at the grassroots level.

it is popularly acknowledged that poor administration of this third tier of government is responsible for the underdevelopment of Nigeria. Therefore, to ensure that the country is adequately governed, government needs to ensure that the local government system is properly structured to function effectively.

Governor Yahaya Bello understands the enormity of the challenges which calls for the re-engineering of the local government and traditional institutions. These institutions are critical in driving sustainable governance at the grassroots.

On assumption of office, the Governor decided to tackle the fundamental problem of autonomy which has impeded effectiveness at the local government level. He granted autonomy to the local government council and abolished the unconstitutional deductions from the allocation at the state level. This is to ensure that local government administrations in the state were allowed to exercise their constitutional responsibilities as against the normal practice of strangulation by the state government.

Governor Yahaya Bello has ensured inclusive governance under his New Direction Administration by appointing a large number of people from the 21 local government areas.

To ensure that every community gets adequate representation in government, the Governor appointed 239 youths as coordinators of the 'GYB Connect' from each ward in the state. 'Small Governor' as they were called, these coordinators serve as conduit between the grassroots and the state government, through a well-established seven-man local government administrative structure.

Furthermore, to ensure balanced representation and promote a great sense of belonging in all demography, Governor Yahaya Bello went ahead to constitute about 245 Elders Advisory Council members across the 21 Local Government Areas to ensure that all parts of the State are being carried along in the scheme of things and to bring government closer to the people. This implies that, while the government promotes youth renaissance, it also acknowledges the advisory role of elders.

Understanding the role of the traditional institution in ensuring an effective and efficient local government administration, Governor Yahaya Bello did not only promote unity and synergy amongst the traditional institution in the state, he also embarked on grading and upgrading of traditional stools, a practice delayed for decades. With the provision of necessary work tools and a policy of non-interference, the traditional institution in Kogi State has been strengthened and properly positioned to support the government in ensuring security and providing dividends of democracy to the grassroots.

In his drive to reduce unemployment at the local government level, Governor Yahaya Bello also empowered numerous people living in rural areas through the establishment of several agencies and implementation of programs like, The Forest Guards, vigilante groups, the forestry and produce agents among other empowerment programmes, these many admired features of his governance are being practiced with strict adherence to government principle of accountability, transparency, integrity and equity.

To ensure that no local government area is left behind in his development drive; The New Direction Government of Yahaya Bello embarked on massive rural infrastructures distributed across the 21 Local Government Areas of the state. Being a mono-economy with great agricultural and solid minerals potentials, Yahaya Bello recognized the importance of rural infrastructure to aid his economic diversification drive. His investment in road infrastructure to encourage free movement of goods and services, construction of agricultural produce processing facilities and the various power projects to encourage local economic activities; rural areas are now feeling the direct impact of government in all spheres.

Eight years after, the local government structure in Kogi State is made up of elected representatives of the people with sound understanding of governance issues. The synergy established by the Governor amongst the various structures across the local government areas is helping to drive unity and peace while establishing massive human and infrastructural development across board.

Covid-19 Management: The Yahaya Bello formula that saved Kogi State

How did the New Direction under Governor Yahaya Bello manage to achieve this?

- The 2020 third quarter report of the National Bureau of Statistics (NBS), stated that Kogi State had the highest inflow of investment to the tune of over 1 billion dollars.
- In the same year 2020, Kogi State topped the list of states with reduced domestic debts, as reported according to statistics gathered and published by a reliable online Data Tech Company, Statisense.com.ng
- The August 2020 edition of the Progressives Governors' Forum Performance rating for the All Progressives Congress (APC), also rated Kogi State 2nd with 22 strides. All these came in the same period when other states are crawling out of COVID-19 pandemic shock.

'he ravaging COVID-19 pandemic disrupted activities across the globe as it spread like wild fire from China to every other country. Unfortunately, nobody including the Super powers saw it coming. It mesmerized all the world leaders despite their advancement in technology and sophisticated healthcare system. The earlier stage of coronavirus outbreak before the World Health Organization (WHO) categorized it as a pandemic terrified the world and brought leaders to their knees Consequently, majority of leaders started adopting copy and paste strategy to tackle COVID•19 without thinking critical about peculiarities of their countries or states.

Although, precautionary measures such as wearing of face mask, minimizing social gathering, observing physical distancing frequent hand washing with soap/water and hand sanitizer are necessary to curtail spread of COVID-19, some restrictions introduced to flatten curve of the pandemic turn out to be counterproductive.

In Nigeria, some states and federal government agencies while adopting copy and paste strategy, devoted their energy as well as resources towards marketing COVID-19 rather than educating the populace about how to curtail spread of the virus.

HOWEVER, ONE GOVERNOR DARED TO BE DIFFERENT.

The young Governor Yahaya Bello of Kogi State adopted a unique approach that is suitable to his domain to manage the COVID-19 pandemic despite sponsored blackmail, name calling and cyber bully against his stance by the same people using the ravaging crisis threatening humanity for selfish reasons.

The Governor at different fora emphasized on the need for a critical understanding of the health emergency with the aim of de-escalating tension. He warned that the lack in innovation and localization of strategy for COVID-19 pandemic management would hurt us as a nation, bring hardship to the people and affect economic activities negatively. First and foremost, it is imperative to state clearly that Kogi

State is not new to Public Health Emergencies, even if the COVID-19 pandemic is unarguably the most challenging the world has witnessed in recent years. Kogi State has been in an annual fight against Lassa Fever as the State is located in the Lassa-fever-belt, recording several cases with regrettable loses.

The yearly incidences of Lassa Fever outbreak in the State prompted the Yahaya Bello administration to establish a Biosafety Laboratory for Lassa fever, the first in Nigeria, and in 2020 alone, the state confirmed 30 cases of Lassa Fever that was duly announced and attended to.

Consequently, after some COVID-19 cases were recorded in Nigeria, Kogi state swiftly moved into action by being the first to set up a COVID-19 Squadron headed by the Deputy Governor, Chief Edward Onoja. It went further to deploy its unique emergency response system to set up a befitting Containment Centers (Isolation Centre), acquired Personal Protective Equipment (PPEs), imposed a lockdown and restriction of movements and aggressively took the enlightenment campaign about coronavirus to the grassroots with the aim of preventing Community Spread. The popular Kogi COVID-19 Self-Assessment App soon became a model for other states and the Federal Government also keyed in by designing a tracking app modeled after that of Kogi State.

Kogi State was also the first in Nigeria to procure and use the Rapid Test kits (RTKs). This move was vehemently criticized by many. But Yahaya Bello, driven by a considerable understanding of the science of the coronavirus, and the practical application of logic understood before everyone else, including the experts that the RTKs was more efficient, considering that it was certified at the time to be 80% accurate.

Today, the same rejected Rapid Test Kits which the governor was criticized for, has become the cheap corner stone adopted by all.

All the efforts of Governor Yahaya Bello and the Kogi COVID• 19 Squadron has resulted to the No-Case status for the state. Yes! Kogi has no confirmed case of COVID-19 on its soil. Safe for those registered against her by NCDC, which are still being debated.

Armed with adequate knowledge of the science of the virus, and State, while applying organic strategies in combating the pandemic, did not jettison the National guidelines of physical distancing and isolation, especially on people from high risk states. It was the enforcement of this guidelines that made the government ask for 14 days' isolation of the officials of NCDC who came from Abuja (a high risk State), for an assignment in Kogi. A directive which the NCDC officials rejected.

Furthermore, Governor Yahaya Bello displayed foresight abinitio by advising

States and the Federal Government to think twice in adopting total lockdowns due to its multifaceted effect on the socio-economic wellbeing of the nation. He advised that the billions of Naira spent on the drive to acquire the COVID-19 vaccine be invested into modern health infrastructure, which he said would serve the need of now and the future. A position echoed by Bill Gates himself. Referencing the Pfizer trial Polio vaccine incident which claimed the lives in 1996, Bello also pointed out the dangers of using vaccine at its trial stage, adding that it was akin to being used as guinea Pigs.

His cries fell on deaf ears. It wasn't long before all his fears became the reality. In November 2020, Nigeria went into a deep economic recession, the second in four years. The vaccine that he warned against have been recorded to have severe adverse effects which has led to the death of many, forcing countries of the world to halt its usage.

Had the government listened to that lone voice of reason, the country wouldn't have found itself in such a mess. Despite all the efforts of the state to remain open for economic activities, it still suffered the shock received by the national economy. This is because Kogi State economy is not in isolation from others. Thanks to the foresight and innovation of Governor Yahaya Bello, Kogi State would have been the worst hit being a mono-economy still at early stages of diversification.

It is however pleasing to see that all the ideas suggested by Yahaya Bello are now being incorporated into the national and global COVID-19 management strategy. The world has now come to appreciate the governor for daring to standout by showing courage and ingenuity at a time when the world was in confusion.

Evidently, the unique strategy of the youthful, progressive minded and useful governor saved Kogi from unnecessary drama and gave the New Direction Administration opportunity of delivering dividends of democracy to Kogites. In spite of the ravaging pandemic, Kogi State continues to witness massive investment in Health infrastructure. The ongoing construction of the biggest referral hospital in Nigeria by Governor Yahaya Bello in Okene, and the two Specialists Hospital in Gegu and Ajaokuta respectively, are a testament to the government deliberate efforts at providing quality health care to the doorstep of the people.

The Kogi man seems intricately in control of his domain, like a rehearsed script, he dished out interventions in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. With His Deputy doing the yeoman job as the chairman of the Taskforce while the health commissioner coordinates on the ground with practical medical response.

Kogi is undoubtedly bracing up and is containing any eventuality. It's therefore pertinent for Nigerians to give Yahaya Bello accolades for his courage and foresight. He continues to represent the hope for sincere leadership and a better Nigeria.

Governor Yahaya Bello's Address to the NCDC Team

ellow Kogites and our visitorsfrom the Nigeria Centre for Disease Control (NCDC),

I give heartfelt gratitude to the Almighty God that we are alive and well in Kogi State in spite of the dire dangers we have had to live with practically from the beginning of this year.

It is no longer news that the CoviD-19 pandemic has been on a rampage through the nations of the world since the first case was reported in Wuhan, Hubei Province of China in November 2019.

We thank His Excellency, President Muhammadu Buhari, GCFR, His Excellency, Vice President Yemi Osinbajo, GCON, the Minister of Health, Dr. Osagie Ehanire, and Dr. Olorunimbe Mamora, the Minister of State for Health for their leadership to the nation at this trying time.

We also thank Dr. Sani Aliyu and the Presidential Task Force on COVID-19 as well as the Nigerian Centre for Disease Control (NCDC) led by Dr. Chikwe Ihekweazu whose direct duty it has been to honestly interpret and ensure compli-ance with the global and national advisories for containment of this pandemic.

Nigeria's index case was reported on 27th February, 2020. Based on information from NCDC, as of midnight yester-day being Wednesday the 6th of May, 2020 we understand that the country has had 3145 cases of Covid-19, of which 103 have died while 534 others recovered and were discharged from the various isolation facilities.

Though severely perplexed at the scale of sudden death and destruction unleashed by the novel coronavirus out-break on every continent, we have somehow been spared its presence in Kogi State up till this moment.

We have recorded no case of Covid-19 yet although we have had numerous suspected cases which turned out to be false and plenty of rumoured cases which were found to be nonexistent when our medical team followed up to in-vestigate.

All credit for our zero CoviD-19 status in Kogi State will go to the Almighty God Who has helped us by means and for reasons which He alone can explain. On our part as government, we have continued to make decisions and take ac-tions which we consider best to keep our people safe.

Even as we rejoice in our good fortune in not recording even a single case of this deadly disease so far, we are keenly aware of the plight of our brother states in the federation which have had to contend with the loss and suffering vis-ited upon them by Covid-19.

To be sure, the absence of cases does not mean that Kogi State has remained untouched by the scourge. We too have known the loss of loved ones from this plague in addition to the socio-economic costs which continue to mount by the day.

We have lost 3 valued gentlemen, all of them accomplished senior citizens who resided outside the state. Among them is Nigeria's first CoviD-19 fatality, Alhaji Suleiman Achimugu, a former Managing Director of the Petroleum Products Marketing Company (PPMC).

The deaths and losses which we have experienced have brought home to us the deadly intent and capability of the SARS-COV2 virus. This has in turn compelled us to treat it with extreme caution as a state. I will now give you an ac-count of our stewardship by running you through a list of actions and precautions which we have taken in our fight against CoviD-19.

BRIEF OVERVIEW OF COVID-19 RESPONSE STRATEGY IN KOGI STATE

The team from the NCDC will acknowledge that traditionally Kogi State has one of the highest incidences of Lassa Fever in the country during each outbreak and has therefore developed considerable experience and expertise in combating and defeating infectious disease outbreaks.

In fact, if the Director-General, NCDC were to be here today, he will recall inaugurating a Public Health Emergency Operations Centre (PHEOC) here in Kogi State on Thursday 29th November, 2018 to facilitate rapid response to emergency public health situations like the Covid-19 pandemic.

Due to our high Lassa Fever incidence every other year, we also equipped a fullfledged infectious diseases laboratory early in the first term of this administration to combat it. With the exception of similar facilities belonging to the fed-eral government, Kogi State is probably the only state in the country to possess a facility of that grade before the ad-vent of Covid-19.

You will probably also recall that in 2017 Kogi State and Kwara State alone of all the states in the federation had an outbreak of yellow fever which we successfully managed with collaboration from the Federal Ministry of Health and the NCDC.

Overall, it is instructive that in spite of our so-called locational disadvantages which make us to have some of the highest infectious diseases numbers each year, Lassa Fever especially, Kogi State has also had a 100% recovery rate since 2017.

Similarly, our Incidence Committee for infectious diseases comprising the full complement of experts and specialisations has been on ground years before this CoviD-19 pandemic. Thus Kogi State's epidemic management structures were already up and running by the time the NCDC was giving guidelines to states on how to set them up.

In summary, I am trying to assure us that our peculiar challenges as a frequent hotspot of unforeseen disease out-breaks has over the years imposed on us unusual heights of public health vigilance. This helped us to quickly put our best foot forward long before the Covid-19 was declared a pandemic.

You will notice that different from the practice in most places, we set up a Kogi State COVID-19 and Lassa Fever Squadron Committee to coordinate our response to the Covid-19 pandemic while ensuring we do not lose sight of existing epidemics like Lassa Fever which has already killed more people this year in Nigeria than the coronavirus.

We were the first state to officially release a web application which the general public can deploy to self-assess for CoviD-19 risk. That app has proved to be popular and effective in tackling fear among the populace in the face of an unknown killer disease.

We have had over 200,000 engagements with that app, over 14,000 completed self-assessments revealing scores of cases which required further investigation before CoviD-19 could be ruled out. This is great as we all know how fear and disinformation are often overlooked but highly dangerous co-travellers with disease outbreaks and other phe-nomena which disrupt the social order.

To improve our degree of certainty when ruling out cases, our Commissioner for Health, the State Epidemiologist and other senior medical personnel have had to personally follow up on as many of the feedback cases as possible, in both urban and remote locations. They have been able to determine in a professional manner based on the NCDC and WHO criteria that none of the suspected cases qualified as a CoviD-19 case.

Moreover, it has been over 3, 4, even 5 weeks in some instances since some of these cases were investigated and cleared and we have not had even one case of Covid-19. This goes to show that our processes are thorough enough. This is how the foundation for our zero CoviD-19 status was laid and how it is sustained till today.

Our people are adequately sensitised in all languages and locations throughout the state about CoviD-19. As much as practicable Kogites now observe social distancing, handwashing and other protocols for prevention of infection.

Sometimes, no matter how much you wish otherwise, it is not always practicable to obey these 'covid rules', for in-stance where large numbers of unrelated people have to live together in tiny spaces simply because there are no other options available to them.

Nevertheless, we continue to inform and remind the people to do their best and it is certain that they know what to do to protect themselves and their families and are making their best effort to do it. For instance, if a traveller arrives anywhere in Kogi State today, the probability that his or her presence will be noted and precautions taken by mem-bers of the community or family is high.

The Kogi State Ministry of Health has deployed health personnel to all the 239 Wards of the State, 2 focal persons per ward, who constantly sensitize the people on the dangers of the virus, communicate news or even rumours of suspected cases to the incident committee or taskforce for investigation and also assist in contact tracing.

We have set up 3 modern Isolation/ Containment Centres in the State having a combined capacity of 130 bed spaces. These facilities currently lie unused. It is our prayer and our determination that these isolation centres will remain vacant until the pandemic is over.

We have provided emergency and toll free numbers for the general public to call in and report suspected cases of Covid-19 at no cost whatsoever. We have also fielded many of such calls. All of them turned out to be false alarms upon investigation and did not meet the criteria from the NCDC for cases which should be sampled for testing.

In the circumstances, we cannot manufacture cases in order to be counted among the states which have recorded same. As a Governor I hear there are 'benefits' for having CoviD-19 cases in your state, well, I am not interested.

In addition to direct medical efforts, we have made sure that our people and their properties are adequately secured in their homes and when they venture out by an effective state security infrastructure which is on permanent high alert. Since this pandemic began, we have arrested at least 21 kidnappers, in addition to scores of other criminals who sought to attack our people.

We shut down schools and sent civil servants on Grade Levels 1-13 home on full pay even before the NCDC advised it. We have continued to pay them even without working for 2 months now, and will continue to do so as funds permit.

Places of worship and events which gather crowds were also banned in the beginning. We have partially reopened places of worship subject to the strict observance of social distancing and public health hygiene advisories. This is to prevent congregations from going underground and gathering in uncoordinated and dangerous manners which in-crease the risk of contagion.

We also banned several means of public transportation which tended to increase the level of exposure of the popu-lace. This included motorcycles and tricycles, but as the Covid-19 prevention practices became increasingly habitual we have allowed transporters, except for motorcycles, to operate subject to some spacing guidelines.

Kogi State is a confluence point for travellers from many parts of Nigeria and we do not consider it proper to barricade off federal highways which will cut off travel between all parts of the country, and disrupt the haulage of food, medical supplies, fuel and other essential commodities.

Instead we controlled entry points into the state and indeed we have had to turn back several vehicles transporting suspected high risk individuals and products as well as non-essentials into the state.

In all other instances we designated stopping points for commuters where temperature measurements and other prevention practices were enforced while controlling their interaction with the local populace.

Outside the physical sickness and deaths associated with CoviD-19, the worst effect of the pandemic has been de-struction of the economies of nations and territories and the attendant humanitarian disasters. Kogi State too was faced with this dilemma and has had to deal with it in our own way.

We made sure that the economic disconnect which drives people to risky behaviours at times like this are minimised for our people through a customised partial lockdown system which permits some level of business activities to go on while minimising the risk of contagion.

We determined early on not to shut down the Kogi State economy internally. Our people should not have to travel to Abuja or neighbouring States, all of them high risk, to scavenge for food because we locked down the state's econo-my and with it their sources of livelihood/income.

This was a calculated risk at the time it was taken, and we did receive some bad press for it, but thankfully, it has now paid off. The Federal government and other states have started to ease their own restrictions too and beginning to adopt our model of partial, but well curated, lockdown.

LESSONS LEARNT

Observance of NCDC advisories remains our best approach to eliminating non-COVID-19 cases and keeping Kogi safe to the end of this pandemic. Provided that extraneous requirements are not imposed on us in order to meet an alleged target number of cases, or universal coverage of the country, by the virus we shall continue to cooperate fully with the NCDC.

Out on the field, once the advised combination of symptoms including fever (high temperature above 38°C), dry cough and tiredness are not present, our medical teams remove the individual from the list of suspected cases.

Our medical team also check for other symptoms such as aches and pains, nasal congestion, runny nose, sore throat or diarrhoea and put them into consideration during evaluation before concluding whether a case is probable for CoviD-19 or not.

Travel and contact history of the individual also help to clarify the issues of their likely CoviD-19 status, and often, a man who has not left his village in the last 6 months and has not come in contact with somebody who has can be quickly cleared. His symptoms are likely due to malaria not CoviD-19 despite the similarities. Invariably, such people have recovered after a few days and gone on with their lives.

The bottom line is that so far we have succeeded in keeping healthy members of our populace safe and uninfected by Covid-19. While we understand the reality of asymptomatic carriers occurring among the populace, we argue that the best way to track them is not by indiscriminate testing of people who have not exhibited any of the tell-tale CoviD-19 symptoms. Anything else would be tantamount to making nonsense of the checklist given to us by the NCDC and her partners like the World Health Organization (WHO).

In all of this, we have continued to work in tandem with the overall objectives of the Federal Republic of Nigeria dur-ing this pandemic which is to minimise our exposure to the disease. We assure you that we shall never compromise on those objectives, irrespective of pressures to the contrary.

SUGGESTED AREAS OF FOCUS GOING FORWARD

We do not understand the demand for cases by the NCDC and pressure on COVID-19 free states like Kogi to comply at all costs. This raises questions on whether we are still focused on defeating the pandemic or chasing other priori-ties now. This is a question I hope the NCDC team here with us today can answer conclusively.

It also appears as if the NCDC criteria for CoviD-19 is changing in the country in a rather confusing, if not suspicious, manner. While we understand that the SARS-COV2 is a tricky pathogen, further widening of the covid net of symp-toms may mean that practically all ailments presenting at our medical facilities may soon qualify as CoviD-19. We also request for light to be shed on this curious phenomenon by our visitors.

Another area of focus should be how to forge improved synergy and communications between states on the move-ment of people. Unilateral interstate deportations of high risk persons to areas considered their state of origin looks suspiciously like attempts to spread whatever this virus is.

Unfortunately, more and more states continue to adopt this model as their preferred option for dealing with the humanitarian case presented by street children (the almajiri phenomenon). In order not to endanger our people we have blocked passage to vehicles conveying such people.

In order not to be misquoted in future, let me clarify that I am willing to receive any Kogite who is expelled from any state during this pandemic due to their social status or lack of means. However, the NCDC or the PTF must broker a process through which brother Governors must give each other the opportunity to first verify the state of origin of those to be deported to them before bundling them into another person's territory. I for one will not allow entry to such human shipments otherwise.

Despite the dangers of Covid-19 to Nigeria and her constituent units like Kogi, we must focus on not becoming so distracted by it that our attention is totally removed from existing outbreaks like Lassa Fever and malaria and natural disasters like flooding and crop failure.

It has been proven that over 95% of COVID victims are expected to recover within weeks. This is not so with failed crops or persons internally displaced by natural disasters like flooding. Most years Kogi State is usually the epicentre of terrible flooding and has to deal with hundreds of thousands of internally displaced persons (IDPs). We must therefore have some freedom of movement so we can start to prepare before this rainy season progresses much farther.

Therefore, if we cower too much before CoviD-19 and do nothing to anticipate and prepare for preexisting and cyclic challenges, we will fail our people in other critical areas. And we must never forget that some of these problems if neglected can exact higher mortality rates and humanitarian costs than the Covid-19 pandemic.

For instance, if several local government areas experience flooding as happens every year, how do we maintain lockdown while families are drowning in their homes or social distancing during evacuation of several hundreds of thou-sands of citizens? We must therefore insist that the NCDC and the PTF open a window in their CoviD-19 advisories to accommodate our concerns and above all guarantee us succour on these equally pressing matters.

Moreover, as I am sure the NCDC must have noticed by now, Social Distancing is a practical impossibility in most ur-ban areas in Nigeria, including Kogi State. Many homes are multi-tenanted and many people share utilities. Since it is projected that CoviD-19 and its effects may not disappear suddenly or soon, we call on the NCDC to design 'Personal Distancing' precautions instead which will help our people start a return to normalcy.

Focus must shift deliberately and immediately to homegrown solutions for sustainable support of livelihoods, securi-ty of lives and properties and food security. This will involve judicious use and augmentation of the Federal Govern-ment's Social Safety Net Programme and sundry palliatives by individual states.

The NCDC and the Presidential Task Force on COVID-19 are therefore urged to come up with answers for us in this regard.

CONCLUSION

Nothing is altogether new under the sun. Whether the coronavirus or CoviD-19 or SARS-COV2 is natural or artificial and whether it came out of China or elsewhere by happenstance or hostile action, WE NEED AN EVOLVING SYNERGY BETWEEN SCIENCE AND COMMON SENSE, MEDICINE AND GOVERNANCE TO BEAT THIS PANDEMIC.

As leaders the burden is on us to refuse panic and act intentionally to create a semblance of normal life for our peo-ple while taking adequate precautions to keep them as safe as possible.

Once again, I thank the Presidential Task Force on COVID-19, the Federal Ministry of Health and of course the NCDC for all they have done and will continue to do until this pandemic is contained and crushed.

In particular, we thank Dr. Chikwe Ihekweazu, the Director-General, Nigeria Centre for Disease Control (NCDC) for sending us a fact-finding and validation team today. They have arrived the state and we welcome them.

Once the team is through with disinfection and allied NCDC protocols for persons arriving from high risk locations, we will interact fully with them, trusting that we can work together to enhance our chances of keeping Kogi State COVID-19 free. We also hope that we can get answers from them on some of the concerns expressed earlier in this address.

My good people of Kogi State, thus far has God helped us. We assure you again that we have never hidden, we are not hiding, nor will we ever hide, any case of Covid-19 in Kogi State. Ignore any statement to the contrary and treat it as nothing but malicious and dangerously instigatory propaganda which Government is already handling as appro-priate.

Please rest assured too that both I and my administration accept as a sacred duty our responsibility to ensure your wellness and welfare. We shall therefore continue to do whatever needs to be done to make sure that COVID-19 does not set foot in Kogi State.

God bless Kogi State.

God bless the Federal Republic of Nigeria.

Thank you for listening.

YAHAYA BELLO Governor of Kogi State Thursday 7th May, 2020

International Fund For Agricultural Development Value Chain Development Programme (IFAD-VCDP)

BASIC FACTS ABOUT THE PROJECT

he FGN and IFAD are jointly implementing the Value Chain Development Programme (VCDP). The programme which entered into force on 14 October 2013 is a 6 -year development initiative working on rice and cassava. The programme was made effective in 2015, with the completion date originally scheduled for 13 December 2019 and financial closing date originally scheduled for 30 June 2020. The total direct beneficiaries are 53,480 Households (45,000 Producers: 7,680 Processors & 800 marketers). With Additional Financing (AF 2018), the amount is USD 136.9 million, of which USD 89.1 million from IFAD Loan and USD 19.3 million from co-financiers, Federal Government of Nigeria (FGN) counterpart fund of USD 5.8 million; State Governments counterpart fund of USD 12.4 million; Local Governments counterpart fund of USD 0.6 million; Beneficiary Contribution USD 7.2 million (mostly in kind/cash) and beneficiary savings of USD 2.5 million. The programme implementation has been extended by three years period, bringing its completion date from 31 December 2019 to 31 December 2022 and the loan closing date from 30 June 2020 to 30 June 2023. With AF 2018, The total direct beneficiaries are 100,000 Households (91,000 Producers; 8,000 Processors & 1,000 marketers).

Due to the various successes of the original VCDP, the IFAD has granted another additional financing (AF 2019) to the tune of USD 91.0 million, of which USD 50.0 million from IFAD Loan, Government (FGN/States/LGAs) USD 10.8 million, co-financiers USD 18.5 million and USD 11.7 million from beneficiaries (mostly in kind/cash). The programme completion date with the additional financing (AF2019) is 31st December 2024, and closure 30th June 2025. The additional Finance AF 2019 was signed and approved in December 2019 and became disbursement effective in February 2022. With AF 2019, The total direct beneficiaries are 135,000 Households (121,000 Producers; 14,000 Processors & Marketers).

Kogi State design target is 8000 (7200 producers and 800 processors and marketer.

VCDP supports the Government's strategic vision for growth and development expressed in the Green Alternative (Agricultural policy) of the Federal Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development (FMARD). The Green alternative implemented through 4 pillars:

- i. Achieve food security;
- ii. Increase production and productivity;
- iii. Expand the rural economy for employment and income generation; and
- iv. Expand exports and reduce food imports.

The Programme Development Objective (PDO) is "to enhance on a sustainable basis Incomes and food security of poor rural households engaged in the production, processing and marketing of rice and cassava.

Programme Components: VCDP is being implemented through three components, namely;

- 1. Market Development Component-This Component focuses on profitability enhancement of smallholder farmers and small/medium scale agro-processors delivered through improved access to markets and value addition to locally produced raw materials. The component is sub-divided into (i) Support to Value Addition and Market Linkages, and (ii) Support to Climate Resilient Market Infrastructure.
- 2. Smallholder Productivity Enhancement Component-The Component focuses on enhancement of small-holder farmer productivity on an economically and environmentally sustainable basis. The component is

- sub-divided into (i) Strengthening of Farmers 'Organization, and (ii) Support to Smallholder Production.
- 3. Programme Coordination and Management component-This component will ensure that the Programme is efficiently and effectively managed to achieve expected results by integrating Gender, youth, environment, monitoring and evaluation, knowledge management and communication considerations in all aspects of programme.

Implementation entities: The Federal Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development (FMARD) is the lead implementing agency, it handles coordination and supervision. The actual implementing is by the State Ministry of agriculture in each of 9 participating States namely; Anambra, Benue, Ebonyi, Niger, Ogun, Taraba, Enugu, Kogi and Nasarawa. Kogi State is implementing in Five (5) LGAs (see table 2).

OVERVIEW AND PROJECT PROGRESS

verall programme performance: Kogi State has a distinct comparative advantage in the agriculture sector yet the production system has not developed in terms of significant value addition or processing. To address the identified problem Value Chain Development Programme (VCDP) during the period under review has made a tremendous progress in the aforementioned through the implementation of activities as contained in the annual work plan and budget (AWPB). The activities are in line with the programme logical frame. The following key achievements, have been recorded:

- i. Considerable empowerment and improved market participation of rural poor farmers:

 Commodity Alliance Forum (CAF) is an inclusive private sector engagement platform that drives the decision of small farmers to produce for identified markets. Kogi VCDP has established Commodity Alliance forum (CAF) and inaugurated members. A total of 1,206 member, drawn from the two VC crops across the participating Local Government Areas (LGAs)
- ii. VCDP is significantly contributing to Nigeria's strategic objective of food security: Kogi State VCDP through various interventions on production, reached out to 2217 smallholder farmers that were supported with inputs such as fertilizer (NPK and Urea), herbicides, improved rice seeds for both wet and dry season cultivation. As a result, these efforts triggered significant increase in yield and production area. This has increase food security and economic opportunity for rural dwellers.
- iii. VCDP revived the land development initiative of the Federal Government: To ensure self-sufficiency in rice, VCDP in collaboration with local communities in the participating LGAs has developed (150ha) of Land. The initiative will increase access to land by landless women and youth.
- iv. VCDP investment in market infrastructure (roads, aggregation centres), extension and input support: Kogi State VCDP have successfully completed 41 infrastructures and handed over to beneficiaries, comprising of rice processing centre (2), cassava processing center (3), parboiling shed and drying slab (4), market stall (4), market stores (2), creches (8), access road and culvert (2), 2 number transformer was equally provided for the two rice processing centres. 12 solar power boreholes and a Seed testing Laboratory, constructed across the five participating LGAs. The market units are occupied by various group to sell milled rice and garri among other, this has led to increase in economic activities and contribute to their livelihood, as a result of increased produce marketing, reduced post-harvest losses and creation of job opportunities for youth/women.

Programme Beneficiaries Target, Profiled and Supported to date: Kogi has a total of 6043 beneficiaries out of which 4576 are producers and 1467 processors/marketers, comprising of 2788 men (46%), 3255 female (54%) and 2093 youth (35%). This contributes to achieving the overall total target.

'HOPE 2023' AND THE QUEST TO BRIDGE EXISTENTIAL GAPS IN NIGERIA'S BODY POLITICS

am grateful to Almighty God who has blessed me so much - life, health, family, friends and well wishers. But for God, I would have no story worth telling at all, and no platform from which to tell it, but by His grace I am what I am. I am grateful for the opportunities to serve my country which I have been given so far. In spite of the difficulties we face today, the privilege of being a Nigerian is one I cherish dearly.

Dear friends and fellow patriots, I wish to declare my intention to run for President of the Federal Republic of Nigeria in the 2023 General Elections. I will be doing so under the auspices of our great Party, the All Pro-gressives Congress (APC). I will be running on a broad political philosophy of progressive activism through social action and political reforms.

We are so blessed as a nation and yet it does not always seem so. I am running to restore Hope by provid-ing firm guar antees of Security, Unity and Progress to all Nigerians. Our focus will be proper management of our great diversity so that it can really be an advantage. We will foster more cooperation and integration among citizens and make sure that progress is made steadily across all sectors and indicators.

Despite the dire challenges facing Nigeria today, no one can deny that President Muhammadu Buhari, GCFR has given our country the greatest achievements in public works, government housing and social ser-vices since this 4th Republic began. In addition, this administration has invested heavily in our national se-curity. The war against insecurity may be taking longer than earlier expected but Presi dent Buhari has en-sured that we have the combat resources to keep hitting our foes hard until victory is achieved.

It can also not be denied that under this APC government, Nigeria is pushing forward the most comprehen-sive proposals for restructuring since Independence. The sum of government policies, the Electoral Act and other statutes enacted and the ongoing amendment of our Constitution are fundamentally changing the way we do things.

For instance, the average Nigerian Governor has more powers today over matters of security, public trans-porta tion, taxation, fiscal federalism, mineral and agro resources, electricity, etc than at any other time in our history. These are the legacies of Mr. President. They will help the next president take longer and easier developmental strides, provided Nigerians make sure he is succeeded by one who is not out to discredit but to consolidate. I have proven time and time again that I am the only such successor in the APC's line-up for 2023.

I am running for President because I see a bright light shining at the end of the tunnel for our nation. I am not one of those who only see doom and gloom. It is my intention to take custody of that light, to pierce the dark spots in our past and present with it, to illuminate every gap in our nation hood and to fix them. I will ensure that this light is handed over in due course to successors who will be trustworthy stew ards of the great future which a federal government led by me will build for our nation.

I am not an unknown quantity. I have been the Governor of Kogi State since January 27, 2016. I invite Nige-rians to assess my suitability to be president on the score card of my performance. Of course, I mean my real scorecard - the verifiable, tangible basket of works that we undertook and are undertaking to improve the lives and welfare of our people. I do not deny that false and evil reports against us have often filled the press but all of us know why. He who pays the piper dictates the tune, and those who control the media control their narratives. It is well known that we offended powerful vested interests on our way to power in Kogi State.

Moreover, since we took office we have committed the unpardonable political sin in Nigeria, that is, refusal to have godfa thers and kowtow to them. Their anger has burned furiously against us and sadly they have often misled the media about us. As a result, we have had to work extra hard to receive fair comment, not to talk of accolades or credit for our many achieve ments.

Before now, we have not cared much for biased reportage. Actually, we have gone ahead to record huge successes in spite of it. However, the 2023 Presidential Election is actually a battle for the survival of Nigeria and I am passionate enough about my country to fight for the privilege of leading her. In this race, I am ad-amant that the truth and nothing but the truth shall count for any assessment of Yahaya Bello, as a man, as a Governor and as a presidential aspirant. As part of our efforts to set the records straight we have developed an e-Com pendium which is probably the first and the only one of its kind among Nigerian states. We have showcased what we have done in my New Direction Administration in Kogi State there. It is domiciled at www. kogipedia.net and covers the period 2016 till date.

Kogipedia is a rich resource for research into the claims of performance which we shall be making in the course of our pres idential run. I have instituted a standing reward for anyone who can disprove any of the hundreds of projects we have done in Kogi State which are showcased there. More information about how we have led the Confluence State can also be found at our official state website at www.kogistate. gov.ng.

In Kogipedia you will see our strong efforts in Education, Health, Infrastructure and Utilities, Job Creation and Youth Empowerment, Civil Service and Pension Reforms, Agriculture, Security, Human Capital Devel-opment as well as our efforts in Cooperation and Integration.

Chimamanda Adichie warned the world about 'The Danger of A Single Story'. She insisted, and I agree with her, that: "Stories matter. Many stories matter. Stories have been used to dispossess and to malign, but stories can also be used to empower and to humanize. Stories can break...but stories can also repair..."

To us, it is imperative that sincere Nige rians who truly love this nation are given every resource they need to make informed voting decisions ahead of the 2023 General Elections. The question of the next Nigerian President is way too important to fall victim to lies like in past presidential elections and the truth will start with fair and accurate assessment of all candidates. In Kogipedia, you will find us telling our own story, our-selves. It is likely to be an alternative narrative to what you have heard about us, but I assure you that it is the truth.

Let me itemize the most important quali ties which I consider imperative in our next Commander-in-Chief. I invite Nigerians to rate all candidates by them if we want a country that will live up to our expecta tions come 2023:

Youthfulness. Natural force and physical energy cannot be abated if performance is to be elevated. I am 46 and a half years old and by the grace of God, I am fit in all physical and mental faculties. Courage. A clear capacity to be zealously affected in a good matter and to lead with courage and foresight in the pursuit of the overall best interests of the people and the nation.

The aftermath of the covid pandem-ic has vindicated me enough for the times I stood alone and insisted that Nigerians deserve better. Security. Proven ability to enforce Security, Unity and Peace in a large territory with difficult terrain.

Citizens must be safe in their homes and assets. We must be able to safely go where we want in Nigeria, when we want. What God has helped us to do in Kogi, I am persuaded He will help us to do in Nigeria. Diversity. Our next president must possess excellent records in successfully managing diversity. We were able to take a polar ized Kogi and forge it into a society that is both diverse and inclusive today. We genu-inely demonstrated that every tribe, religion, gender, age, class and physical ability among us is unique and possesses intrinsic value. We distributed projects and appoint ments fairly and made room at the table of government for everyone. Today we have a Kogi State where the youth are predom inantly the ones in office, the women have crossed the 35% Affirmative Action threshold, People With Special Needs have adequate representation in govern ment. Kogi State is a microcosm of Nigeria and possesses the same diversities that, often mismanaged, have caused us so much trouble in Nigeria.

However, I mobilized my people and together we are working through our differences. Is it any wonder that the brutal personality cults, tribal clashes, farmer/herdsmen conflict and religious upheavals we inherited have ceased? One of my most outstanding achieve ments as Governor, and one that I am very proud of indeed, is the dis-mantling of these agelong dichotomies. Another is the elevation of inclusivity as a cardinal point in the compass of governance. Increas ingly, the measure of an individual among us is their humanity and their merit, that is, the sum of their own character and contribution, nothing else.

I was pleasantly surprised recently when I learnt that we have achieved the 35% affirmative action threshold for women and that 54 Nigerians from every state and the FCT have been appointed into our government ranging from Cabinet seats to clerical and administrative positions. Moreover, I am gratified that these new Kogites continue to add incredible value to Kogi State. When we talk about inclusivity within the Nigerian context, our next leader must also recognize that it can-not be fully func tional without Cooperation and Integra tion. Nigerians must be able to live and contribute anywhere in this nation with the guarantee that they will not be called strangers there one day. To achieve this we must make sure that 'place of origin' gives way for 'place of domicile' in determining who is a son or daughter of the soil. Our citizenship must no longer be diminished by indigeneship.

This is the next level in what it means to be a Nigerian which I will actively champion as President. I promise that under a Yahaya Bello Pres idency, Nigerians of every extraction will know what it means to be free of the prin ciples of exclusion that currently demean our very existence.

All of us deserve to belong in our country without discrimi nation or marginalisation and to receive our full and valuable parts in the na-tional scheme of affairs. Our nation Nigeria is plagued I am Ebira and as a person who overcame the 'minority syndrome' with much difficulty to be where I am today, I want every Nigerian, especially the youth, to live in a country where no tribe or religion or gender is ever considered a 'minority' again, particularly by the things leaders do or fail to do in government. Just like I have done in Kogi State, I will ensure that we apply a lot more empathy in how Nigerian society is run. Equity, fair ness and justice must undergird govern ment actions in the distribution of national re-sources and opportunities, including in the recruitment procedures of public entities. listen to all sides As president, I will make sure that each and every Nigerian becomes mentally and physically empowered with the unshake able conviction and practical proof that they are not inferior to any other person for any reason. I believe that such conviction, fully internalised, frees people in their own minds and allows them to grow to heights of achievement previously thought impossible.

Leadership can lead one into some lonely places where you may have to stand on your own against other people. I have had to do that aplenty in the course of my own journey as a Governor, for example, during the covid pandemic. If there is nothing at stake a leader can afford to be flexible but once the people and their welfare are involved, one must only do what is right without caring for acclaim or accusation. Hopeful-ly time will vindicate you. Even if it does not, you still get to have and keep a clear conscience because you did your best. A Yahaya Bello Presidency, like his Gover norship, will be tough on crime. I believe that crime is crime and all crimes are inex cusable and I have demonstrated strong capacity to neutralize crimes and crimi nals in Kogi State. Most Nigerians probably do not know this, but we went from being the state where violent crime was most endemic in 2015 to become one of the safest states in Nigeria from 2017 till date. Our crime rate has been one of the lowest in the country for years now.

Terrorism, kidnapping, banditry and other violent crimes will not be tolerated when, by the help of God, I become the President and Commander-in-Chief. I will not tolerate non-state actors who take up arms against the nation whatever their grievances but I will be willing to listen to all sides and address all agitations fairly, especially those which are borne out of genuine imbalances in the treatment of citizens by the system. I will put a stop to existential mistreatment of any people among us, provided that agitators are willing to give peace a chance and threats of harm to the Nigerian Nation and People are not brought to the table as leverage. T he health or disease of our economy is crucial to the health of the country. According to a BBC News report of February 13, 2012 over 100 million Nigerians lived in extreme poverty during the PDP era. In 2018, with APC in the saddle that figure had dropped to about 87 million people, yet Nigeria overtook India as the poverty capital of the world. Just this month Nigeria, through the valiant efforts of the Buhari Administra-tion, relinquished the ignoble title back to India, having brought the numbers down to about 70.6 million. This means that as of today we have at least 70.6 million Nigerians living in extreme poverty, which is de-fined as living on less than N855 per day. It is therefore clear that our path to national prosperity lies in pull-ing tens of millions of Nigerians out of poverty. We must make our citizens our greatest resource for eco-nomic growth and wealth creation. The Buhari administration has a target of lifting 100m Nigerians out of poverty by 2030. A Yahaya Bello Presidency will have an additional target of creating at least 20 million Naira millionaires by the same year 2030, with the aim that each of them will employ or otherwise empower at least 5 other citizens. In this regard, we are going to learn a lot from the South East. The apprenticeship model by which a boy, from an indigent or affluent background, is taken, trained and turned into a millionaire businessman in as little as 10 years is one we have to understudy and invest in.

Harvard Univer sity already studies it and the Nigerian Government must do no less. I have personally observed that this model works on average 50% of the time with at least 5 out of 10 boys who apprenticed with various Igbo friends of mine million aires today in their own rights. I also observed that it is not the line of business but the underlying principles and prac tices that work so well. This is be-cause this amazing phenomenon is repeated sector after sector whether they deal in vehicle spare parts, electricals, pharma ceuticals, clothing, or even foodstuffs, etc. This means it is a system that can be repl icat-ed. We will explore methods to do so. I have a vision of a Nigerian government and economy that is open, inclusive and honest.

Leaders like me and governments such as mine have a duty to manage the economy so that it operates with a human face and transparent processes. Kogi State under my leadership has consistently led others in the World Bank's States Fiscal Transparency, Accountability and Sustain ability (SFTAS) indices. It is a result I want to main-stream to the nation as a whole.

This is why, as President, I will foster an economy in which every citizen can maxi mize their potential as wealth creators and change agents. We will work towards a democracy of the economy which places equal access to the factors of productivity within the grasp of any citizen who is ready to work hard and to work smart in pursuit of their own dreams.

Being Nigeria's youngest Governor comes with its own challenges, particularly the burden of being con-stantly held up as a yardstick to measure the past and predict the future of youth participation in politics and governance. The expectations are rife, and some are frankly unreason able, but in the main, I am challenged to prove that leaders can be simultaneously youthful and useful in high Office. While my approach to resolving this conundrum may not be loud or popular, it has certainly proved effective.

A Yahaya Bello Presidency will pursue a clearly defined strategy on broadening the footprint of new tech-nology in our economy. We know how important this is to youth enterprise in today's world. In particular, we will set up a National Block Chain Taskforce (NBT) to develop a trail blazing policy for the nation in cryp-tos, the metaverse, NFTs and blockchain tech nology. This emergent field can certainly not be ignored and outrightly banned or completely outlawed.

We must help our youth to keep pace with their generation in a lawful manner. Dear friends, I am not running for Presi dent apologetically, but on a solid record of verifiable achievements in my current assignment as Governor of Kogi State. I have proven antecedents in the very areas that Nige-rians crave for succour urgently, that is, Security, Unity and Progress. I would therefore say that I possess the academic qualifications and hands-on experience to be the Next Nigerian Presi dent on merit.

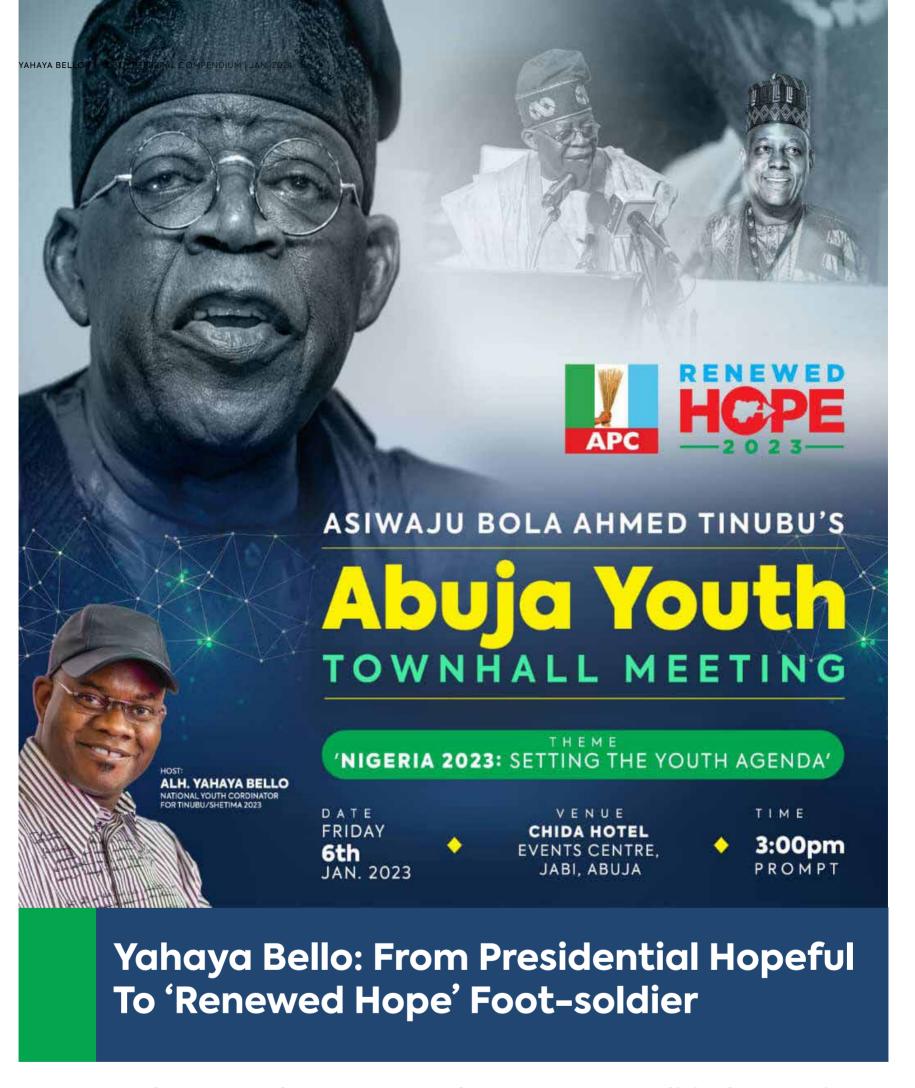

The slogan of our campaign is 'HOPE... BRIDGING THE GAP'. All we want to do is bring Hope to our nation and people while bridging the gaps in our body politics. This is only possible with the support of my party and the Nigerian people. This is why MKO Abiola of blessed memory once said, 'People of Nigeria, our time is now. You are the reposi-tory of power in the land.

Enough of square pegs in round holes... Enough is enough!' Nigeria, believe me when I say, THERE IS HOPE! Indeed, there is great HOPE! My name is Yahaya Bello, I am a Nigerian and I hereby formally declare for Presi dent of The Federal Repub-lic of Nigeria in the 2023 General Elections under the All Progressives Congress. I crave your support, now and when I get my party's ticket.

To God be the Glory.

An Op-Ed on a Loyal Party Man and Consummate Political Operative

Ahaya Bello ran for President, hoping tosecurehisparty's ticket and become her candidate for the 2023 Presidential Elections in Nigeria. His Presidential aspirations were bold and flamboyant.

However, fate ultimately chose a different path, and Bello's subsequent actions cemented his reputation as a loyal party man and trustworthy political operator. Instead of sulking after losing the primary, Bello's sportsmanship shone brightly. He conceded and wholeheartedly congratulated the victor, Asiwájú Bola Ahmed Tinubu (now President of the Federal Republic of Nigeria), taking the extraordinary step of immediately folding his considerable political infrastructure into the Tinubu-Shettima campaign. But his commitment went beyond mere words. Bello generously donated his massive and luxuriously furnished campaign headquarters in the upscale Wuse II area of Abuja to the winning team, a tangible symbol of his support and dedication to the APC and Jagaban's #RenewedHope agenda.

President Tinubu, affectionately known as Jagaban, recognized Bello's potential and soon appointed him National Youth Coordinator, tasked with mobilizing Nigeria's young voters for him. Thus, Bello became head of the National Youth Mobilisation Directorate in the Tinubu-Shettima Presidential Campaign Council.

This appointment proved to be another of Asíwájú's political masterstrokes. Bello, renowned for his political genius and boundless energy, dove headfirst into his new role. He worked alongside the City Boy Movement (a political super action group led by the President's son, Seyi, who is also a close friend of Bello's).

Together, they pulled off the most successful youth mobilization campaign in the political history of Nigeria and the results spoke for themselves following the elections. Jagaban won comfortably and youth turnout which had skyrocketed around various issues in that election, contributed significantly.

Yet Bello's contributions went beyond campaign events. He acted as a vital resource for the President, tackling potential roadblocks like the ill-timed Naira redesign policy. Kogi, under Bello's leadership, was in the forefront of states which rushed to court to challenge and halt the policy, showcasing the Governor's unwavering support for his party's leader.

This support extended to the polls. Bello also led Kogi State delivered a resounding victory for President Tinubu, improving his chances and solidifying Bello's loyalty and effectiveness.

As Yahaya Bello's tenure as Governor nears its end on January 27, 2024, one thing is clear: his story in the era of President Tinubu is just beginning. His political acumen, unwavering loyalty, ability to connect with all demographics and the ease with which he mobilizes voters, young and old, will undoubtedly keep him busy for the President and the APC for the foreseeable future.

Consolidation and Continuity of the New Direction Agenda ur legacy footprints which looked wildly ambitious when we presented them in our New Direction Blueprint 8 years ago and other policy documents as the need arose are today physical realities standing all over our state for the use of our people. We have been able to translate them to tangible dividends of democracy for our people in diverse sectors, including Education, Health, Infrastructure and Utilities, Youth Empowerment and Gender Equity, Civil Service Reforms, Agriculture, Human Capital Development, Cooperation and Integration and most importantly, Security of lives and properties of everyone living in Kogi State or passing through our territory to other parts of the country.

This victory of the APC in the last election is a victory for all Kogites, far and near. It is a victory for a knowledgeable people who ignored all sorts of unprogressive agenda to vote for the Continuity and Consolidation of transformational leadership and good governance in Kogi State. I assure our people that the in-coming Administration of His Excellency, Governor-Elect, Ahmed Usman Ododo and his Deputy, Comrade Joel Oyibo will hit the ground running. They are the beneficiaries of the solid foundation that our administration has laid in all sectors during our two terms, and they are fully mentored and equipped to respond to the day-to-day yearnings and aspirations of our people and to deliver for us all, and without discrimination, a State that works for everyone.

As I bid farewell to the people of Kogi State, I wish to extend my heartfelt gratitude again for your dedication to our State over the years and commitment to the growth and success of our dear State. We all win.

As January 27th, 2024 when I will wind down my Administration approaches and we all prepare to welcome the new Government of His Excellency, Governor-Elect Ahmed Usman Ododo, it is my heartfelt desire that you extend even greater levels of cooperation to my him.

I look forward to seeing the incoming Administration building on the foundation laid by mine while working together with all stakeholders across the State to achieve even greater heights than we did. Let us therefore embrace this transition with excitement and optimism, knowing that our collective efforts will propel our State to new horizons.

I thank my Team for their faithful service. We came from different backgrounds and united for the best interests of our State and people. Despite notable hiccups, we have become a family that cannot be broken. We will work through any problems we may have with each other and find common ground from which to mentor our successors and move on to the next levels of our own lives and careers.

I extend my sincere gratitude to His Excellency, President Bola Ahmed Tinubu, GCFR for his leadership to us and the nation in the past 8 months during which some really hard but necessary decisions have been taken which will no doubt help Nigeria to work better for all Nigerians. Mr. President has also inspired our own leadership into doing what is necessary even if it is not expedient at the moment.

I will continue to make myself available at any capacity in which I am requested.

Thank you the good people of Kogi State

God bless Kogi State!

God bless the Federal Republic of Nigeria!

And God bless us all!

Kogi tops states with reduced domestic debts in 2020 – DMO

By Editor | 04 January 2021 | 3:03 am

Data emerging from the StatiSense reveals that the Kogi state government is leading in the reduction of domestic debts owed by various state governments in Nigeria as of the end of September 2020. StatiSense is a data consulting firm with expertise in providing data services such as analytics, research, reporting, and training.

Kogi state government through the leadership of its Governor, Yahaha Bello was able to reduce the state debt from a cumulative N132.5 billion it was as of December 31, 2019, to N73, 314,904,696.35 as of September 30, 2020, according to the Debt Management Office (DMO).

My goal to make CUSTECH world-class citadel of learning — Gov Bello

'Let me reiterate that Nigeria cannot afford to commit our severely straitened finances to 'managing' Covid19 on the scale currently proposed. Apart from corruption which will take massive advantage of the situation, we have Trillion Naira Plans for education, health, human capital, sorely needed infrastructure, indeed development programmes in all sectors, which lie unimplemented at state and federal levels because we don't have the money. I say we must not throw the little we do have at Covid-19.'
